Soviet Agent Pays Democrats Fees

REVEALS DEALS FOR WARSHIPS TO DIES INQUIRY

Had 100 Million to Spend, He Says.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 18.—Two officials of the Democratic national committee received a total of $57,000 from soviet Russia to help influence speedy action by the state and navy departments on releasing battleship plans to Russia.

Sam Carp.
[(AP) Wirephoto.]

This statement was made to the Dies committee today by Sam Carp, brother-in-law of V. M. Molotov, soviet premier and foreign commissar. Carp was born in Russia and went to Philadelphia in 1910. He told the committee, which is investigating un-American activities, that he was commissioned by the soviet government in 1936 to buy 100 million dollars' worth of battleships and other military equipment in this country.

The witness organized the Carp Export and Import Corporation of New York for this purpose and was financed either directly from Russia or through the Amtorg Trading corporation, official purchasing agent in the United States for the soviet government.

Hires Michelson's Assistant.

Carp testified that he hired Preston McGoodwin, aid to Charles Michelson, publicity director of the Democratic national committee, and paid him $25,000 for three months' services.

Carp said he was not satisfied with McGoodwin's work so he dismissed him and hired Scott Ferris, a former congressman and now Democratic national committeeman from Oklahoma, who received $32,000 in soviet funds between Sept. 2, 1937, and May 31, 1939.

On behalf of the soviet government Carp had entered negotiations with Gibbs and Cox, New York naval architects, to draw up battleship and destroyer plans for the soviet, he testified. These plans were submitted to the state and navy departments to insure that they did not divulge American naval secrets.

Chance for 2 Millions.

McGoodwin was hired to handle publicity work in this connection, Carp said, and Ferris was retained to handle the Washington details of the negotiations.

In addition to the fees given to McGoodwin and Ferris, who is a lawyer, they stood to benefit from the $2,000,000 in commissions which he would get on the 100 million dollar purchases, Carp testified.

The deal for a battleship failed, Carp testified, when the soviet government rejected sketches for a 50,000 to 60,000 ton battleship, which was to have been built in Russia after being informed that such a battleship could not be built in the United States on behalf of a foreign government. Plans for 1,600 ton destroyers to be built in this country or Russia still are under consideration by the state and navy departments, Carp said.

Produces Financial Records.

Rhea Whitley, counsel for the Dies committee, in examining Carp and Wolf, produced the financial records of the Carp Export and Import corporation, which showed total receipts of $616,376 from the soviet government between July, 1936, and December 31, 1938. This amount included $100,000 in dollars which Carp brought back with him on trips to Russia in 1936 and 1938.

Carp denied that he was an agent of the soviet government, although handling military purchases for the Russians, and said he had not registered with the state department as a foreign agent.

Carp told of using retired naval officers as consultants. One of these, Commander J. R. Rhodes, retired, was paid a salary of $100 per week. Capt Joyce served as messenger for Gibbs and Cox in taking the sketches to Russia in November, 1938.

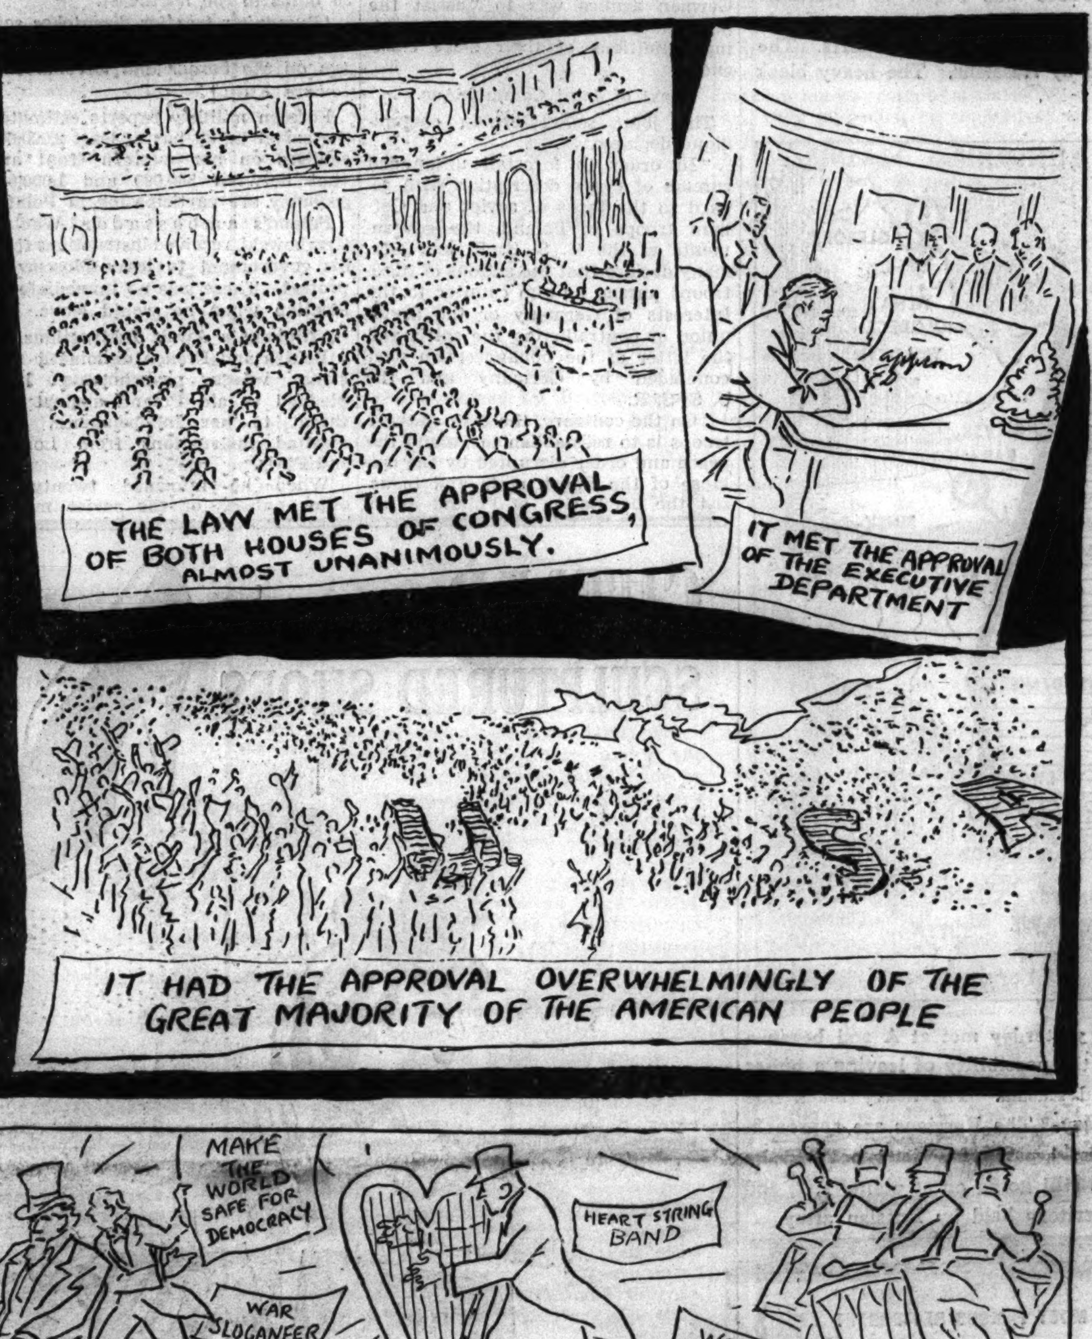
THE ARMS EMBARGO LAW

In 1937 congress passed a law which prohibited the sale of arms, munitions, and the implements of war to any nation, or nations, engaged in war. It was framed and passed in calm deliberation and judgment.



THE LAW MET THE APPROVAL OF BOTH HOUSES OF CONGRESS, ALMOST UNANIMOUSLY.
IT MET THE APPROVAL OF THE EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT
IT HAD THE APPROVAL OVERWHELMINGLY OF THE GREAT MAJORITY OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

And now, in a time of rising passion and war hysteria, it is proposed that this satisfactory law be changed to the one that helped get us into the world war.

Chas. Schwab, Steel Magnate, 77, Dies in N. Y.

New York, Sept. 18 (AP).—Charles M. Schwab, 77 years old, who controled billions of dollars in the steel industry and made available hundreds of ships for the government during the world war, died tonight at his Park avenue apartment.

Charles M. Schwab.

Ill and lonely since the death of his wife in January, the once "strong man of steel" gradually declined in health. During the last two days he had been unconscious.

Schwab returned from Europe on Aug. 31—in his time he crossed the Atlantic 170 times—and complained that he had been ill of a serious heart ailment in London. His doctor said it appeared he would recover, until a week ago, when a new attack of coronary thrombosis set in.

Funeral Services Thursday.

Schwab's brother, Edward, said funeral services will be held at St. Patrick's cathedral Thursday.

Besides his brother, Schwab is survived by two sisters, Mrs. David Barry and Sister Cecilia, the latter being a nun in the Carmelite convent at Loretto, Pa., which Schwab built.

Schwab had been president of the Carnegie Steel Company, Ltd., 1897-1901; president of United States Steel corporation, 1901-'03; chairman of the Bethlehem Steel company; director of the Chase National bank and the Metropolitan Life Insurance company; director of general ship building, United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet corporation, April-December, 1918, and president of many other steel companies and organizations. At his death he was chairman of the board of the Bethlehem Steel corporation.

Takes Time for Relaxation.

Despite his intense interest in industry and the drain his business imposed on his energies, Schwab never forgot to take time out for whist and he managed to travel abroad almost annually. Yet he never forgot his neighbors and his old home in Loretto. He spent parts of each year in that town, where he had once been a stagecoach driver and a dollar a day laborer.

"The happiest days of my life," he once said in an address, "were when I had a modest income and lived with my good wife in a cottage with restful comfort. Now we have many houses—mansions. But we don't own them. They own us."

The quarrel occurred while the two were bidding farewell to President Ignace Moscicki of Poland. Smigly-Rydz stalked off to an automobile, ignoring Beck's aids.

Moscicki, Beck, and Smigly-Rydz, who are among high Polish government and military officials who have fled into Rumania from Poland, separated.

Moscicki entrained for Craiova, near the Bulgarian frontier. Beck motored to the Slasikul-Modovja district and Smigly-Rydz drove to Bikaz in the Carpathian mountains. Moscicki and Beck have been given permission to reside at Craiova. Superior officers of the Polish general staff, presumably including Smigly-Rydz, will live near Bucharest, the Rumanian capital.

U-Boat Sunk by Young Pilot on First Patrol

LONDON, Sept. 18 (AP).—Thrills of Great Britain's war in the air over sea and land are revealed in a communique issued today by the ministry of information. Among the exploits told was that of a young South African pilot who bombed and sank a German submarine the first time he was sent on a sea patrol.

The pilot said:

"I sighted the submarine on the surface about two miles away traveling pretty fast, about 12 knots, and took cover in a cloud.

"I came out of the cloud at 1,500 feet and, identifying the submarine as German, opened fire at 500 feet at a man in a white hat who sat on the conning tower.

Craft Blown Back to Surface.

"The man disappeared and the submarine started to dive. By the time I dropped my first salvo of bombs, the nearest of which hit the water 15 or 20 yards ahead of the submarine, the submarine was half under water. The explosion blew her back to the surface and gave me time to attack again.

"The nearest bomb of my second salvo was a direct hit on the submarine's port side as I came up on the port beam. There was a colossal explosion and her whole stern lifted out of the water. She dived into the sea at an angle of 30 degrees."

Drama Four Miles Up in Sky.

In another exploit the gunner of a reconnaisance plane recovered consciousness at a height of four miles over the North sea just in time to help beat off an attack by three German fighters. The gunner, it was stated, had found it necessary to remove his oxygen apparatus and had lost consciousness in the rarified atmosphere. The navigator went to his aid, refixed the apparatus, and attended to him until he recovered. To do this the navigator had to remove his own oxygen lifeline, and he, too, nearly lost consciousness. They were just recovering when their plane was attacked from behind by three Nazi planes. They finally escaped under cover of clouds.

SOVIET INVASION OF POLAND CALLED UNJUSTIFIED; INSIST WAR WILL GO ON Promise to Poles Will Be Fulfilled, Britain Vows.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 18.—Soviet Russia's occupation of the White Russian and Ukraine sections of shattered Poland continued to stir British diplomatic circles tonight. The British government issued a statement at 10 p. m., announcing that the Russian move would make no difference in Great Britain's determination to stand by its obligations to Poland and to carry on the war.

The statement, issued after a meeting of the war cabinet, branded Moscow's action as unjustified. Nevertheless, the official declaration indicated the situation was not yet clear and that so far there has been no sign that Russia's invasion of Poland involves any rupture in relations between London and Moscow.

Criticizes Soviet Argument.

"The British government," said the declaration, "have considered the situation created by the attack on Poland ordered by the soviet government. This attack made on their [Britain's] own ally at the moment when she is prostrate in the face of overwhelming forces brought against her by Germany cannot, in the view of his majesty's government, be justified by the arguments put forward by the soviet government.

"The full implication of these events is not yet apparent. But his majesty's government take this opportunity to state that nothing that has occurred can make any difference in the determination of his majesty's government, with the full support of the country, to fulfill their obligations to Poland and to prosecute the war with all energy until their objects have been achieved."

The Daily Telegraph's diplomatic correspondent, citing soviet sources, said that the Russian advance is designed to occupy all eastern Poland. This will mean inclusion of the whole Ukraine within the soviet frontier. It also will establish a common border between Russia and Ruthenia, which was seized by Hungary during the breakup of Czecho-Slovakia last fall.

Takes Protective Positions.

While the British cabinet was preoccupied about how far the soviet action has been approved by Germany, the Daily Telegraph suggested that the Russians do not want a common frontier with the Nazis and still are contemplating creation of a small Polish state as a buffer.

Similarly, it was indicated that the visit to Moscow by Sucru Saracoglu, Turkish foreign minister, probably will be concerned with coördinating Black Sea defenses since Russia does not want to see Germany established there.

The upshot of these arguments appears to be that Moscow is taking up protective positions in the west, south, and east and will not seek to extend its territories unless it looks like they are passing into German control.

Confers with Labor Leader.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, who will make a statement on the Russian-Polish situation in the house of commons Wednesday, today conferred with Maj. C. R. Attlee, leader of the Labor opposition.

Questions about the Polish collapse will be asked when parliament reassembles. Members are anxious to know why more was not done to send direct aid to the Poles in their stand against Germany's invasion.

Paris Seeks Explanation.

PARIS, Sept. 18 (AP).—The Russian advance into Poland, which already was reported as contacting the Germans, caused a flurry of diplomatic activity in Paris today.

Premier Edouard Daladier called on the soviet ambassador, Jacob Suritz, for an explanation of his government's action but the result of their meeting was kept secret.

No Declaration of War.

BERLIN, Sept. 18 (AP).—Among items which were "noted as interesting" tonight in German officialdom was the fact that Britain and France have not declared war on Russia for entering Poland, with whom both had mutual assistance pacts. In the German view this signified acknowledgment by the British and French that the Polish state no longer exists.

SURVIVORS TELL HOW U-BOAT SANK BRITISH WARSHIP

LONDON, Sept. 18 (AP).—The sinking of H. M. S. Courageous, British aircraft carrier, by a German submarine, gave grim reality tonight to Great Britain's war on the seas.

Vivid accounts of the sinking were brought ashore by survivors, about 400 of whom were landed in England by a destroyer. Others of a total of 438 known to have been saved were reported aboard other rescue vessels, including an American freighter.

[A dispatch from Washington last night stated the United Maritime commission freighter Collingsworth picked up 53 survivors from the Courageous and placed them on other vessels.]

One of the survivors who landed said the sailors of the Courageous sang and cheered while swimming after the Courageous foundered.

Crewsmen Leap Into Sea.

"There were two distinct 'bangs' at intervals of about a second," related another. "After that there were a few minor explosions and most of the crew jumped into the water. An order to abandon ship came within five minutes and the Courageous foundered 30 minutes after the first explosion."

An officer reported Captain W. T. Makeig-Jones last was seen on the bridge ordering his men to abandon ship.

Another survivor said that members of the crew who could not swim supported themselves with pieces of wood and rafts until they were rescued.

Some Boats of No Use.

"The Courageous immediately began to list to port," he said. "After her bows had submerged and her stern had cocked up into the air, she foundered fifteen to thirty minutes after being hit. Some boats on the starboard side were gotten out, but those on the port side could not be used, as she heeled over too quickly."

The survivors said the Courageous was struck without warning and that the submarine was quickly spotted after the attack. There was a moderate sea and it was still daylight.

The captain's secretary said he reached one of the destroyers that had been escorting the carrier after swimming forty minutes.

Total of Survivors in Doubt.

"Everybody behaved with calm, and men cracked jokes," he said. "There was no panic or disorder."

The number of survivors can not be determined until other vessels have reported the number they picked up.

Lists of the survivors were posted and joy and tears were mixed in the crowds around the bulletins. There were joyful reunions, and there were relatives who turned away in tears of disappointment.

Among the listed survivors were Commander E. M. C. Abel-Smith, former equerry to King George; the ship's chaplain, the commanding engineer, and various officers. Commander C. W. G. M. Woodhouse also was listed.

The ship had two commanders, Abel-Smith for the air arm and Woodhouse for the executive, while Capt. Makeig-Jones was in direct command.

Screen of Destroyers Evaded.

The admiralty's communique on the sinking of the Courageous, first British warship to go down in the two weeks of war, was barren of detail. It said only the Courageous had "been lost by enemy submarine action," that an undisclosed number of survivors had been picked up by destroyers and merchant ships, and that the submarine was "heavily attacked by destroyers and is believed to have been sunk."

How the submarine could have slipped past the screen of destroyers that ordinarily protects a floating airbase was not explained officially. Observers conjectured the submarine could have slipped upon the Courageous and her destroyers by a dangerously deep dive and then attacked in full knowledge that her chances for escape were slim.

The ministry of information said the full complement of the Courage-

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 18.—The German army today began a new attack for the possession of Warsaw and its 1,200,000 inhabitants.

Nevertheless, Nazis asserted tonight that the real campaign is over and that in eighteen days the new German army has conquered Poland. They assert it is just a matter of days until the last isolated Polish forces surrender.

The isolated Polish armies were as follows:

1. The defenders of Warsaw, holding out after a 12 days' siege.
2. Forces firmly encircled north of Lodz and 40 miles west of Warsaw.
3. Those besieged near Lwow the capital of the Polish Ukraine, in southeastern Poland.
4. Those between Bialystok and Pinsk in the northeast, seeking a refuge in the Pripet marshes.

Reds and Nazis Confer.

The armies were said to be resisting the Germans as individual units, without unified direction from the Polish general staff.

Germany and its ally, soviet Russia, already are preparing to take over the whole of Poland. A vanguard of the Red army met German military leaders today in Brest-Litovsk, 110 miles east of Warsaw, and began considering the military lines of demarcation of their frontiers. The lines, military officials asserted, "are merely a demarcation for military operations." Later negotiations will be held to settle the political future of the area, they said.

The Russians' action in occupying eastern Poland was not a deciding factor in Poland's defeat, Nazis asserted, but they admitted that the Poles' knowledge of the soviet steam roller in their rear, ready to advance, may have increased the perplexity of the Polish high command.

Battle for City's Freedom.

In Warsaw the garrison, increased by troops which succeeded in breaking through Nazi lines before the German iron ring formed around the capital, are battling for the city's freedom.

[The Warsaw radio last night said fighting in the Praga [eastern], suburban district of Warsaw was violent Sunday night, and earlier the Germans had shelled the center of the city. The announcer said, "We have lived through yesterday and today despite bombing, machine gunning, and shelling, and yet we have comparative order here." He said German attacks continued incessantly but were repulsed. He asserted the spirit of the population was not broken and that they had decided to resist to the last man. Here the radio speech was broken off. The broadcast was the first heard since Sunday night.]

Foreigners Unable to Leave.

At 10 o'clock Sunday night the Polish officer who was to discuss the surrender of the capital was awaited at the point east of Warsaw designated by the Germans, but the Germans asserted he never arrived. When the attack on Warsaw was resumed it also shut off the possibility for consular staffs and other foreigners to leave the city. An American consular staff of six persons was believed still there.

Germans assert that chaos reigns within Warsaw. It was the German view that the Poles were divided among themselves as to whether they should give up or not.

Polish forces were reported fighting desperately north of Lodz in the area southwest of Wyszgorod between the Bzura and Vistula rivers. This is about 40 miles west of Warsaw. Close to 150,000 men are trapped there and have no chance to escape, Germans assert.

Russians Nearing Lwow.

In southern Poland, Lwow [Lemberg], 20 miles southeast of Warsaw, is besieged by German troops. [Russian troops also were reported advancing on Lwow.] Poland was cut off from Rumania by the German and Russian forces. Lublin, large Polish industrial city, midway on the road between Warsaw and Lwow, was captured today.

Military sources said that in the Carpathian foothills southwest of Lwow the right wing of the so-called German southern army pushed farther into the oil fields, taking Drohobycz, the most important oil center of the region.

Along the Bug river north of Pinsk and in the Bialystok sector Polish troops which are fighting desperately, hoping to reach a refuge in the swamps near Pinsk, now are in danger of being crushed by the advancing Russians.

The German military described the western front as quiet except that one French plane was shot down.

Reds, Nazis Settle Some Points.

BERLIN, Sept. 18. (AP). — German and Russian army officers were drawing up an occupation line for their armies in Poland tonight.

Detachments of the two armies of occupation met at Brest-Litovsk, the Polish city where Russian revolutionists and Germans signed their separate peace in the world war.

The two commands were concerned with fixing a line in Poland beyond which the German and Russian armies would not go.

Reports were heard here that the best the Poles could hope for was a possible protectorate similar to Bohemia and Moravia in what was Czecho-Slovakia, with Warsaw as the capital.

While the Russian and German armies pushed their occupation of Poland, informed quarters said several general points already had been agreed upon. Among these were:

1. No Polish state exists.
2. From this fact, the two governments draw the natural consequences.
3. The two governments are agreed the situation of minorities under the former Polish government demands revision along the lines of ethnical [racial] development of each minority.

[Officials would not say whether this meant complete or modified self-government for the minorities.]

To Bring About New Order.

4. The task of each government is to bring about a new order and establish quiet.
5. Germany and Russia alone are interested in the reconstruction of this area, for in every respect the former Polish state was the natural sphere of influence of Germany and Russia.
6. The contention of France and England that they must come to the aid of Poland has proven an impossible realization and their treaties with Poland have become pointless.
7. France and England once again are faced with the question of why they want to wage war against Germany.

It was said officially there was a possibility the Poles might be allowed to hold a small strip of territory as a buffer between Germany and Russia, but this "depends a great deal on the attitude the Poles assume."

Lithuania Has Stake.

The German army, it was indicated, would halt along its present line of occupation, running northward from Lwow to Brest-Litovsk to Bialystok, and comprising roughly the western two-thirds of Poland.

All territory east of that line—unless Lithuania is permitted to retake its old capital, Wilno [Vilna]—will be Russian, it was believed. With Russians reported already near Wilno, it may be too late for the Lithuanians, who were reported partially mobilizing, to act.

Officials said the "squatter's right" rule might obtain in Wilno, thereby indicating the Lithuanians were to be ignored.

German Army Communique.

"The campaign in Poland is nearing its end. After the complete encirclement of Lwow and the capture of Lublin [220 and 100 miles southeast of Warsaw], part of the German eastern army is drawn up along the line of Lwow-Wlodzimierz-Brest-Litovsk-Bialystok, thereby having occupied the greatest part of Poland.

"Beyond this line the annihilation and capture of individual scattered remnants of the former Polish army proceeds apace at several points. The strongest of these encircled Polish fighting groups, constituting approximately one-fourth of the Polish army, is pressed together in the narrowest of space southwest of Wyszogrod between the Bzura and Vistula rivers, and since yesterday is facing dissolution.

Tell of Truce Moves.

"On Sept. 17 a request was addressed to the supreme command of the German army by the Polish broadcasting station from encircled Warsaw to receive a Polish negotiator. The supreme command of the army declared its readiness so to do. Until midnight of the 17th, however, no negotiator arrived at our troops.

"The air force effectively attacked Polish forces encircled southwest of Wyszogrod. Polish aviation forces no longer figured anywhere along the entire front. The German air force, thereby, on the whole accomplished the task set before it in the east. Numerous units of air force, troops, and anti-aircraft artillery have been drawn together and stand ready for service elsewhere.

"No noteworthy war activity in the west. Near Saarbruecken a French plane was shot down by a German pursuit plane. During Sept. 17 no air attacks on German soil occurred."

German sources disclosed plans already were being made to absorb the Poles in west Poland into the reich industry, which badly needs laborers. Other workers also will be needed to rebuild the war torn western part of Poland.

German and soviet troops met in Poland yesterday and a conference was begun to determine boundary lines beyond which each army will not advance. High Polish government and army officials fled to Rumania. Activity on the western front, meanwhile, was minimized by French army reports. The diagonal lines mark territory held by German troops; wavy lines that held by Russians. The heavy black line is a possible boundary line under discussion by the invading armies.

FRENCH MAKE GAINS ALONG A HIGH RIDGE CLOSE TO LUXEMBURG

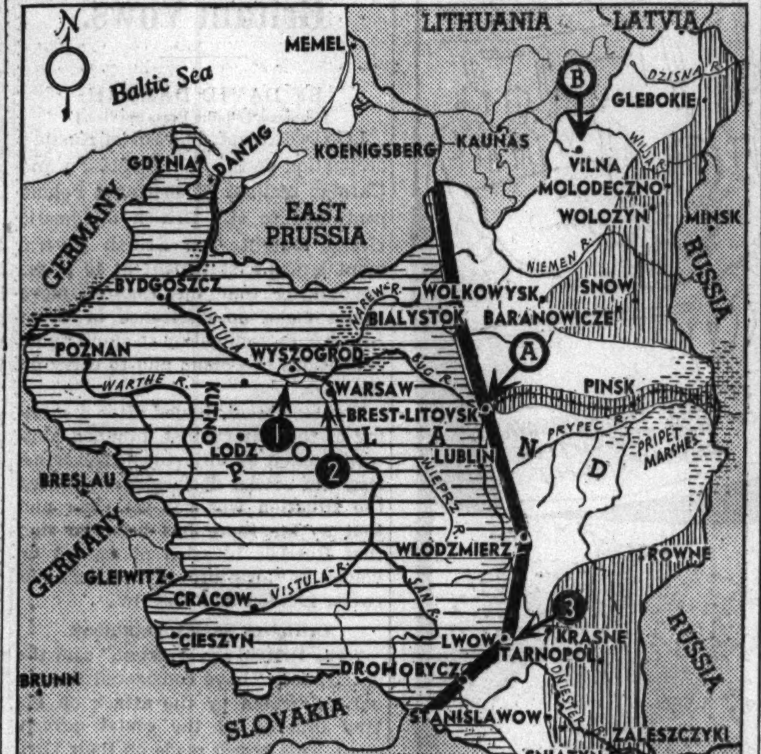
BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ON THE LUXEMBURG-GERMAN BORDER, Sept. 18.—French and German artillery action, observable from neutral Luxemburg today, revealed that since yesterday French troops had made progress along the high ridge above Perl in the direction of Pillingen.

Heavy German shells were bursting throughout the day just at the edge of the thick woods immediately above and west of Perl and extending to Pillingen. The latter seemed the objective of the French 75s although several French salvos also hit a spot half way in the woods. Other German heavy artillery was directed towards a road immediately above Sierck. Perl itself, which is situated at the foot of a hill, seemed usless to either side until the dominating ridge is captured.

An ideal observation post at the corner of Luxemburg, France, and Germany was barred to all observers by the Luxemburg government today to avoid the accusation that its neutrality was being violated.



Soviet and German armed forces yesterday met at A and began a dicussion of boundary lines, including the possibility of leaving a buffer state of Poland between Germany and Russia. The heavy black line may become Germany's eastern boundary. The Russians are approaching Vilna (B). The Germans now hold part of Poland covered by horizontal lines except that fighting is still going on at points 1, 2, and 3. The vertical lines mark Polish territory held by Russian army.

WINDSOR MADE MAJOR GENERAL; TO JOIN FORCES

LONDON, Sept. 18 (AP).—The British war office announced tonight that the duke of Windsor shortly will proceed abroad as a major general in the British expeditionary forces.

King George VI., the war office announced, accepted temporarily his brother's resignation as field marshal so he might serve actively in the lower rank of major general. The appointment was effective as of Sept 3, the day Britain declared war.

Windsor returned from France on Sept. 12 after almost three years of self-imposed exile, accompanied by his American-born wife for whom he relinquished his throne.

NAZIS, REDS MAY LET POLAND LIVE AS BUFFER STATE

MOSCOW, Sept. 19 (Tuesday) (AP).—The soviet Russian Baltic fleet is "taking measures" against Polish submarines believed hiding in Baltic waters, the official news agency, Tass, announced today.

MOSCOW, Sept. 18 (AP).—Germany and soviet Russia were believed by some sources tonight to be pointing toward creation of a small Polish buffer state as their armies bit farther into Poland.

These sources said they saw a hint of such a possibility in a joint communique broadcast over Russian radio stations.

This announcement declared the intention of the advancing soviet and German armies was to "assist the population of Poland in reconstructing conditions of their state existence."

Text of Joint Communique.

The joint soviet-German communique declared:

"In order to forestall unfounded rumors of every description with regard to the tasks of soviet and German troops in Poland, the governments of the U. S. S. R. and Germany declare that the actions of these troops pursue no aim counter to the interests of Germany or the soviet union or contradicting the spirit and the letter of the nonaggression pact concluded by Germany and the U. S. S. R.

"On the contrary, the task of these troops is to reëstablish in Poland the peace and order disrupted by the collapse of the Polish state and to assist the population of Poland in reconstructing conditions of their state existence."

Continue General Advance.

The soviet general staff announced a continued advance along the entire 500 mile front of yesterday's invasion, with the capture of 13 additional towns and cities.

One of these is Stanislavov [Stanislawow], in the Polish Ukraine, of 60,000 population and the largest yet taken by soviet troops.

The farthest thrust was at Volkovysk [Wolkowysk], 110 miles from the Russian border and representing a 60 mile advance from Baranowicze, the farthest point reached on Sunday.

[Volkovysk is about 80 miles north of Brest-Litovsk, which the Germans captured Sunday and at which Berlin dispatches yesterday reported Russian and German officers met to discuss where their respective lines would be drawn. It was assumed the soviet officers went on in advance of larger forces.]

Approach Vilna Capital.

The general staff closed with the statement that "advance columns of the Red army are approaching Lwow and Wilno." Lwow, capital of the Polish Ukraine and third largest city in Poland, was still held by Polish troops, although almost encircled by Germans.

The nearest they reported being to Wilno [Vilna], old Lithuanian capital, was at Sventsiany [Sweiciany], 50 miles to the northeast.

[Rumanian frontier dispatches said the Reds took Zaleszczyki and Sniatyn on the border and were driving toward Kuty.]

Foreign military experts estimated the soviet union has at least 2,000,000 soldiers on her western front and that between 500,000 and 1,000,000 probably are participating in Poland.

Poland's ambassador, Waclaw Grzybowski, received instructions from his government to leave Moscow in protest. There was no immediate indication when he would leave.

Diplomats Await Instructions.

British and French diplomatic missions, whose governments have pledged to aid Poland against any threat to her independence, still awaited instructions from London and Paris.

When he informed twenty-four other nations of the soviet march, Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov told Britain and France that Russia intended to remain neutral. He declared the soviet intention was to protect the 11,000,000 Ukrainians and White Russians in Poland.

German circles reported Russian and German planes occasionally were meeting in Poland and exchanging cheery greetings.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

Germans Are Jubilant at Proof 'Schlieffen Was Right.'

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 18.—The German general staff is jubilant because it sees in the Polish victory the "truth that the spirit of Schlieffen still lives among the German officers."

[Gen. Alfred von Schlieffen was famed as a German army strategist in the '90s and the early part of this century. He favored quick thrusts, flank turning and encirclement.]

The German victory was not due solely to numerical superiority but to the outstanding work of its general staff. The victorious campaign was prepared down to the last detail and the general staff made the fullest possible use of every modern invention and discovery to insure victory. It perfected coöperation among the branches of the service to such a degree that officers returning from the battle said they all "fought as if they were one man."

First Aim: Divide Enemy.

The first aim of the German officers in mapping their campaign was to divide the Polish forces into as many small groups as possible and to mop up one after another.

Germany sent its western army advancing from Silesia up to Pomerania. The eastern army started in East Prussia. The right wing of the western army advanced from Slovakia over the Jablunka pass toward Cracow, cutting off the rich industrial districts in Upper Silesia, because, German officers said, "one must avoid battle in thickly settled regions as much as possible."

"If we had marched directly through Upper Silesia," they added, "we would have endangered the industrial centers of this region. By swinging around them we spared the population and secured strategical advantages."

Forts Hold One Sector.

The left wing of the western army entered Pomorze [Polish corridor], leaving a wide stretch free near Posen [Poznan]. There was no need for the Germans to attack Posen directly. The border line along Posen province was heavily fortified. If the Poles had tried to break through it they probably would have been repulsed easily by the Germans. This left sufficient forces for the drive on Bromberg [Bydgoszcz] in the corridor.

The eastern army, starting from East Prussia, sent troops toward Danzig and big forces in the direction of Graudenz [Grudziadz]. Thus, when the right wing of the eastern army met the left wing of the western army, they completed a pincer movement and cut off the corridor.

The center group of the eastern army hit toward Mlawa, ready to swing to the right if Graudenz should prove more difficult to take than expected, or to march straight southward to Warsaw.

Air Force Lends a Hand.

The second day of the war the Germans knew the northern group was sufficiently strong to take Bromberg and Graudenz, which were their goals, without additional help. They knew this because their air force and their signal corps reported no Polish movement to escape encirclement drives.

The left wing of the eastern army advanced toward Bialystok and Brest-Litovsk [Brzesc and Bugiem] and 17 days later met the forces that had started from Silesia and Slovakia in Wlodawa, south of Brest-Litovsk, completing the southeastern sector of the second ring around Warsaw.

Flyers Key to Rout.

The Germans say their superior air force was a tremendous factor in speeding dissolution of the Polish army by making it impossible for troops to reassemble and turning retreat into a rout.

German officers declare it was not true that dry weather gave them a great advantage.

"Modern motorized units may be slowed up slightly but bad weather is not enough to decide the outcome of a campaign," they said.

Staff, Motorized Units and Air Force Victory Keys.

LONDON, Sept. 18 (AP).—Military men in London tonight drew from the first two weeks of the Polish campaign, as Polish resistance crumbled before German and soviet Russian armies, some of the first lessons of the 1939 war. They said they included:

1. The mechanized arm of the German army proved itself capable of swift, sure advances. The legend, carefully cultivated after the Austrian invasion, of its structural deficiencies has been dissipated. The speed with which its forces took military objectives was staggering in comparison with similar attacks in Spain's civil war.

2. Afforded every opportunity by the rolling, dry terrain of Poland, the mechanized forces nevertheless had to be followed by cavalry and infantry. The cavalry was especially useful in moving speedily to positions already stormed by tanks and amored cars.

3. It was established that aerial bombardment is a most effective weapon against the preparation of counter attacks in open country and that the air strength of warring powers must be somewhere near equal if the war is to be fought on anything like even terms.

German Leadership Praised.

They said that to these points must be added three observations on a broader scale.

First, that the German general staff appears more flexible and adaptable in strategy than in 1914.

Second, that the sweep through Poland might have been accomplished in a week had the Poles not exhibited desperate bravery throughout.

Third, that the downfall of the Polish armies was accomplished as much through the superior, often uncanny, work of the German intelligence service as through any other agency.

Mechanized Arm Efficient.

Speaking of the mechanized arm, a neutral officer who fought through the world war said:

"I was skeptical of its efficiency until the last two weeks. But its performances, attested by neutrals, have been prodigious. It performs today many functions of cavalry in the 19th century, but it moves faster than any cavalry, even your Jeb Stuarts, ever moved.

"If France's Maginot line is ever broken this mechanized arm will be of inestimable value even in the rougher terrain of the western front. It may be early to make the prediction, but I believe that in mechanized columns, such as the German, the world war advantage of the defense over the offense in casualties has been adjusted."

Cavalry Shows Its Worth.

Although the Germans used cavalry to follow tanks and armored cars into new positions in Poland, observers said this was made possible by the character of the country.

"In the rugged terrain of western Europe these same cavalry divisions would be slowed down to the pace of infantry," said one, "but cavalry always will be useful over such ground."

The German air force was used chiefly to bomb and strafe with machine guns the concentration of Polish infantry and artillery for counter-assaults. In this it was invaluable.

"A large part of the German success must be laid to this source," said a soldier who had just returned from Germany. "The Poles planned counteroffensive after counteroffensive only to see them broken up as German planes swooped on troops getting ready for these offensives and scattered them."

To this task military men add invaluable aid in reconnaissance and bombing preparation for German offenses as the main work of the German air force.

"Perhaps it is too early to say," reported an officer who had followed the German general, Ludendorff, in the world war, "but I believe the German general staff's policy today is more flexible than it was in the world war. It was able to divert a direct assault on Warsaw into a flanking movement on both flanks which would encircle the enemy and at the same time consolidate gains made by other armies. This shows staff work of a high degree of imagination, as well as thoroughness — the German forte."

The military intelligence service of the Germans received high praise. Observers noted that the whereabouts of the Polish general staff appeared known always to the Germans and that Polish generals were continually on the move, harassed by German bombers and artillery.

Tell of Poles' Courage.

"Their bravery was almost unbelievable," said one expert. "Strafed and bombed from the air without ever seeing effective aerial resistance to the German air force, their communications disorganized, their country overrun, their generals committed to a policy of retreat and defense, they kept their courage and their morale high.

"As a French observer said of Gen. Pickett's charge at your battle of Gettysburg, 'It was magnificent, but it was not war!'"

STALIN REPORTED TO BE EAGER TO ENGULF EUROPE

Suggest That Is Why He Lined Up with Hitler.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Sept. 18.—Why French and British diplomacy failed to make an ally of soviet Russia and why Nazi diplomacy succeeded in doing so is the subject of much speculation in diplomatic circles here.

Actually the question is easy to answer. France and England had only one thing to offer Russia—security against a German attack. The negotiations in Moscow were opened and conducted on the assumption that Russia was a status quo power interested in maintaining world peace—as she had so often declared before the league of nations—and even more particularly interested in securing her western frontiers.

Called "Predatory Nation."

Recent events, in the opinion of competent observers, prove that this assumption was completely false. Russia, they say, must be counted as an expansive and aggressive power, one of the "predatory nations" which Maxim Litvinov, former foreign commissar, and other soviet diplomats so often have denounced in Geneva.

There is no reason for supposing that Russia will be satisfied with the territorial gains allotted to her by the Germans in Poland and plenty of reason for supposing that Dictator Josef Stalin's territorial ambitions go much farther.

Experts on Russian affairs consider that the motivation of Stalin's new expansionist policy is a curious mixture of bolshevik ideology and old fashioned Russian imperialism. It is a mistake, they say, to think that Stalin has ceased to be a communist. He remains a communist, but identifies communism exclusively with Russia, so that he has a double motive in extending Russia's zone of influence as far as possible, they maintain.

Seeks to Absorb Nations.

Stalin's real dream, those experts believe, is not to set up communist governments in various European countries but to use the communist movements in them to absorb them, one by one, into communist Russia. If this assumption is true, France and England had nothing to offer him. They could not invite him to help himself to slices of Poland, Rumania or the Baltic states.

One indication that this was the real point over which the three-way negotiations broke down was the famous hitch over the guarantee to the Baltic states. Premier and Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov insisted on France and England giving Russia a blank check to deal with "indirect aggression" through the Baltic states in any way she thought fit.

In practice this would have given Stalin the right to interfere in the internal affairs of these states or even violate their frontiers whenever he chose to cook up a pretext. Naturally, the French and British balked at this.

[The British-French-soviet negotiations for an alliance apparently broke down because neither side was willing to make a real exchange of military information, according to a London dispatch. London observers said the Russians tried to set a trap to get British and French secrets. The observers charged that, after gaining these secrets, the soviets would have gone back on any deal that might have been concluded.]

Hitler Takes Big Chance.

Adolf Hitler, not having to worry about domestic or foreign public opinion, was able to make a deal with Stalin for the division of the spoils. He was taking a big chance in doing so just as the German high command took a big chance when they sent Nikolai Lenin in a sealed coach from Switzerland back to Russia. That particular piece of strategy very nearly caused Germany to go under in the post-war revolutionary outburst which she had helped to prepare.

[Lenin was in Switzerland in April, 1917, when the Russian people overthrew the czar. The German government permitted Lenin and 100 revolutionists to pass through Germany in a sealed train to Russia. This led to charges that Lenin was a paid agent of Germany. Lenin became leader of the bolshevik party.]

This time, instead of sending bolshevism in a sealed sleeping coach to the east, Hitler is bringing it to the west in an armored car and the risk is much greater.

From the soviet point of view the deal with Germany for the partition of Poland opens the gateway to the west to the Red army. The soviet advance in the southeast corner of Poland seems destined to bring the army up to Hungary's new frontier in what used to be Ruthenia [Carpatho-Ukraine].

Reds Eye Hungary.

Hungary, owing to the survival of the feudal system and the widespread misery of peasants, offers the world's best field for revolutionary agitation. Rumania and the Balkan countries to a lesser degree are also fertile soil.

Already Nazi propaganda in these countries has sought to exploit the misery of a land hungry peasantry by presenting itself as a revolutionary movement. The bolsheviki can be expected to employ the same tactics, even more effectively.

In the opinion of many competent observers, the bolshevik menace to Europe is nearly as great as it was after the world war when Bela Kun, riding high on the Red tidal wave sweeping west, ruled in Budapest.

This time, however, Britain and France are more aware of the danger.

THOUSANDS FLEE POLAND; NATION'S LIFE EBBS FAST

270 of Warsaw's Planes Enter Rumania.

CERNAUTI, Rumania, Sept. 18 (AP).—Poland's life as a nation ebbed fast tonight as high government officials, troops, and civilians fled by the thousands across the Rumanian frontier before converging German and soviet Russian troops.

The Rumanian-Polish border is the scene of great confusion with a steady stream of fleeing refugees and Polish troops.

All through yesterday, last night, and today they were climbing Cernauti's slippery, hilly streets in the rain.

Polish troops, especially air force men, and equipment, including 270 Polish army planes, crossed the frontier. The Poles were being interned by Rumanian military authorities.

100,000 Cross Border.

The Cernauti chief of police estimated at least 100,000 Polish refugees crossed the border in automobiles, on bicycles, horses, and on foot. The stream of humanity still came winding across the bridge through the Rumanian countryside and then up Cernauti's cobblestone streets.

Even taxis came from Warsaw loaded with refugees and their baggage. A fire engine and hook and ladder truck from Cracow entered. Cars with Polish licenses from cities throughout Poland were seen.

The roads were choked to the border from Cernauti. When the Russian tanks appeared in some Polish villages, they were welcomed by inhabitants of the countryside who had the mistaken belief that the war was over.

The backwash of war has made a grim pageant in little Cernauti, suddenly transformed into a pseudo-international capital.

Wounded Flyers Fill Hospital.

Seriously wounded Polish airmen filled the military hospital. Concentration camps for fleeing Polish troops sprang up overnight like boom mining towns. They were sorted out according to rank. Most Poles said they willingly faced internment, glad to have escaped the chaotic struggle in their homeland.

Personal tragedy was on every hand. Families were separated, with husbands or wives or children still trapped in Poland.

Diplomatic representatives of more than a score of nations rubbed shoulders in the two small hotels. Many slept on cots in the corridors.

A constant stream of Rumanian troops marched toward the troubled frontier. The uncertainty of the future weighed heavily on Rumanians and refugees alike. Observers commented that Rumania was obviously in a critical position and the lightning pace of the war made many fear the worst.

American, French, British, and other foreign envoys to Poland have crossed the border as well as the French and other military missions and are now in Cernauti, Bucharest, or on their way to the Rumanian capital.

Maj. W. H. Colbern, American military attaché in Poland, reported that a Russian tank commander told him the Russians were "against the Germans."

Maj. Colbern had crossed the Dniester river in Poland yesterday and was on the road to Horodenka, about 40 miles northwest of here, when he said he saw a column of 11 ton tanks going in the same direction as some Polish troops.

He said one pulled aside and told him to halt. A soviet officer who was cordial and polite, Maj. Colbern said, came out to speak to him.

Maj. Colbern said he later talked to the tank commander and quoted the officer as saying "we are against the Germans." Maj. Colbern said Polish troops fraternized with the Russians and gave them cigarets.

Bomb Ex-Seat of Government.

Leland Harrison, an American embassy secretary, was leaving Zaleszczyki [which was a temporary seat of the Polish government] at 11 a. m. yesterday, he said, when German warplanes bombed the town. He said six German planes arrived over the town just as the Russian tank appeared.

Gen. Lev Prchala, commander of the Czech legion formed in Poland after Germany absorbed Czecho-Slovakia, said 15,000 of his men had been captured by the Russians. Prchala, who was stopped and released by the Russians, said he was informed his soldiers had been sent into Russia.

Poles reported Edward Kulatowski, foreign press officer in Warsaw, former Polish consul at Chicago and at one time a secretary in the Polish embassy at Washington, D. C., was believed killed by a bomb that hit a special train leaving Warsaw. He and three others disappeared.

Nazis Aid Soviet Advance.

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

ROME, Sept. 18.—Dispatches from Italian correspondents on the Rumanian-soviet frontier today declared that the Germans helped the soviet advance into Poland.

The Messaggero correspondent said that on Sunday morning all Polish cities along the Rumanian frontier were bombed by the German air force, thus preparing the soviet advance.

A dispatch from Leopoli said the weather in Poland has changed and it has been raining steadily since Saturday.

"Rivers are swelling, and roads have become a sea of mud," it said. "If the situation is less comfortable for the Germans it is downright tragic for the fleeing Poles and catastrophic for the population. People are wandering over the countryside and through woods.

"Carts unable to ford rivers sink in mud; groups of families, sometimes only women and children, remain in isolated and deserted sections of the land, exposed to rain and without food and fire like ships wrecked in midocean."

Wolves Visit Towns.

The dispatch said wolves have appeared among the "ruins of the village, attracted by the stench of corpses."

A correspondent of the Stefani [semi-official] news agency in a dispatch "from the Polish front" reported he had visited a large prison camp in Germany.

He said Polish prisoners now total more than 130,000 and that another 100,000 are expected shortly. He added that the Germans separate prisoners of German blood from the others, sending the former to other concentration camps where as soon as their past is investigated they will be returned to their families.

"Many Polish prisoners of German blood have asked to be enlisted in the German army," he wrote. "The prisoners are very badly equipped. A great many do not know why they were sent to war. Examination shows the profound ignorance of the majority of Polish farmers who were led to believe they would have made a military walk to Berlin.

Told Tanks Made of Tin.

"They were told, for instance, that German tanks were built of tin which bullets would perforate and that therefore they should not be afraid.

"Others had been convinced that a large British force had debarked at Gdynia, former all Polish port captured by the Germans, and that a large French-British army was to launch an offensive from Rumania and catch the Germans from the rear.

"Prisoners from the eastern [Poland] regions welcomed the news of Russia's intervention. They were most outspoken against maltreatments suffered on their farms at the hands of Polish landowners, who were supported by police.

"Dirty, ragged, full of insects, the prisoners nevertheless maintain a dignified behavior with a trace of cockiness reflecting their national temperament."

The correspondent said that replies from prisoners show Poland had entered the war "absolutely unprepared militarily and spiritually."

SOVIET INVADERS DODGE DESOLATE POLISH MARSHES

Pripet Area Again Stands as Border Guard.

Soviet Russia's opening drive into Poland took place only in the north and south thirds of the country—and not in the middle third wherein lie one of nature's most effective barriers, the Pripet marshes.

The marshes comprise about 30,000 square miles of Poland, an area larger than Holland and Belgium combined.

The Pripet [spelled Prypec in Polish and pronounced Pree' pech] marshes for centuries have been used in defense of the areas to the east and west. Modern Poland considered them a strategic part of her Russian frontier, needing little or no defense.

Similar to Central Florida.

Except for climate this drowned section is similar to the swamps of central Florida. Through the Polish city of Pinsk, almost in the center of the marshes, runs a railroad to Russia, built in much the same fashion as the highway from Miami to Key West.

The marsh region is flat, monotonous, and is filled with heavy forest, rivers, canals, reeds, and stunted willows. The inhabitants, most of whom are desperately poor, travel principally in shallow boats. The towns are built on low knolls. Even the haystacks are elevated on brush platforms.

The marshes are drained after a fashion by the river Prypec. The area still is practically isolated and its life is probably the most primitive in Europe.

Canals Link Two Rivers.

Canals through the marshes link with the Polish Vistula river and the Russian Dnieper, so it is possible to travel by water from the Baltic to the Black sea. However, except for the waterways, communication is entirely primitive. All but one or two arterial highways are log roads or sand tracks.

Poland established schools and compulsory education throughout the area, but the marsh dwellers resisted what they considered intrusion in their private affairs.

The Polish navy has maintained a patrol of miniature gunboats and fast power launches on the larger waterways of the marshlands.

Farming and fishing are the principal means of livelihood for the inhabitants. Farmers tend their fields in boats and transport their animals from field to pasture in the same way.

When the spring floods come, the whole area, except the higher towns, is inundated. In winter the countryside is a mass of ice. Farmers take their produce to the towns on sleds.

The Better Way to Correct Constipation

One way to treat constipation is to endure it first and cure it afterward. The other way is to avoid having it by getting at its cause. So why not save yourself those dull headachy days, plus the inevitable trips to the medicine chest, if you can do it by a simple common-sense "ounce of prevention"?

If your trouble, like that of millions, is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, "the better way" is to eat Kellogg's All-Bran. This crunchy, toasted, ready-to-eat cereal has just the "bulk" you need. If you eat it every day—and drink plenty of water—you can not only get regular but keep regular, day after day and month after month! All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

FRENCH AIRMAN SHOOTS DOWN 3 GERMAN PLANES

Nazi Ships Dive to Earth in Rapid Succession.

PARIS, Sept. 18 (AP).—A single French pilot shot down three German planes in aerial combat over the western front today, French military authorities said.

Advices from the front lines said French planes had been generally active along the front in meeting the German air force on an even footing.

The French ace, as yet unidentified in dispatches, was said to have shot down three planes in rapid succession.

The German planes, which all apparently fell behind French lines, were identified as Messerschmidt fighters. French rapid fire guns, presumably heavier than ordinary machine guns, were reported to have proven their worth in aerial combat.

Sinking of U-boat Announced.

The general staff's night communique, which announced the first specific victory for the French fleet in sinking a German submarine, said that French activity during the day on the land front was confined to artillery bombardment, particularly in the sector south of Saarbruecken.

This obviously meant heavy French batteries in the Warndt forest which form the backbone of French artillery support for the entire Saarbruecken sector on the western front.

Following is the text of the communique: "Artillery activity on various points of the front, particularly in the region south of Saarbruecken. An enemy submarine has been attacked with success by our naval forces."

Reports "All's Quiet."

An earlier communique merely said "there is nothing to report," although the general staff has consistently announced almost daily successes during the first two weeks of operations on the 100 mile northern flank.

[A German communique also described the western front as quiet, except that a French plane was shot down.]

Military dispatches said heavy Nazi reinforcements were reaching the Siegfried line, having been released from Poland by the Russian invasion.

The French and British were said to have taken advantage of the lull by moving British reinforcements into the area of the Maginot line. The Tommies were reported to have entered the Maginot fortifications from tunnels far behind the line and out of range of German artillery.

1,000,000 Troops in Poland.

There was no indication of the number of German divisions purportedly being brought to the west from Poland. The best available estimates in Paris have placed the German strength in Poland at more than 70 divisions, or in the neighborhood of 1 million men.

Military experts have expressed the belief that a country like Poland, after being conquered, could be policed by 15 divisions and that soviet coöperation undoubtedly would decrease the number of troops needed there.

Heaviest German reinforcements were said to be moving into positions around Saarbruecken, the rich industrial city whose defenses form the key to the central sector of the northern flank.

Lay Down Heavy Fire.

To the southeast the French reported Germans were showing increased activity, their patrols operating along the Blies river, testing positions in the narrow rectangle of hills which lies between the Blies and the little stream called the Mandel river.

The three mile wide area between the streams is 10 miles east of Saarbruecken. It was described as difficult territory for military operations, as the rivers wind through hills which reach their crest about midway between them.

Dispatches said that German raiding parties, seeking to locate the most advanced French positions, crept along the line of hills, taking advantage of cover in woods which are thickest on the slopes that fall away toward the Mandel.

France's Big Guns Roar.

The French 75-millimeter guns were reported to have laid heavy fire on the woods in an effort to make the area too dangerous for German maneuvers.

These dispatches said the French field artillery, coupled with positions the French have taken during the last two weeks, apparently gained fire superiority, at least for the moment.

To offset this, however, the Germans were said to have brought up heavier artillery, mostly mortars highly suitable for the hilly countryside over which the operations were now spreading.

Occasional artillery fire throughout the day apparently was devoted more to harassing front line positions than to shelling the rear.

Germans Carry Pamphlets.

Parisians were informed that the first German soldiers captured in French action on the western front were carrying pamphlets strewn over Germany by British planes.

[The British air force's propaganda war" started during the first week of hostilities. Millions of pamphlets which said the German government "deliberately and coldbloodedly" started the war and "refused peace with honor" were dropped from planes to the German people.]

The government published a decree making it compulsory for all persons and companies to declare all foreign holdings amounting to 100 billion francs [$2,200,000,000], of which a great proportion is centered in the United States.

American Clipper Reported Safe After Wireless Break

LONDON, Sept. 19, Tuesday (AP).—The British news agency, Reuters, said today the American Clipper, flying boat of Pan-American Airways, was flying safely across the Atlantic to New York after an interruption in wireless communications temporarily had caused fears for its safety. Reuters said a Portuguese gunboat was dispatched to assist the Clipper when the communications break led to a belief it had come down in the Atlantic 100 miles west of the Azores.

SOVIET INVASION OF POLAND WINS BROWDER'S O. K.

New York, Sept. 18 [Special].—Invasion of Poland by Russia was warmly approved by Earl Browder, head of the Communist party in the United States, and acclaimed as "another triumph for human freedom" by the Daily Worker, Communist party newspaper.

Browder said Poland's downfall was due to its refusal to accept the military aid offered by the soviet government, and that as long as the Polish government existed its refusal had to be accepted. But the Polish government has ceased to exist, said Browder, leaving the soviet union free "to defend her own borders in whatever form seems necessary" and to help "those peoples most closely associated with the soviet union by territorial and national factors."

Browder was asked whether he regarded the invasion as aggression. He said he did not because the Polish government had broken down, which canceled all pacts.

40,000 NEEDIEST SCHOOL PUPILS TO GET FREE MEALS

About 40,000 Chicago school pupils who in opinion of their teachers are needy will be given free lunches beginning next Monday, F. O. Washam, director of the bureau of lunchrooms of the board of education, announced yesterday.

A temporary arrangement has been made with the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation to set up a free counter in the penny lunchrooms already operating in sixty-seven elementary schools, Washam said. Such commodities as wheat, beans, butter, and other foodstuffs will be furnished by the FSCC. Additional labor as may be required will be supplied by the WPA.

The penny lunchrooms are concentrated on the near west side. The usual cost for a well balanced lunch is 5 cents. It is estimated that the free lunches will cost the board less than 2 cents each. This is to be paid from regular lunchroom funds and no additional appropriations are needed, Washam said.

If the plan is successful the board may consider establishing it in 125 other elementary schools and in several high schools in the colored districts, which have no lunch service.

ROOSEVELT TELLS POLAND HIS SHOCK AT NAZI BOMBINGS

Deplores Air Attacks on Unfortified Towns.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 18.—President Roosevelt tonight sent a message to President Ignace Moscicki of Poland saying he had been "deeply shocked" by reports that German aircraft had bombed unfortified Polish towns and villages, with no military objectives, and had killed thousands of defenseless men, women, and children.

Mr. Roosevelt's message was a reply to a protest from President Moscicki, charging that German aircraft had "deliberately and methodically" bombed Polish towns and villages with no military objectives, killing and wounding thousands of civilians.

President Moscicki's protest was based on Mr. Roosevelt's message of Sept. 1, appealing to the governments of Germany, Italy, Poland, Great Britain, and France not to bomb open towns and villages with no military objectives.

Limited Bombing Pledged.

Italy replied that she was not participating in the European war and all the other governments declared that they would limit their bombing operations to military objectives unless their enemies resorted to the bombing of unfortified cities.

Mr. Roosevelt's message to President Moscicki, which was sent by way of the American ambassador to Poland, Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, said in part:

"I have received your telegram stating that as the result of the bombing by German aircraft of Polish towns and villages possessing no considerable military objective thousands of the civil population of Poland are dead or wounded.

Refers to Officials' Reports.

"It had been my hope following the receipt from the several belligerent powers of the replies to my appeal of Sept. 1, in which they stated their intentions to limit the operations of their air forces to military objectives, that the world would be spared the horror of witnessing during this war the bombing of open towns and villages and the slaughtering of thousands of innocent and defenseless men, women, and children.

"I have been deeply shocked, therefore, by the statements contained in your telegram as well as by reports received from other sources including officials of this government in Poland at the scene of hostilities."

The Inquiring Reporter

The Question.

Do you think there is a genuine difference between Stalin's communistic government and the dictator political systems?

Where Answered.

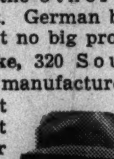
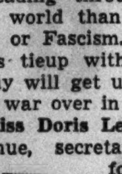
The Answers.

Jack Ryan, 723 South boulevard, Evanston, radio press service manager—The main difference is in the tags. Naziism is a more violent form of Mussolini's Fascism, but both are a step behind Stalin's communism in violence. Stalin's subjugation of the people is more complete. He has gotten away from theoretical communism, of course.

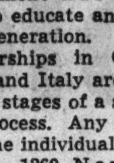
Hermann Obergfell, 3120 Seminary avenue, tool and die foreman—The outstanding difference between their systems is that Hitler and Mussolini permit some private enterprise, while Stalin permits none. While Stalin is moving toward the right, the other two are moving to the left. German business gets subsidies, but no big profits.



Harrington E. Drake, 320 South Honore street, game manufacturer—The main difference, it seems to me, is that there is a far greater danger of communism spreading throughout the world than Naziism or Fascism. Russia's tieup with Germany will get us into this war over in Europe.



Miss Doris Leycox, 1925 Armitage avenue, secretary—In Russia less force is needed to lead the people because the government has had time to educate an entire generation. The dictatorships in Germany and Italy are in earlier stages of a similar process. Any dictatorship disregards the individual.



Miss Marian Brush, 1260 North Dearborn street, office worker—No, there isn't much difference so far as the people are concerned. It seems to me that these three governments show that the common people need a leader. The masses haven't the ability to decide complex questions.

LANDON AND KNOX TO ATTEND WHITE HOUSE ARMS TALK

Four Other Republicans Accept Invitations.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 18.—Former Governor Alfred M. Landon of Kansas and Frank Knox, Chicago publisher, will participate in a White House conference on neutrality legislation next Wednesday afternoon, President Roosevelt announced today through Secretary Stephen T. Early.

The Republican candidates for president and vice president in 1936 were invited because they are the titular heads of their party, Secretary Early said. They were telephoned personally by the President, Early revealed, and both promptly accepted invitations to attend the meeting.

Favor President's Viewpoint.

Another Republican, Representative Carl E. Mapes of Michigan, was invited today and accepted. This will make a party lineup of 10 Democrats and six Republicans at the conference.

Mr. Roosevelt will have a largely sympathetic audience, however, because several of the Republicans, as well as all the Democrats, are in favor of repeal of the embargo on arms to belligerent nations, which the President wants.

Noticeably absent from the conference will be Senator William E. Borah [R., Idaho], ranking minority member and former chairman of the senate foregn relations committee, who will lead the fight against repeal. Nor was former President Herbert Hoover invited.

List of Conferees.

When asked why ex-President Hoover had not been invited, Secretary Early said:

"Well, we have invited the two titular heads of the Republican party. The President, in talking with me this morning, said this is no time to be labeling Democrats or Republicans any of those who will take part in Wednesday's meeting. They are national leaders."

The political lineup of the sixteen persons to be present at Wednesday's unprecedented conference follows:

DEMOCRATS: The President, Vice President John N. Garner, Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Speaker William B. Bankhead, Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, House Majority Leader Sam Rayburn, Chairman Key Pittman of the senate foreign relations committee, Chairman Sol Bloom of the house foreign affairs committee; Assistant Senate Majority Leader Sherman Minton, Senator James F. Byrnes of South Carolina.

With congress due to convene at noon Thursday, the President has not yet begun the actual drafting of his message to the legislators, Secretary Early said.

Orders Coast Guard Recruiting.

Another executive order, issued under authority of the "national emergency" proclaimed by the President, came from the White House today. It authorizes the coast guard to increase its personnel by 2,000 men, explaining that the increased man power is necessary in view of the assignment of coast guard personnel and vessels to the new patrol now operating in waters off the United States coasts.

Ten days ago the President ordered an increase of 137,000 men in the personnel strength of the army, navy, and marine corps.

NAZIS KEEPING CLOSE WATCH ON AMERICAN NEUTRALITY DEBATE

Berlin, Sept. 18 (AP).—Keeping close watch on the United States neutrality act, German officials tonight declared any revision making it possible for England and France to obtain arms "could mean only the first step toward the United States' entrance into the war."

At the same time, the news service Dienst aus Deutschland, which has close connections with official quarters, said "raising of the arms embargo, which would benefit England almost exclusively, would be a serious breach of economic neutrality that would force Germany to take proper defense measures."

Full reports on the public debate in the United States on the neutrality act are being received here. Newspaper surveys on the positions of neutral states asserted the United States furnished the biggest uncertainty for Germany.

NYE VIEWS ISSUE OF NEUTRALITY AS ONE OF LOYALTY

United States Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] said last night that "loyalty to the American policy of keeping out of foreign entanglements" will be a prime influence in the approaching congressional fight over changing the present neutrality law. The senator arrived in Chicago last night via American Air Lines en route to Washington, D. C.

He referred to President Roosevelt's recent demand that politics be adjourned during the congressional discussions.

"Just what is the full meaning of the President's proposal to 'adjourn politics?'" inquired Senator Nye. "Does it mean we shall do everything and anything the President wants, even before any emergency confronts us?

"If we do, the Republican party might as well fold up. Adjourn politics if they will, but there will be no adjournment of loyalty to the security and future of our country; no adjournment of loyalty to the time honored policy of minding our business."

Admits Slaying in Brawl; Killer Tells of Threats

Walter Fridrich, 416 South Aberdeen street, admitted to Desplaines street police yesterday that he shot and killed Frank Rossi, a former WPA worker, in a brawl Saturday at Aberdeen and Congress streets. Fridrich, a radio repair man, told Capt. Peter Bernacchi that Rossi, a friend of Fridrich's wife, had threatened him with a knife. Rossi, 40 years old, lived at 1245 Jackson boulevard. An inquest into his death will be held today in the county morgue.

1,156 MEN TELL ACE REPORTERS HOW AMERICA CAN SAVE UP TO $1.48 A QT. ON WHISKEY !

Read Why Thousands of Whiskey Users, Formerly Drinking "Expensive" Whiskies, Have Switched to Rich, Mellow Old Quaker.

The news is out! The men of America are discovering how to buy fine whiskey—and save money doing it! They're saving up to $1.48 a quart... 79¢ a quart... $1.31 a quart... $1.02 a quart... just by switching to rich Old Quaker! And here's how we know.

We were aware that men were changing to Old Quaker from more expensive whiskies. We wanted to know the reason. Was it economy alone? Or did Old Quaker actually taste as good as the more expensive whiskies these men had been drinking?

"Old Quaker costs $1.39 a bottle less than the whiskey I used to drink," says D. A. Tinker, salesman, St. Louis, Mo. "And it's every bit as good".

Here's What They Said

So we went out and asked! Trained investigators actually talked to some of these men! "Old Quaker saves me enough money in a month to buy five cartons of cigarettes," said Dale A. Tinker of St. Louis, Missouri. "And no wonder—Old Quaker costs $1.39 a bottle less than the whiskey I used to drink—and it's every bit as good. Up until eight months ago I wouldn't have believed you could sell a whiskey with this taste and aroma for a price so unusually low."

Statements like this showed us conclusively that Old Quaker actually appeals to their taste, yet saves them all the way up to $1.48 a quart on every bottle they buy!

Try It Yourself!

With reports like these before you—with more and more men preferring Old Quaker's rich, delicious taste and mellow aroma and saving money too—isn't it time for you to sample Old Quaker yourself?

REPORT INCREASE OF ENLISTMENTS IN SERVICE UNITS

Recruiting Officers Find Gain in Last Week.

Recruiting officers for the United States army, navy, marine corps, and coast guard reported yesterday that the number of enlistment applicants has increased during the last week. They said the increase followed an announcement that the services were expanding their man power.

Maj. Royden Williamson, in charge of the army recruiting office in the federal building, swore in thirteen recruits yesterday and received applications from more than twenty others. Lieutenant Commander George D. Lyon of the naval recruiting office and Col. John Marston, head of the marine corps recruiting office, both of which also are in the federal building, said more than thirty recruits will be sworn in today.

42 Examined for Navy.

Forty-two applicants appeared at the navy recruiting office during the day and were given physical and mental tests. Commander Lyon said that because of the high requirements of the navy only ten had passed the physical tests.

Commander Lyon announced that a special class in flying will open Oct. 1 at the naval aviation base at Glenview. The class will be limited to thirteen men between 20 and 28 years of age who have at least two years of college education.

Recruits in this class will study at Glenview one month and then will be sent to Pensacola, Fla., where they will train eleven months. Those completing the course will be commissioned ensigns in the naval reserve and will be ordered to active duty for three years.

Services Bar Married Men.

The army, navy, and marine corps accept only unmarried men. The coast guard will accept married men who present statements guaranteeing that their wives will not seek their discharge during the first enlistment period of three years.

Brig. Gen. Karl Truesdell, commander of Fort Sheridan, received orders yesterday to send the balance of the 61st coast artillery and antiaircraft unit to Fort Williams, Portland, Me., for harbor defense work. Earlier this month 226 men and seven officers of the same outfit were transferred to the Panama Canal zone. Gen. Truesdell said 452 men and eight officers will go to Maine within 30 days. It will be necessary to recruit additional soldiers to bring the strength of the Maine detachment to 452 men.

LOUISIANA JURIES INDICT 7; ONE AID OF EX-GOVERNOR

New Orleans, La., Sept. 18 (AP). — Louisiana grand juries today returned indictments against seven more men. One of them is William G. Rankin, until recently commissioner of conservation under former Gov. Richard W. Leche. . . .

Rankin was indicted by a grand jury here on charges of embezzling $10,700 of state funds to pay for a yacht given to former Gov. Leche last December. At the time the boat was presented it was described as a testimonial by friends for having attracted new industry to Louisiana. Two weeks ago Rankin's successor, Ernest S. Clements, found the state had paid for the boat. He called on Leche for restitution. Leche paid over to the department $11,000, saying he did not know the state had bought the 40 foot cabin cruiser.

Leche is under indictment with the convicted hotel man and politician, Seymour Weiss, on a charge of conspiracy to violate the Connally hot oil act.

The following were charged in a federal indictment with conspiracy to defraud the government through filing false income tax returns: H. A. Mitchem and C. M. Lewis, partners in a club bearing their names; George W. Woodward, tax consultant; Felix Maggiore, Robert Dalovisio, and Robert D. Anderson.

THE ABC'S OF SILVER

By CALEB

THE Alpha and Omega of silver is this: It was patterned for beauty—but it was fashioned for use. Good silver is not a guest, but a servant. It should be used and handled constantly. That is why silver is so "livable"; continuous use actually improves its tone, color and appearances. Even the thousands of tiny wear-marks thus acquired culminate in a lovelier finish than the most ingenious mechanical process can produce.

This happy fact explains the rich, time-mellowed luster of museum pieces. Their shimmering surfaces, through generations of use, have come alive. Years of handling have imparted a luminous depth to the satiny metal—a priceless heirloom quality.

Don't, for its own sake, then, deny yourself the daily companionship of fine Silver. Preservation of its beauty is, after all, a simple matter. A few procedures will successfully combat its one enemy: tarnish. Commonest sources of tarnish are gases, smoke, rubber, salt, and the sulphur content in eggs and other foods. To remove it, wash your pieces thoroughly in really hot, really soapy, water—rinse in hot, clean water—dry immediately—and wipe with a soft, clean cloth.

Once a month or so, you will also want to go over your pieces with a good brand of silver polish. When you do, just remember to rub briskly lengthwise of the piece—never circularly, or across. Then wash in hot, soapy water, rinse, and dry, as before. Do this, too, after any chemical cleaning—the use of salt, soda and hot water in an aluminum container—as such cleaning tends to efface much of the "ageing" tone or color.

Completing the care curriculum calls for storage in tarnish-preventive bags and rolls, or chests . . . and this modicum of thoughtful attention will repay you a hundred times over in the daily enjoyment of one of your finest practical and esthetic possessions. . . .

As the "Queen of Metals," silver has for nearly fifty centuries enjoyed unrivaled favor with all lovers of enduring use wedded to exceptional beauty. And today, whether for service, for adornment, or for both, the range of choice afforded in our collections of modern and antique pieces will accommodate every requirement of investment, occasion or taste.

ARMY OFFICERS WELCOME NEW SPEEDY DIVISION

Command Is Simplified in Streamlined Unit.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.

The decision of the war department to adopt a new type of division which will be completely motorized and which will simplify command is welcomed by army officers. Under the new table of organization the duties of all commanders are made easier, and at the same time efficiency of all units is increased.

To a veteran of the world war the new division presents some apparent anomalies. For instance, there are brigadier generals, but no brigades. Much of army tradition has been discarded in organizing a combat division that is both fast and powerful. New weapons and machines have been adopted and mechanical means have supplied a striking power not even dreamed of twenty years ago.

Efficiency of Division Proved.

Efficiency of the new division has been proved to the army high command by extended maneuvers in Texas this summer. When the maneuvers were completed recently the general staff knew how a modern mobile division should be organized and a table of organization was adopted. Changes in the smaller units will be made as the need arises.

As now conceived, the new division at war strength will contain 546 officers and 10,894 enlisted men. The combat components will be three regiments of infantry and two of field artillery for the actual fighting. These combat units will be supplied and attended by a medical battalion, a quartermaster battalion, an engineer battalion, a signal company, and a company of military police.

The old infantry division contained 21,065 men and 995 officers. Ten thousand men are eliminated in the new division. Infantry regiments are cut from 2,985 men to 2,330; regiments of 75 mm. artillery from 1,622 to 1,316; regiments of 155 mm. artillery from 1,797 to 760; engineer units from 826 to 393; and medical forces from 892 to 429.

24 Light Tanks Eliminated.

Twenty-four light tanks formerly a component of the division commander are eliminated in the new division. Tank units now will be under corps and army control. The division ammunition train is dropped, and big maintenance companies are eliminated. Each regiment or battalion will have its own maintenance section or platoon.

The biggest step toward simplification of division command is the elimination of brigades. Hereafter commanders of infantry and artillery regiments will get their orders from the division commander. However, two brigadier generals, one of infantry and the other of artillery, are retained in the division. These officers are members of the division commander's staff and command troops only by assignment for a special operation. Otherwise their duties are largely as advisers to the division commander, who holds each responsible for the inspection of his arm.

Makeup of Regiment.

The new infantry regiment will consist of a headquarters company, service company and three battalions of combat troops. Headquarters company will include administration, intelligence and antitank platoons, while the service company will handle supply, transportation, and maintenance.

The infantry battalion will consist of three rifle companies of 160 men each and a new heavy weapons company which will have two platoons armed with 30 caliber machine guns, one armed with 50 caliber guns and a fourth with 81 mm. mortars. Each rifle company also will have a platoon of four light machine guns and three 60 mm. mortars.

Simplificatiton of command has been carried all the way down through companies to the squad, the smallest combat unit. Hereafter a rifle squad will consist of twelve men, including a sergeant who is in command. The squad also will have a corporal who will be second in command.

Infantry Company Has 160 Men.

The new infantry company will have six officers and 160 men, 33 less than the old. The company is divided into three rifle platoons of 39 men, each under command of a lieutenant, and there is a headquarters platoon which will include company clerical and service men.

Supply and service units of the new division are organized similarly. The division surgeon, quartermaster, and engineer also are battalion commanders.

The medical battalion consists of a headquarters company and three collection companies. Collection companies are divided into four platoons. One of these is the headquarters platoon, two are stretcher bearer platoons, and one is an ambulance unit to operate ten vehicles.

The quartermaster battalion has a headquarters company of clerical men, chauffeurs, and maintenance men, a service company and a truck company.

4 Companies of Engineers.

Three service companies and a headquarters company make up the engineer battalion. Headquarters company takes care of clerical work, supply and transportation, and each of the three service companies of 105 men each has 90 men available for construction work.

The signal company, the largest company in the division, contains 202 men. Operation of telephones, radios, teletypes, and telegraph instruments requires 95 men, while 72 are required for construction work. Thirty-five men are assigned to administration and supply jobs.

The military police company has 104 men, twelve for company administration and two platoons of 46 men each for police duty.

Reduction of the enlisted strength of a field artillery battery of 75 mm. guns is even greater than the cut in the infantry company. Fifty-two men have been eliminated from the old battery of 148, and hereafter 96 men will be included in a battery.

Guns Pulled by Trucks.

Elimination of horses and mules enables the division to function with thousands less men than formerly. A few trucks will pull the four guns of a field artillery battery and haul the supplies and men. Ninety-six draft horses and 46 riding horses were required for a battery under the previous organization.

Motorization of the infantry division eliminates 6,827 horses and mules. More than 2,500 mules formerly were required to haul supplies, the bulk of which was hay and grain for the stock. Supplying water for the stock also was a major chore. Now thousands of men formerly required in the supply service and for the care of stock are released for combat duty.

When the regular army is expanded to the recently authorized strength of 227,000 men, it will have enough men for approximately 20 divisions. The army will complete its reorganization before modernization of the National Guard troops is attempted. In the meantime, strength of the National Guard will be increased from 200,000 men to 235,000.

SHIP RESCUES CREW OF CANADIAN PLANE FORCED DOWN IN SEA

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 18 [Canadian Press].—The Swedish freighter Pollux tonight took aboard the crew of a Canadian air force flying boat that was forced down today in the Atlantic off Nova Scotia.

Air force officers said the freighter was standing by the disabled plane and that a tug was on its way from Sydney to tow it into port. The plane's position was given as off Sydney.

About half a dozen men were reported to have been aboard the plane, which was on a reconnaissance flight when a broken aileron forced it down.

Last One of 65 Target Cartridges Kills Boy, 15

Sixty-four of the sixty-five cartridges bought by Edward Clemans, 15 years old, 1427 Liberty street, Aurora, were fired safely in target practice. But the sixty-fifth was fired while the revolver was in the hand of Norman Udstad, 14, Edward's playmate. It killed Edward, an inquest decided yesterday. The shooting occurred Saturday.

ITALY LOOKS ON RUMANIA AS SAFE FROM PARTITION

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Sept. 18.—Russia's action in helping herself to a slice of Poland was no surprise to the Italian government, it was asserted in well informed Italian circles here today.

At the same time the opinion was expressed that Germany and Russia will not attempt to carve up Rumania in similar fashion. This belief was held in quarters close to the government. Such a move, it was claimed, would involve the interests of Hungary, Turkey, and Italy, and might upset the entire Balkan applecart which, for the moment, is preserving nervous neutrality while wondering where the lightning is going to strike next.

Italy to Remain Aloof.

At present, it was declared, the Russo-German action does not alter Italy's position of aloofness from the conflict, which will be maintained until something happens that vitally affects Italian interests.

Italian circles do not believe Russia will assist Germany against Britain and France, because the dictators could not agree on any long-term plan for joint operations. The case of Poland is different, they say, because there is plenty of precedent for the partition of Poland and that it was no great task for Germany and Russia to agree to split her again.

It was conceded as possible here that Russia might have taken military action to give Germany a diplomatic lever against Britain and France if Hitler makes a peace proposal after Poland is mopped up.

Believe Deal Planned Earlier.

Regardless of Russia's motives in entering Poland it is firmly believed in informed quarters here that the whole thing was planned before the first shot was fired by Germany.

L'Osservatore Romano, Vatican organ, was the only Italian paper to comment editorially on the Russian invasion. The paper calls the Russians "cowardly liars." Moscow's assertion that it acted because the Polish government no longer existed was called a "lying presupposition necessary to denunciation of pacts." America, the paper says, "finds herself at the 1917 crossroads." Catholics were warned of the "peril that menaces Catholicism in the fate of Poland."

Many soldiers who had been called up were sent home today to harvest grapes and plant wheat.

is using this means to acknowledge and thank the many people who applied to us by letter in response to our ad in last Tuesday's Tribune.

Although we stated in that ad that "All Applications Must Be Made in Person" we wish to express more clearly that this is due to the restrictions we place upon the instruction of this science and the care we use in the acceptance of pupils.

WHOM DO WE TEACH?

Any one of good character from ages 8 to 80. Among our pupils at this time are U. S. government men, doctors, lawyers, presidents of corporations, business executives, law enforcement officers, and others. As an aid to health and self-reliance Jiu-Jitsu is unexcelled. As an eliminator of inferiority complex and as a builder of self-confidence it has a value greater than can be measured by dollars.

A CLOSELY GUARDED SECRET

For centuries this science was held as a jealously guarded secret by the nobility of Japan to demonstrate their physical superiority over their peasantry and the other peoples of the World. At the present time it is not restricted as it was in the past, except as to character.

WHAT IS JIU-JITSU?

It is a science against which neither greater size nor strength counts, an art so powerful as a means of self-defense, so devastating if used as a weapon of attack that only pupils of the highest moral character and mental qualities are accepted for instruction.

JIU-JITSU is part of the official training at Washington, D. C., of the secret agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, United States Department of Justice

Class instruction will be started immediately which will effect a great savings in cost to the pupil. If you are interested in finding out about this interesting and valuable science, see us at once.

SEARCH ORDERED FOR ARMS CARGO ABOARD U. S. SHIP

Vessel One of Seven Tied Up by Sailors' Strike.

New York, Sept. 18 (AP).—Federal authorities today ordered examination of the sailing papers of the strike bound United States liner American Trader to determine whether arms were being shipped aboard the vessel.

Karl Nielsen of the bureau of marine inspection and navigation, investigating 61 seamen on charges of refusing to take a ship out without war bonus, said there was "ample documentary evidence" to show what was in the ship's hatches.

An ordinary seaman, John Masek, testified at a hearing before Nielsen that he saw what he believed was ammunition being loaded on the vessel for transportation to Europe. Nielsen said he would turn the matter over to the federal bureau of investigation if the charges were substantiated.

Captain Denies Knowledge.

Earlier the skipper of the ship, Capt. Harold Milde, testified he knew nothing of the contents of a truck, bearing the legend "Winchester Arms," which Masek said were stowed away in the forward part of the liner.

The American Trader is one of seven American ships held here by striking seamen after they had been scheduled to go abroad to return stranded Americans.

The navigation bureau may suspend the seamen's certificates of the sailors if it finds they acted illegally by refusing to man the vessel after signing ship's articles.

1,892 Passengers Arrive.

Meanwhile the rush to escape Europe's war increased in pace today as two more United States ships brought in 1,892 passengers, most of them Americans.

Carrying several hundred more than capacity, many of whom slept in lounges and the swimming pool, the United States liner Washington arrived with 1,746. Aboard the Washington were Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, wife of the United States ambassador to England, and three of her children; Senator Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.]; Thomas Mann, exiled German author, and Violinist Fritz Kreisler.

The American Shipper of the United States Lines docked with 146 passengers. Thirty-two were crew members of the torpedoed British freighter Blair Logie, rescued from life boats 200 miles off the Irish coast a week ago.

The Dutch liner Nieuw Amsterdam, scheduled to sail from The Netherlands for New York tonight, was held up by a strike.

British Aircraft Carrier Sunk by Sub

WEALTHY WIDOW IS FINED $10,000 AS A SMUGGLER

New York, Sept. 18 [Special].—Mrs. James C. Ayer, 65 years old, socially prominent widow, today was fined $10,000 and given a suspended jail sentence of a year and a day when she pleaded guilty in federal court to a charge of smuggling.

Judge William H. Barrett ordered Mrs. Ayer placed on probation for two years.

It was learned the government informant in the case was a member of Mrs. Ayer's social set to whom Mrs. Ayer had spoken indiscreetly after a dinner party. The informer will receive about $10,000.

Mrs. Ayer was arrested last May when federal agents raided her penthouse apartment and confiscated $14,275 worth of jewels and clothing. The indictment returned against her charged two separate smuggling offenses. Mrs. Ayer was heiress to a $2,000,000 estate left by her husband.

United States Attorney John T. Cahill revealed that a customs inspector and a customs examiner have been suspended as a result of the Ayer case. The government has established, Cahill said, that Mrs. Ayer paid $80 to these men at the pier. Criminal proceedings will be brought against them, Cahill indicated.

CHARLEY FINDS SOME OLD FRIENDS IN FACE ON THE BARROOM WALL

How a man can lose a set of false teeth while drinking a glass of beer is a mystery, but Charles Baker did it several months ago. He has been going around seeking sympathy ever since. For the benefit of those who couldn't quite understand what he was saying, he was complaining that new teef cotht $40.

Inevitably, Baker sought consolation in another glass of beer, and thus he arrived yesterday at the Paddock Inn, 1501 Madison street. Suddenly his eye lighted on a stuffed muskellunge which was eyeing him from a wall plaque. Yes, sir, the fish had a set of false teeth!

"The long arm of thircumthtanth could thretch no farther," said Baker, extracting the teeth from the fish's jaws. Placing them in his mouth, he turned to Dick Walsh, the bartender, and, enunciating every sibilant, said:

"Sir, I am back in the same saloon whence I started."

BEMENT HOG BREEDER DIES.

Bement, Ill., Sept. 18 [Special].—B. L. Burgess, 74 years old, lifelong resident of Bement and a nationally known breeder of hogs, died last night. He had exhibited at state fairs for more than 50 years. Funeral services will be held on Wednesday.

SURVIVORS TELL HOW U-BOAT SANK PLANE CARRIER

ous plus the personnel of the fleet arm—normally 48 planes—was "about 1,200 officers and men. When sunk she had a reduced complement of aircraft and therefore presumably a somewhat smaller crew."

Position is Kept Secret.

Where the Courageous went down was not disclosed. The admiralty said she had been "performing good service in protecting ships of the mercantile marine against U-boat attacks."

This was taken to mean she had been convoying merchantment as well as carrying planes in Britain's attempt to drive enemy submarines and shipping from the seas.

The loss of the Courageous left Great Britain with six other, newer aircraft carriers—The Albatross, Ark Royal, Eagle, Furious, Glorious, and Hermes. Five more are under construction.

The Courageous was commissioned with the reserve fleet in August. She was one of the oldest of Britain's aircraft carriers. She was completed as a cruiser in 1917 and was reconstructed as an aircraft carrier in 1928 at a cost of approximately $10,000,000. She had the high speed of 30 knots.

35 Ships Sunk in War.

The 24th British ship to be sunk by German submarines since the start of the war was reported today with the arrival of survivors of the freighter Bramden at an English port. It brought the total of ships of all nations sunk by submarines, mines, or British cruisers to 35.

The ministry of information asserted today the 9,456 ton motor vessel Inverliffey, sunk Sept. 11 by a German submarine, was sent down after her master had pointed out to the submarine's commander she was flying the flag of neutral Ireland.

The American tanker R. G. Stewart picked up the survivors and transferred them to a steamer bound for Le Havre.

The British Press association said tonight the 10,902 ton Glasgow steamer City of Paris was damaged Saturday night and taken in tow for salvage. The report did not say how the damage was caused. The 138 members of the crew, excepting a seaman who was crushed to death by a lifeboat, got away in boats and were picked up by other ships.

MARION TALLEY WINS RIGHT TO HER CHILD NINE MONTHS A YEAR

New York, Sept. 18 [Special].—Marion Talley, former opera star, today was awarded custody of her daughter, Susan, 4 years old, for nine months of the year. The ruling was handed down by State Supreme Court Justice Alfred Frankenthaler.

The child's father, Adolf G. Eckstrom, voice teacher from whom Mrs. Eckstrom has been estranged almost since birth of the child, will have custody for three months of the year.

The mother petitioned for the custody of the child, charging Eckstrom had demanded $150,000 "for the settlement of matrimonial difficulties" and also possession of the little girl. Eckstrom denied this.

Interned Polish Submarine Flees Estonia Under Fire

TALLINN, Estonia, Sept. 18 [By the Ritzaus Danish News Agency.] (AP).—The Polish submarine Orzel [Eagle] eluded Estonian gunfire today and escaped from Tallinn harbor, on the Gulf of Finland, where it had been interned as a result of the Polish-German war. Estonian shore batteries and warships attempted to halt the submarine.

Second Polish Sub in Sweden.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Sept. 18 (AP).—The Polish submarine Rys, with an exhausted crew of 54 aboard, took refuge in a Swedish harbor today. It had been damaged by German depth bombs.

France Reports Sinking First German Submarine

PARIS, Sept. 18 (AP).—France reported tonight it had sunk her first enemy submarine since war was declared against Germany. A general staff communique reported the attack on the submarine was carried out "with success."

CHARGE AMERICA SEEKS TO BECOME FAR EAST RULER

Jap Paper Predicts New Acts of Pressure.

TOKIO, Sept. 18 (AP).—The newspaper Kokumin, considered pro-army, declared today that "should the United States strengthen her present policy it can be supposed that Japan would be compelled to assert her right to existence."

The front page, semi-editorial article was captioned "Conscience of the American People."

It accused America of intending to become ruler of the old order in east Asia now that Great Britain has become occupied with war in Europe. It foresaw America stiffening "acts of pressure."

Says Army Doesn't Rule.

"Neither Japan nor the United States seeks war," Kokumin said. "We desire to judge the situation cooly, and by submitting to the American people our convictions make last efforts toward peace."

It said the Japanese people are determined to push the campaign in China, but declared Japan no longer is ruled by a military clique, and that it never was a military dictatorship.

Domei, Japanese news agency, reported Japanese and soviet Russian officers had agreed to start negotiations tomorrow on an armistice along the frontier between Outer Mongolia and Manchukuo.

May Settle Other Disputes.

It quoted a Japanese field dispatch saying the agreement was reached after two meetings on a barren plain between the opposing lines.

Soviet tanks and armored cars, it said, appeared openly without firing, and Japanese soldiers emerged from their trenches, in which they had lived in freezing weather.

Compromise at Amoy.

AMOY, China, Sept. 18 (AP).—Settlement by compromise of the four-months-old controversy over the government of Amoy's international settlement was announced today by Japanese authorities.

British, French, and American forces were landed after Japanese bluejackets occupied the settlement which is ruled by the Kulangsu municipal council. French and British forces since have been withdrawn.

The announcement said the compromise provided for the Kulangsu council to control anti-Japanese agitation, to coöperate with Japanese officials in maintaining law and order and appoint one Japanese police inspector now, and ten Formosan police constables, subject to next year's meeting of taxpayers.

Bergdoll at Trial

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Grover Cleveland Bergdoll (right) was dressed in army prison uniform as he left court martial yesterday.

New York, Sept. 18 [Special].—The court martial of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, world war draft dodger, was abruptly adjourned today, until Sept. 27. Harry Weinberger, civil counsel for Bergdoll, pleaded that neither he nor Maj. George A. Hadd, military defense counsel, had had an opportunity to prepare their case. Bergdoll was returned to the military prison, Castle William.

ARGUE MOTIONS TO KILL SUIT FOR AIRPORT RIGHTS

Oral arguments on four motions to dismiss the city's and the Chicago & Western Indiana railroad's suit to condemn a new right of way and thus make possible the enlargement of Chicago airport were begun yesterday before Judge Denis J. Normoyle. Joseph F. Grossman, first assistant corporation counsel, presented the city's objections and will continue his statements today.

The motions for dismissal were filed in behalf of the 290 owners of the ninety-one parcels of property that the new right of way will cross. Judge Normoyle said the motions must be passed upon before the trial of the condemnation suit can begin. Each motion was based upon technical contentions that the city does not have the right to begin the proceedings. A ruling by Judge Normoyle is expected within the next few days.

Slayer of Her Lover Flees Prison at Detroit, Mich.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 18 (AP).—Mrs. Betty Baker, 31 years old, serving life for killing her lover, Clarence Schneider, in 1936, was missing from the house of correction tonight. Mrs. Baker had become known as a "model prisoner." Schneider, friend of Mrs. Baker's policeman-husband, was shot to death June 29, 1936, on a road near Ann Arbor. Mrs. Baker was convicted in January, 1937.

TWO HOMES LOOTED.

Burglars yesterday took $268 from the homes of John Oland, 5 North Lavergne avenue, and Mrs. Carmella Sarno, 704 South Sacramento oboulevard.

DID YOU NOTICE?

These Items Weren't Headlined in Recent War News

The rush of Polish airplanes to the small airport of Cernauti, Rumania, was so great that an aerial trafic jam resulted. One plane landed on top of three others and all four were wrecked.

At the request of foreign oil companies, Jugo-Slavia postponed a proposed curb on the use of gasoline.

The Germans captured 100 undamaged Polish airplanes at Deblin, 70 miles southeast of Warsaw on the Vistula river.

The German national defense council charged that citizens were not taking air raid blackouts seriously enough. Heavier fines and heavier prison sentences were ordered for violations of the air raid precautions laws.

Each time the Poles shifted the location of their general headquarters the place either was bombed immediately or the Germans warned the Poles by radio that they knew its exact location, obviously from reports of spies.

HUSBAND SUED FOR 1½ MILLION COIN COLLECTION

Wife of H. L. Brand Seeks Treasures.

A collection of rare coins with a value of $1,500,000 during the days when monetary systems were on the gold standard became an issue in a court battle yesterday between Mrs. Erna M. Brand, 48 years old, of 37 East Cedar street, and her husband, Horace L. Brand, 71.

Mrs. Erna Brand.

Brand, former editor of the defunct Staats Zeitung, a German language newspaper, filed suit for divorce last July 17, charging cruelty. The couple was married in 1924 in New Orleans, La.

Mrs. Brand filed a crossbill yesterday in Superior court. She asked separate maintenance, provision for the support of her two sons, Philip and Horace Jr., and possession of the coin collection. She charged that Brand deserted her last June.

Brand, who lives at the Evanshire hotel, 860 Hinman avenue, Evanston, acquired possession of half of a coin collection valued at $3,000,000 two years ago after a court battle with his brother, Armin W. Brand, 62 years old, of the Lake Shore Drive hotel. The remainder of the collection was given to Armin.

Mrs. Brand's counterclaim said that her husband gave the collection to her, but later took it back and deposited it as guaranty for an appeal bond in some litigation to which he was party. Mrs. Brand's lawyer, Robert H. Cantwell Jr., appeared before Judge John F. Bolton yesterday and asked that she be declared the owner of the collection.

William Gemmill, counsel for Brand, demanded that Mrs. Brand turn over an expert's inventory of the collection, asserting that her claim would be fought.

HUSBAND RINGS DOWN CURTAIN ON MARRIAGE; WIFE GRANTED DIVORCE

Harvard and Princeton once severed football relations because a Harvard fullback emerged from a game bearing the imprint of a Princeton tackle's signet ring on his nose. Mrs. Marie Fellichio, 712 Grenshaw street, and her husband, Botty, severed marital relations yesterday for similar reasons.

Judge John Bolton granted Mrs Fellichio a divorce and custody of her son Botty Jr., 6 years old, after she testified under examination of her lawyer, Harry X. Cole, that her husband struck her while he was wearing a monogram ring, which permanently branded her shoulder.

R. R. OBENCHAIN, ONCE CALLED MAN IN A MILLION, ILL

Ralph R. Obenchain, who almost two decades ago was known as "the man in a million" because of his defense of his divorced wife in a murder trial, was reported seriously ill last night in the Evanston hospital. He has been ill several months.

He is a practicing lawyer in Evanston and lives at 1523 Colfax avenue in the suburb.

Obenchain won his nickname in 1922 when he went to Los Angeles to help his ex-wife, Madalynne, who had divorced him, and was charged with the murder of J. Belton Kennedy. Accused with her was Arthur Burch. Both went to trial three times, with Madalynne winning acquittal after two jury disagreements. Burch was freed after three jury disagreements. Obenchain remarried in 1924.

if you're entitled to a
LOWEST COST LOAN

Personal Finance Co. offers a Special Loan Plan with reductions up to ½ the lawful maximum charge, in addition to its regular loan service.

SEE
IF YOU BORROW
$100
YOU GET CASH
$100
YOU REPAY
$109.75
in 12 monthly installments.
Total cost for a year, $9.75
NO EXTRA CHARGES!

As America's Largest Loan Company, PERSONAL has served millions of families in all walks of life. Years of experience have shown the need for two types of loans, in order to meet the requirements of everyone. So now, PERSONAL adds to its regular service a new "Special" Loan plan with savings up to one-half of maximum lawful charge. No longer need the person of higher credit rating pay the regular, accepted rate! At the same time, persons without established credit or employment ratings can get a "Regular" loan to suit their budget, under our regular loan plan.

"SPECIAL" LOANS
Under this plan responsible persons of established credit standing save up to half the maximum lawful rate on loans of $20 to $300.
To obtain a loan under this plan you need:
1. Steady income or salary sufficient to meet payments promptly without undue strain.
2. A good credit record.
You get any amount up to $300 at Personal's new low rate of only 1½% per month on the actual balance owed each month.

YOU GET CASH	20 AVERAGE MONTHLY REPAYMENTS
$ 20	$ 1.16
50	2.89
100	5.79
200	11.58
300	17.36

"REGULAR" LOANS
People in all stations of life may borrow up to $300 under this plan. The ability to repay in small monthly amounts is necessary.
This plan meets the needs of:
1. Persons who wish to carry a loan larger than 8 to 12% of annual salary or income.
2. Persons without established credit and employment ratings.
You get the first $100 at 3% per month on the actual balance owed each month and 2% per month on the remainder above $100. This is less than the maximum lawful rate on loans above $100.
Payments under our "Regular" Loan plan:

YOU GET CASH	20 AVERAGE MONTHLY REPAYMENTS
$ 20	$ 1.32
50	3.29
100	6.58
200	12.88
300	19.01

NO STOCKS OR BONDS!
NO DELAYS!
NO LIFE INSURANCE!
NO FEES!
NO FINES!
NO EMBARRASSMENT!

The monthly payments shown above include principal and interest—everything. They are based on prompt payments and are all you have to pay—no extras. Earlier payments reduce the cost even more. Loans are available on either plan with or without security;—on your personal note alone, or on auto or furniture. Co-maker loans may be obtained on our "Regular" Plan. NO wage or salary assignments taken on any loan. For loans of other amounts or other periods of time, come in, 'phone or write the Manager of the nearest Personal office.

MESSAGE SEALS FATE OF CHICAGO OCEAN AVIATOR

Crashed in Midsea, Says Note Washed Ashore.

Charles Backman.

Charles Backman of Chicago hopped off from Newfoundland last May 16 on a 2,300 mile airplane flight across the Atlantic ocean to his native Sweden. He never arrived.

Yesterday a grimy bottle washed ashore on the Swedish coast, indicating the tragic fate which befell Backman. In the bottle, according to word received last night by Backman's brothers, was a message which said:

Sealed Tightly in Bottle.

The message was written in block letters and sealed tightly in the bottle. The bottle was found by a customs officer at the Swedish-Norwegian border.

The flyer's brothers, Gust and Andrew Beck, with whom he lived at 4943 Kenmore avenue, said that if the note was authentic it seemingly settled his fate. The three brothers were in the painting and decorating business. Gust and Andrew changed their name from Backman to Beck several years ago.

The Beck brothers revealed that another message had been found in a bottle on the shore near Hyannis, Mass., a week after Backman's takeoff. The finder, A. N. Tellier, of Belmont, Mass., sent the message to the Becks.

The writing on this note was indistinct, but the words "wind, storm, and motor trouble," and "down" were deciphered. The words "please send help" also were made out. Although the note was not signed, a line reading "Flying U. S. to Sweden" indicated it was from Backman.

Expert Examines Message.

The message was turned over to a Chicago handwriting expert, who reported that the handwriting resembled Backman's. The expert said he was unable to make certain, however, because the writing was so faint and blurred.

Backman was 34 years old. His hobby was flying, inspired by early friendship with Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. The plane on which he left for Sweden was a 90 horsepower single motored monoplane. It had no radio.

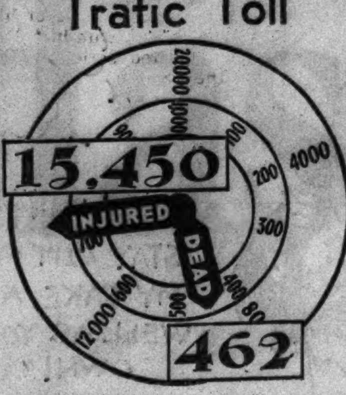
One of those most broken by Backman's ill fated flight was his sweetheart, Miss Letitia Lentz, 23, of 6557 North Seeley avenue. She was informed last night of the message washed ashore in Sweden and asked whether she believed that it meant the end of hope for the flyer.

She did not answer.

Circuit Judges Name LaBuy Head of Court Law Division

Circuit Court judges yesterday appointed Judge Walter J. La Buy head of the court's law division and a member of the court's executive committee to succeed Judge John R. Caverly, who died Aug. 4.

THE MASSACRE Chicago's 1939 Trafic Toll



More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

KILLED BY AUTO WHILE ON HIS WAY TO CHURCH

Victim Stepped Into Path, Says Driver.

Louis DeLoose, 76 years old, 3642 North Hamilton avenue, a retired salesman, was killed when an automobile struck him as he was walking to church yesterday in Grace street near Leavitt street. The driver was Peter Arkin, 3041 George street. He told police DeLoose stepped in front of his car.

Harry Bronson, 16, of 11135 Whipple street, was killed last night when he was thrown off the running board of an auto driven by John Alsterda, 18, of 11448 Central Park avenue, his fellow student at Tilden High school. Alsterda's car struck a park district truck driven by William Rinehart, 736 Lorel avenue, in front of 5421 Morgan street.

Killed by Fall off Truck.

Joseph Mugnaini, 26, of 818 North Central Park avenue, was injured fatally yesterday morning when he fell from a truck on which he was a helper. He died last night in Walther Memorial hospital. Ernest Tolli, 2737 Congress street, was the truck driver.

Mrs. Alma Zierke, 54, wife of Herman A. Zierke, a member of the South Elgin village board, died in St. Joseph's hospital, Elgin, of injuries suffered last Wednesday when a car in which she was riding, driven by Mrs. George Hemmer, South Elgin, plunged over an embankment.

A coroner's jury recommended yesterday that Michael Halick, 26, 1354 North Maplewood avenue, be held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of John Angelo, 51, of 5915 Grand avenue, who was struck by Halick's car Sunday at Menard and Grand avenues.

Dies of Auto Injuries.

An unidentified colored man, about 35 years old, died in Provident hospital of injuries suffered Sunday night when he was struck by a car at 5200 South Park way.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 595 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 462 were killed in Chicago, where 15,450 were injured in the same period.

TRUCKER JAILED AFTER OFFER TO PAY IRKS JUDGE

Victor Graffe, 33 years old, 414 West 65th street, yesterday was sentenced to ten days in the county jail for leaving the scene of an accident. Witnesses in Safety court testified that his truck sidewiped a parked car in front of 5942 Morgan street last Saturday. He was captured after a four block chase during which he ignored a trafic light.

"O, well," Graffe told Judge Francis Borrelli, "I'll pay the damages. That's all the court wants anyway."

"Damages!" snapped the judge. "If that's your idea you had better quit driving an automobile. Wake up to your responsibilities. Lives are at stake."

Joseph Kane, 26 years old, 3021 Arthington street, was sentenced to thirty days in jail for driving while intoxicated. It was his second appearance in Safety court in three days. He was freed of a charge of leaving the scene of an accident on Friday when the complaining witness did not appear.

Mrs. Donald Eaton Wins Divorce; Charges Cruelty

Judge Ralph J. Dady of the Lake county Circuit court at Waukegan granted a divorce yesterday to Mrs. Kathryn Lee Eaton, stepdaughter of the late Robert M. Lee, from Donald J. Eaton, stepson of Dr. John L. Taylor, coroner of Lake county. Mrs. Eaton charged cruelty. The couple were married last Jan. 1 and separated on Aug. 13. Mrs. Eaton is living with her mother at 830 North Waukegan road, Lake Forest.

THE SPREADING WAR.

Are we to expect now an ultimatum from Japan to Great Britain to take its troops out of China and relinquish its territorial holdings, including Hongkong? Will a similar ultimatum go to France? Is Japan, freed by the agreement with Russia for the conquest of China, ready at last to throw the European holding powers out of China? If so, what about our military hostages there?

Japan expelled the Germans in 1914, taking immediate advantage of the war in Europe. The Japanese have evidently recovered from the shock they had when the holy war against communism was liquidated by the treaty between Stalin and Hitler. At the time they were dazed. The Moscow-Berlin axis seemed to be the incredible dropping out of the sky, but the new government of Gen. Abe has made the best of changed conditions. If the Nazis can turn doctrinal somersaults, so can the Japanese.

It is reported from Tokio that the war in China, which has been bogged down in activity for some time, is to be renewed with vigor in the hope of overcoming Chiang Kai-shek and driving him out of the country. The opportunity of driving out the British and French was never better. It should astonish no one if Japan enters the war for that purpose. The only deterrent would be the thought of an ultimate reckoning if there should be a victorious Britain and France.

A significant note of last week was contributed by Gandhi in India, who suggested to Mr. Chamberlain that now would be a fitting time for him to apply to India the principles which he declared were the underlying causes of Britain's war on Hitler. Later there was speculation as to Russia's purposes regarding India. Was it about to move into Afghanistan and try to incite a revolt in the Indian states?

Stalin as the master diabolist of modern times has enhanced his reputation in the last three weeks by the rapid work of his genius for treachery and betrayal. His foreign commissar Molotov has enriched the language of statesmanship by explaining that the Red army goes into Poland to preserve the Ukrainians and White Russians by displaying its combative might and by distinguishing itself with new feats of heroism and glory. The peace of the rescued people is to be preserved by the force of an army directed against them. This is a minor hypocrisy in the great war of falsified causes.

It may be too much to hope that there is still a chance that a long view of Europe's future could still prevail. People looking back over events since Sept. 1 may think that it would have been better if Mr. Chamberlain could have had a more restrained statement of British aims when he explained to parliament why Britain was going to war. He probably was of the opinion that the people must be presented with the largest justifications for sacrifices at the very beginning. It might have been better at the time to have rested upon treaty obligations and pledges of good faith rather than to have declared the ultimatum at the outset.

A declaration that Hitler must be destroyed confronted the British with a Carthaginian war of the greatest destructiveness. It may have been thought necessary to close the door of peace, not to be opened until Europe had been knocked to pieces, but this may be regretted later. The treachery of Stalin has mightily changed the situation, even as it existed when Mr. Chamberlain received the bombshell of the Nazi-Red combination. Even that did not carry the realization that the Reds would actually attack the Poles. Now the eastern front is full of unpredictable dangers for France and Great Britain. Russia is the new factor in the war. Japan may soon be another and Italy's watchful waiting may come to a decision, picking what it regards as the more numerous and heaviest battalions and the largest rewards.

CARELESSNESS, OR WORSE.

The prisoners who poisoned a number of guards at Stateville penitentiary in an attempt to escape used a powerful sedative, hyoscine. Physicians prescribe it in very small quantities, the normal dose being a hundred and fiftieth of a grain. The convicts had a hundred grains of the drug.

The story of the prison authorities is that they built up their supply by obtaining small quantities as medicine over a long period. Mathematically the story is absurd. The quantity of the drug they obtained would make 15,000 normal doses. In addition, it is not explained how the plotters got this particular drug. Are convicts permitted to prescribe for their own ailments?

Willard Terry, who recently was discharged from the Elgin asylum for the insane, entered an office in St. Charles and stabbed a young woman. He was committed to the asylum in March when he had choked the same young woman, at the time a fellow employé, because she refused to keep company with him.

He was paroled from Elgin in June and promptly renewed his attentions to her. His actions were reported to the hospital authorities by local officials. Terry visited the hospital twice thereafter for examination and was eventually discharged as cured. No action was taken on the warnings regarding his conduct, the hospital officials say, because some clerk mislaid the warning.

The St. Charles incident may be laid to carelessness, although such carelessness in handling an insane man of known violent tendencies approaches the criminal. The Joliet incident is worse. The explanation of it, as given, does not hold water. Either the convicts obtained their drugs in wholesale quantity inside the prison or had them smuggled in to them. Either action implies criminal connivance by some member of the prison staff.

Both incidents illustrate what happens to efficient administration when politics and crime are close allies, as they are in the Illinois state institutions.

THE MILK PRICE IS 12 CENTS, NOT 9, MR. ARNOLD.

Thurman Arnold, chief of the department of justice anti-trust division, made a speech the other day when the skyrocketing of prices was still in progress in the speculative commodity markets.

There was, he assured his listeners, no justification for the upswing in prices. Public hysteria started the movement, he said, and organizations took advantage of it. Mr. Arnold ought to say what organizations he has in mind. It isn't the steel manufacturers, for they have announced that despite advances in the cost to them of steel scrap and other materials, which are used in making steel, the prices will not be raised for the rest of the year. The automobile companies have brought out the 1940 lines of cars without raising the prices, despite the higher prices for some of the materials. Leaders in the chemical industries say they do not expect to increase prices this year. The leading paper producer has announced the continuation of the present price for the next six months. In the rayon industry no price boosts are in contemplation.

There have been increases in costs of farm products and in articles made from farm products. If Mr. Arnold is thinking of them when he charges that the price increase has been unjustifiable, it would be well for him and Mr. Wallace to get together.

Arnold said that legal action is the way to get results in thwarting advancing prices, but that to get results it is necessary to attack simultaneously all the restraints which affect distribution of a product from the manufacturer to the consumer. "For example," he said, "simultaneous prosecution of farm organizations, labor organizations, large milk distributors and municipal health agencies in Chicago brought about a startling price drop to the consumer of 25 per cent."

Mr. Arnold has a very poor memory about what happened to the price of Chicago milk. On November 14, 1938, he obtained indictments of the various groups mentioned by him connected with the milk business. At that time milk was selling in Chicago to the consumers at 12 cents a quart. If his indictments had effected a reduction of 25 per cent, he must have brought down the price to 9 cents. But milk continued to sell for 12 cents from November, 1938, until May 12, 1939, when in an attempt to relieve pressure on the butter market the milk distributors reduced the price to 11 cents. When Mr. Wallace became the dictator of the Chicago milk business last month, as a result of the vote of the milk producers, the 12 cent price was restored. Thus, not only did Mr. Arnold fail to give Chicago 9 cent milk by his prosecution of the farm organizations and all the others, but when the government control of the milk business came into effect, 12 cents was established as the proper price.

One wonders that Mr. Arnold was not a little bit embarrassed to say anything about the Chicago milk cases, because the federal court threw out his indictments, holding that regulation of the milk was the concern of the department of agriculture and none of Arnold's business.

Editorials of the Day

COST OF DISTRIBUTION.

[St. Paul Dispatch.]

Every one is familiar with criticisms of a distribution system under which the housewife pays 4 cents a pound for cabbages for which the farmer got less than a cent a pound, 32 cents a dozen for oranges that brought the growers less than 9 cents, and so on.

The Twentieth Century Fund has made an exhaustive analysis of the American distribution system, and finds that it costs, on the average, considerably more to distribute goods than to make them. In 1929, American households paid nearly 66 billion dollars for finished goods, of which 27 billions was their cost of production and 39 billions their cost of distribution.

The research experts also found that the costs of distribution are for service rendered. These costs are heavy because we live in a highly complex civilization, and they mainly go to wages and salaries of people who perform essential tasks in getting products from producer to consumer. The only way by which the costs of distribution can be appreciably lowered is by cutting out some of the services which Americans demand and find necessary to their standard of living. For example, the answer to the cost spreads of cabbage and most other such foods is that they are bulky and perishable and usually must be transported long distances from the areas where they are grown.

Findings about the wholesale trade are interesting, because of certain theories that large savings could be made by eliminating the "middleman." The findings are that wholesaling costs are a very minor part of the costs of distribution, and that if wholesalers did not exist some one else would have to perform their function.

PREACHERS AND WAR.

[Detroit News.]

The majority of Detroit preachers avoided enkindling the war spirit by their sermons Sunday. This attitude, contrasting with much of the pulpit practice during the world war, deserves the approval of all church supporters.

"Deliberately and significantly, many preachers avoided even the mention of the war in their sermons," reported the church editor of the News. Occupants of the pews no doubt were grateful.

Day in and day out, Mr. Average Citizen is subjected to terrific mental and nervous strain. In his business he looks to the future with anxiety. In his contacts with his fellows he exchanges conversational doubts and fears. Even when he seeks the refuge of his home, he is surrounded by his nervous family wanting reassurance from him.

Comes Sunday, the day of rest. What does he want if he goes to church? Certainly not an elaboration of doubts and fears from the pulpit.

In times like these the ministry of the gospel performs an inestimable service if it can bring to this distraught world even a brief surcease from turmoil. If it can give even to a few a renewed confidence in a world to be made right because God is in his Heaven, it deserves and will receive general approval.

A FRIEND RETURNS.

How like the sunlight's warm and cheerful ray,
This dreary winter noon, your coming was!
The door knob turned, a silence and a pause,
Then recognition of one long away.
Your hearty voice, your wholesome friendliness
The surge of happiness we knew of old
Returned with you the inclement day to bless.
How good to clasp your hand and see your smiles!
To know you well and happily the same
As when you left, and friendship's glowing flame
Undimmed by time and intervening miles.
Then hunger vanished from the lonely mind—
You are the same, wholehearted, true and kind.

Eugene Field Was Sharp, and Also Frequently Flat.

Newspaper life in the nineties was the theme of conversation among some old cronies at the Key club, and one of them told this story about Eugene Field:

He had accepted a job in Denver at an increase of $5 a week, and went to his favorite chophouse to break the news to his friends. He asked the proprietor how much he owed, and discovered that his unpaid checks amounted to more than $20.

"I'll give you $5 now," said the "Sharps and Flats" columnist, "and send you $5 a week from Denver until it's cleared up."

The chophouse boss thought it over, and then tore up the checks, saying:

"Gene, you don't owe me a cent."

There was a general pause in the talk at this sentimental gesture. Field broke the silence with:

"Well, what are we waiting for? Isn't it customary for the house to buy a drink when a man pays his bill?" Herb Pickard.

NORTH SIDE—"It's gorgeous to be just 23," says one tavern dame. "Don't you think it's the most significant year in a girl's life?"

"Should be in yours, dearie," the other snaps back. "You've been 23 for ten years." Pitchford.

TO A CHINESE RUG.

I saw them weaving thee,
And they received for fee
(Those six busy Chinese)
A dozen small cash apiece.
To them thou wert a chore;
To me thou art worth more.
Far away, back of thee,
My mind's eye can see
Countless centuries spent,
Learning how the pattern went.
So it passed, one by one,
From father unto his son,
Until those diligent six
Held the weaving sticks.
Although I paid for thee,
Thou dost not belong to me.
While I have thee on my floor,
Those six have something more.
While thy pattern with me lingers,
Thy essence dwells in yellow fingers.

G. Vivian Rossi.

"What D' Y' Know, Steve?"

I am at loggerheads with myself, for I am unable to cope with the problem of what to say when I receive the salutation, "What d' ya' know"?

I am a veritable demon at making retorts to other questions of that ilk. When some one says, "Hello, Steve. What d' ya' say"? I always smile and answer, "Words!" When they say, "Hi, Steve. How're ya' goin'?" I invariably reply, "Crazy!" To "How's the kid?" I reply, "Haven't got any."

In view of this you can see my dismay at having no comeback for "What d' ya' know"? I have thought of saying, "More than you!" but that attitude never gets you any place. I might retort, "Not much," but that's too weak. Indeed, I am worried. Stephen Allen.

One Word of Comfort.

While riding home on the train, reading the martial headlines and lies of dictators and loathing it all, it seemed impossible to express the disgust that filled my thoughts. I looked out of the window and there it was in faded paint—the one word, slapped all over the side of a warehouse. The sign started with something about a fig and date company, and underneath in ten foot letters for all the world to see, probably painted long before Hitler and Stalin, was the solitary and satisfactory word, "NUTS." BE YOUR AGE AND LIKE IT.

THE other day one of my 60 year old friends remarked, "I am as fit as I was thirty years ago." Outwardly he appears to be in excellent health and, so far as I know, every organ is clicking normally. He possesses excellent judgment and every acquaintance regards him highly.

But this assertion of his is about as wrong as wrong can be. Because he has been successful in business, enjoys the respect of the community, and still has a few young ideas he assumes that his physical machine has not deteriorated an iota.

The chances are that he is about 50 per cent as good as he was—shall we say—at 30 years of age. In other words, measuring the output of his heart with its reserve and his ability to utilize oxygen via the breathing apparatus would give us approximately this figure. We may as well admit that the drop in stamina begins certainly by the thirtieth year—possibly before. With the nonexercisers and those who eat too much the downward curve is rapid. Even though they become septuagenarians, more and more do they become sitters, and after every illness—even a cold—they take a little longer for a comeback.

By the time the retirement stage arrives [between the sixth and seventh decade] the decrease in vigor of the several departments of the body—muscular, excretory, circulatory, etc. — should not be greater than 50 per cent. This is on the assumption that one has paid reasonable attention to the simple rules of hygiene and has not suffered a devastating sickness. There is no more striking proof of this rule than that one individual may be old at 40; another, relatively young at 60.

Tests on several large groups of normal persons between [1] 18 and 34, [2] 35 and 49, and [3] 50 and 80 included a determination of blood pressure, breath holding after exercise, pulse rate, and capacity of the lungs. Results were striking. Not only was there a gradual and anticipated rise in pressure readings, but the response of the body to effort was delayed. On the average, function was reduced a third or more with those in the higher brackets.

But this does not mean that the world does not need these elderly persons. More than ever should we make every effort to conserve their knowledge and wisdom. The lesson which these data afford may be summed up in the dictum, "Be your age and like it." A generous proportion of our cases of cardiac failure arise because men, particularly in the late fifties or early sixties, attempt to keep up with youthful companions. In consequence, a load is placed upon the heart muscle which is quite too strenuous. The fibers cannot respond. If we will but recall that structural changes are going on constantly within our bodies and gauge our lives accordingly, all will go well.

A common cause of trouble is of one's own making. Even physicians may not take unto themselves the rules of conduct which they lay down for their patients. A colleague—a brilliant chap with a national reputation for diagnostic acumen—declined to slow down or retard his vacation activities. An ardent mountain climber, season after season he insisted upon performing spectacular feats, reveling in the admiration of his fellow members of the Alpine club. Three years ago, when he was 62, he returned with a dilated heart, from which he did not recover. A few months of bed rest helped appreciably, but he was through and he knew it. Prior to his passing he remarked on many occasions, "What a fool I was not to admit that I was growing riper—hence softer."

The integrity of all of our cells depends upon freedom from disease, a respect for their delicacy, and an unwillingness to overstrain them. On the whole, spare eaters not only feel better, but they possess greater endurance. Their longevity exceeds that of valiant trenchermen.

Young manhood and womanhood is a time of training and the exhibition of great industry. Middle life should bring some rewards, with augmented happiness. But the fifteen to twenty years of maturity should be far more fruitful.

SINGING LESSONS.

Mrs. M. P. writes: Our 10 year old daughter is taking singing lessons. Five years ago she had bronchopneumonia and recent X-ray pictures show small spots on her lungs. Is singing injurious to her lungs?

REPLY.

That depends on what you mean by "spots." If you refer to an active tuberculosis then absolute bed rest is necessary. Singing lessons would not jeopardize a healed tuberculosis or scarring due to some other cause.

MAY BE GALL BLADDER.

L. S. writes: I am troubled with acid indigestion and during a spell I am often aware of a pain in the location of the kidneys. It is not severe and lasts for only a second or two. I have never had any symptoms of kidney infection but am wondering if I could have this trouble?

REPLY.

Your symptoms do not suggest any form of kidney disorder. There may be some trouble, however, with the gall bladder. A checkup by your physician is advised.

REMAPPING EUROPE'S FACE.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 15.—Lest we forget! In 1919 Woodrow Wilson—savior-to-be of democracy—embarked for France and the peace table, accompanied by a group of American professors, who, upon landing, at once set about to remap the face of Europe.

Under the benign guidance of Col. House, Lloyd George, and other hard-boiled allied diplomats, the professors brought forth a wonderful design in the unctuous name of "self-determination."

The sequel: Austria, weakened by the loss of Hungary, fell an easy prey to Hitler, to be followed by Bohemia and now by Poland and another European war.

Hence, is it any too soon now to ask that we Americans kindly refrain from sitting in at the coming peace conference, no matter how pronounced may be the urge of Roosevelt to shine in the international limelight as another savior of democracy, nor no matter how much it may affect his third term candidacy or conceal the devastating blunders of his two term administration?

We ask you! C. B. D.

THE WORD "PROPAGANDA."

Chicago, Sept. 12.—A word that is being abused past endurance is propaganda. It is not of modern origin, as is frequently implied, but dates back to the middle ages.

During a conclave of church dignitaries in Ravenna, ways and means were sought to find the best method of winning new adherents to the Christian faith. This meeting was called a "congregatio de propaganda fide" for the spreading of the faith. The Roman church was definitly aware of the fact that a spiritual propaganda was necessary to carry through an idea; a conception now so effectively used in modern warfare. LI LESS.

DEAF BUT NOT DUMB.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—In Wednesday's paper you mention a "deaf and dumb" traffic victim. This unfortunate person is not dumb. He is a deaf mute. It is likely this person is much more intelligent than many who speak and hear.

For many years we have worked among deaf mutes and they do resent the word dumb. A. M. CROSS.

SENTIMENT OF 98 PER CENT.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—Let's you and I, Mr. and Mrs. Chicagoan, start a move here which will be followed in other cities throughout the land—a move that will keep us out of this "world war," a war which 98 per cent of our people are opposed to. Are you with me, Chicago? F. W. ERNST.

TRAFIC IN LIVES AND BLOOD.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—The trafic in munitions and ammunition is a sure way of getting into a war and amounts to a trafic in lives and blood of the people. We learned that during the world war although we have received no payment for war material furnished. F. G. JEROME.

ASKS WHY?

Chicago, Sept. 17.—Why should the neutrality act be repealed? To kill other mothers' sons? To prolong the war? To bring the war to our shores? J. M. P.

LET CONGRESSMEN KNOW.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—If the American public would take time to get the names of their senators and representatives, where they can be addressed in Washington, and write to them expressing their opinion about tampering with the present neutrality act, loaning money to nations at war, and [most important] the United States keeping out of the present or any future European wars, the war monger element in Washington would eventually migrate back to those European countries where war is relished. This suggestion is true Americanism. MRS. L. O. BROWN.

Chicago, Sept 16.—Every American—man, woman, and child—should send a postal card which costs one cent to Senator Borah or their senator asking for his vote against repeal of the arms embargo act.

What extra money may be made by repeal of the act will never pay for all we will suffer and lose during and after the war. We have never recovered from the last one. P. METCALFE.

"SUICIDE" TO GO IN.

Chicago, Sept. 15. — The Scandinavian countries stay neutral until their lands are invaded. None of them cares to go to war in another man's land for win or lose. America is safe as long as it stays at home and defends its own coasts and country, but taking sides or rather being gently forced to help one side against the other is suicide and will wreck America. I. O. R.

FINLAND BELONGS THERE.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—It is interesting to note from your cartoon in today's TRIBUNE, that so many foreign nations still find it possible to remain neutral, but did you forget about Finland? MRS. A. HARDT.

WHAT WILL THE LEGION SAY?

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Congress has been called to convene in extra session on Sept. 21, instead of Oct. 2, as originally planned, for the express purpose of revising existing neutrality laws.

I wonder if this surprise move has any significance in that the American Legion national convention meets here the following Monday.

The Legion will undoubtedly have something to say about the matter of neutrality and the war makers in Washington have anticipated it. PERCY B. MARSHALL, Ex-A. E. F.

BORAH VOICES AMERICA.

Chicago, Sept. 15. — Senator Borah's neutrality speech voices the desire of millions of Americans who know that the great statesman has the fundamental principles of Americanism in his heart. We should, we must keep out of periodic European conflicts; we must not sacrifice ourselves maintaining the empires of others. S. H.

PEOPLE MUST BE VOCAL.

Chicago, Sept. 16. — There is every reason to believe the American people do not wish to die in defense of the British and French empires. Ours is still a representative government and if the people will make their wishes known to their duly elected representatives their desires will be reflected in the voting in congress. CITIZEN SOLDIER.

A QUESTION FROM CANADA.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 14.—Do you really think the U. S. A. can afford to keep out of the coming struggle? Did you ever stop to think what would happen to your country if England and France went under? What in the world are you big shots thinking about? Wake up. X. Y. Z.

Will the government take over property before notes signed by the person on pension and owning the property are paid? I hold a note in such a case and heard that I would be the loser. J. B.

The accumulated pension payments are charged against any estate left by the deceased and, in general, debts owing to the state of Illinois are entitled to priority over ordinary debts.

BUILDING EXITS.

Chicago, Sept. 12 [Friend of the People].—The tenement building at 6911-6913 of our street is without exits for the four rear flats. It is an old stove heated structure, closely hemmed in. Does not the law require rear as well as front exits? S. A.

I have caused an investigation to be made of this complaint and have notified the owner to make alterations and to do all necessary work so as to bring the said premises into compliance with the requirements for exits in the city ordinance. Failure to comply with our notice within the time allotted will result in the city proceeding as the law directs. RICHARD E. SCHMIDT.

THE WORLD WAR 25 YEARS AGO

[From Tribune Files.]

The 18th Day, Aug. 14, 1914.

BRUSSELS — The Liege forts, manned by 3,000 Belgians sworn to die before they capitulate, continue to hold up the advance of more than a quarter of a million German soldiers, the government asserts. The German movement on Diest has been resumed after repulses. There is a German concentration in front of Namur, with Brussels as the focus of the two armies. There is a report that Gen. von Emmich has killed himself in despair over his defeats.

TOKIO — American agents report that a declaration of war by Japan against Germany may be expected within twenty-four hours.

PARIS — The allied governments have protested to Turkey against alleged breaches of its obligations as a neutral power.

LONDON—Lord Kitchener predicted that the war would last a year and a half.

WASHINGTON — The departments of justice, commerce, and agriculture opened a three way attack to break the high price combine.

Classroom in the Sky

THESE ARE the boys and girls of Albuquerque coming from their first flight—enthusiastic youngsters leaving their flying classroom. They and their parents can tell you about TWA and flying.

They have been students in the TWA National Air Youth Project, designed to answer Young America's thirst for knowledge of aviation.

After schooling them for a week in elementary aeronautics, TWA took 1,744 Albuquerque high school students and 80 teachers for educational flights in a regular TWA Skyliner.

Equipped with earphones, each of these young people and their teachers followed the efficient, split-second procedure of the TWA pilots, radio men and technicians during the flights. A TWA instructor explained every phase of the flight in detail. It was literally a classroom in the sky!

This TWA project—the first of its kind in the United States—met with immediate success. From these Albuquerque youngsters, their parents and teachers, we received many letters of appreciation—honest letters that give a true answer to the question, "What's it like to fly?"

One boy says, "It was even smoother than our family car." A girl writes, "We were up 7,000 feet, flying 180 miles an hour—yet I felt no sensation of height or speed."

Parents were enthusiastic. Practically all of them now want to fly. They learned about air travel from their own children.

The mothers and fathers of Albuquerque trust their sons and daughters to fly with TWA. And that trust is not misplaced: because TWA is run by men who are flyers themselves.

If you've wondered what flying's like, find out now. Go TWA! You'll enjoy the world's finest travel—plus the security that comes from knowing TWA is The Airline Run by Flyers. Every top operating executive is a licensed transport pilot!

These "flying executives" have built a TWA tradition of service that is reflected in TWA's extra comforts aloft... the delicious meals...the smiling courtesy of your hostess...the rule of "No Tipping"...the quiet efficiency of every TWA employee.

Phone your travel agent, or ANDover 2000, for complete flying information. After your first flight, you'll agree with the high school students of Albuquerque—It's great to fly!

CONGRESS MUST KEEP US OUT OF WAR, SAYS GREEN

Illinois Federation Parley Opens at Springfield.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 18 (AP).—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, told delegates to the Illinois federation's annual convention today "we must look to congress to save us and protect us from participating in European war."

Green said the A. F. of L. would be active at the coming special session to urge "strict neutrality" and prevention of war profiteering.

Campaign Prediction.

"Congressmen who vote to send our young men to war will hear from us," Green said. "It is our purpose to enter the 1940 campaign. I predict that the membership of the A. F. of L. and their friends will be the decisive factor in that campaign."

The federation president added that his organization would "demand that a ceiling be put upon commodity prices and that the war profiteer be designated a criminal."

President Green spoke before approximately 1,000 representatives of locals throughout the state at the first session of their six day convention. He took the occasion of his visit to the home town of C. I. O. leader John L. Lewis to attack the latter as an "enemy of labor" affected with "delusions of grandeur."

Ask State Relief Increase.

Officials of the federation urged in their annual report that Gov. Horner convene a special session of the legislature to increase the $4,000,000 monthly state allotment for relief. The report announced that federation leaders were planning a movement for unity between farmers and labor groups in Illinois.

President Reuben G. Soderstrom of the Illinois federation criticized the Illinois Agricultural association for supporting the defeated Lantz bill, which would have required unions to give notice of intention to strike.

NAB ST. CHARLES GRAD AS LOOKOUT OF BURGLAR GANG

Fred Detty, 18 years old, who was graduated from St. Charles School for Boys in 1937 after serving 13 months for burglary, was arrested Sunday night as the lookout man in another burglary. The arrest was made at 1506 North Lotus avenue, where purses of guests at a party had been looted.

When Fred was taken to the Austin police station he earnestly denied any wrongdoing. Policeman Edward Tighe looked up the records and pointed out that there had been 25 such cases in the last four or five months in the area and one a few nights before that had netted the burglars $150.

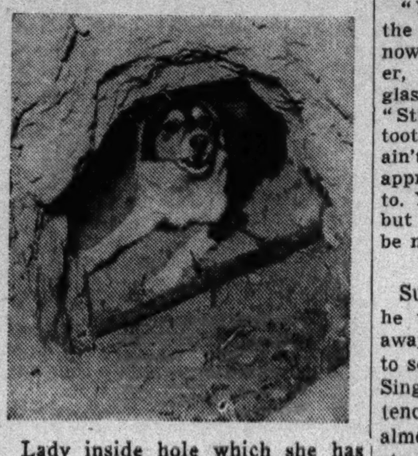
"Those dirty double-crossers!" howled Edward. "They gave me seven bucks for that job." He named his brother, Wilburt, 19, who lives with him at 4334 North Kimball avenue, and Charles Casternova, 19, 3740 Montrose avenue, as his companions. Detective Tighe was hunting them last night.

Gets 1-5 Years in Prison for Helping Bandit Escape

Harold Hankes, 24 years old, of Solfisburg avenue, Aurora, yesterday was sentenced by Judge Frank W. Shepherd of the Kane county Circuit court at Geneva to one to five years in the state penitentiary for helping a prisoner to escape. Last July 26 Hankes smuggled saws into the Aurora jail to Chester Persinger, who then sawed his way to freedom. Persinger later was caught. On Saturday he was sentenced to 1 to 20 years for larceny.

Lady Is a Digger

Lady, a mongrel dog, digging hole at 50th street and Cottage Grove avenue. Her actions have aroused curiosity.



Lady inside hole which she has dug.

All men are curious, Lady is a dog, and the good people living in the vicinity of 50th street and Cottage Grove avenue are upset. A few months ago the mongrel Lady stopped at a garage at 5001 Cottage Grove avenue, liked the place and stayed to become a daytime watchdog.

Across the street from the garage is a vacant lot, and several days ago Lady went over, sniffed around a bit and started digging. Mornings and evenings, on time which you might call her own, she dug and she dug and she dug. Behind her a mound of earth grew and grew, and to the fore a hole went deeper and deeper.

The garage men watched Lady's digging and wondered at Lady's industry. Lady didn't act that way for nothing, thought they. Hidden treasure? A buried corpse? When the garage attendants could stand it no longer, one of them got a shovel, took his place beside Lady and he dug and he dug and he dug.

The attendant was digging for curiosity, and he finally quit. Lady is just digging.

Held to Jury on Charge of Raping West Side Girl

Kenneth Kelly, 24 years old, 907 George street, a machinist, was held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Gibson E. Gorman on a charge of rape made by a west side girl 19 years old.

TODAY'S BANDIT IS JUST A PUNK, SAYS OLD TIMER

Pickpocket, 69, Declares He Is Retired.

An old Chicago hater sat grumbling last night in a cell at the detective bureau. He is George Summers, dean of the pickpockets, and he was arrested the first time during the World's Fair of 1893 by John Norton, retired chief of detectives.

"You know what's the matter with the cannon [pocket picking] racket nowadays?" he shot at his questioner, old eyes snapping behind new glasses. Then he answered himself: "Stickups!" he hissed through toothless gums. "These young punks ain't willing to go through a long apprenticeship any more like we had to. You had to be good to be a dip, but to be a stickup you only gotta be nuts."

Learns to Read in Prison.

Summers, now 69 years old, says he was born in St. Louis and ran away from home before he ever went to school. He learned to read in Sing Sing prison, to which he was sentenced in 1901. He found reading almost as much fun as picking pockets, but not so profitable. "Why, it was nothing to have a roll of a thousand dollars in our pockets in those days," he said sorrowfully.

In Sing Sing and in his two terms in the federal prison at Atlanta, Summers discovered Shakespeare. He read every word the bard wrote, he avows. Then he added Scott, Carlyle, Balzac, Dumas, Hugo, and finally Gibbon, whose "Decline and Fall" he quotes at the least encouragement.

"Pickpockets are out of date," he said suddenly. "People don't carry any money any more. And it's a cinch today, too. In my time tailors made men's pants so deep it took 15 seconds for a good man to pinch a poke. Nowadays they're so shallow it can be done easy in five."

Too Much "Fuzz" Here.

He ruminated a minute on his 25 Chicago arrests. "I don't know why I keep coming back to this town," he said testily. "And I land right in the hottest part of it, too—Madison and Halsted. Why, the place was all over with fuzz!"

"Fuzz," it seemed, meant policemen in the thieves' argot of half a century ago. Summers explained that it arose when policemen used to mope along their beats and crooks and tough youth would yell at them to "get the fuzz off."

"And they haven't a thing on me, either," he added. "I been retired for two years. I wasn't even in Chicago in 1937." [He is held for investigation on a 1937 complaint.]

"You know why I retired?" he demanded. Then: "The infirmities of age, my boy, the infirmities of age. Look at them hands." He held out his shaky old arms. "I got asthma. It makes my hands quiver." He considered.

"Hell!" he said bitterly. "Asthma! Stickups!"

GETS SIX MONTHS IN BRIDEWELL FOR POLICE JOB FRAUD

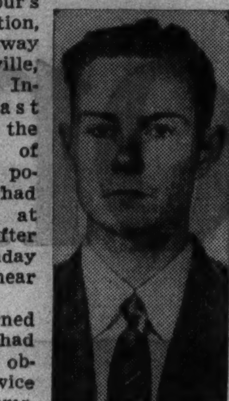
Peter Vassilos, 48 years old, a former tavern owner, was sentenced to six months in the Bridewell by Judge John Sbarbaro yesterday for a $300 police job swindle. Vassilos was found guilty by a Criminal court jury on Sept. 7.

James Stenson, 1104 East 55th street testified he gave the money to Vassilos two years ago on the latter's promise to get him a place on the police force. Vassilos contended the money was a loan.

A plea for probation by Vassilos' attorney, Charles Bellows, was opposed by Assistant State's Attorney Thomas Bugan.

AIRPLANE THIEF TAKEN BACK TO SCENE OF CRIME

Ernest G. Roberts, the student pilot who landed a stolen plane after only an hour's flying instruction, was on his way from Evansville, Ind., back to Indianapolis last night under the guardianship of four Indiana policemen. He had been held at Evansville after his crash Sunday in a hay field near Jasper, Ind.



Ernest G. Roberts.

Police learned that Roberts had been under observation twice in Texas asylums. He had a gun in his baggage and a belt full of cartridges to fit it. Films in the camera he carried indicated that his story of guiding three elderly women school teachers through Mexico during the summer was true, police said.

The plane was stolen after Roberts chartered it from Manager Fred Schumacher of the Harlem airport and was flown to Indianapolis by Pilot Dave Bishop. There Roberts locked Bishop in a hotel room, then went to the airport and flew the plane away.

Five Held to Federal Grand Jury After Raid on Still

Five men seized for operating a still at 16 East 23d street were held to the federal grand jury in bonds of $9,500 yesterday when arraigned before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker for violating the alcoholic tax laws. They are: Anthony Leonardi, Frank Mustari, Joseph Cosentino, Jack Stolpe, Frank Cannizzaro. Agents of the alcohol tax unit confiscated 8,500 gallons of mash and 210 gallons of alcohol at the still.

GUNMEN ROB GROCERY MANAGER.

GAMBLING PROBE JURY QUESTIONS ALLEGED BOOKIES

State's Attorney Courtney's grand jury investigation of gambling in Cook county entered its second week yesterday, with the ending uncertain and the results in doubt. Neither the prosecutor nor his confidants would disclose who, if any one, will be indicted.

Witnesses before the grand jury yesterday were alleged operators of a handbook at 5609 Broadway and policemen who arrested them last week. Routine witnesses are summoned from the Racket court, where gamblers are arraigned daily and where Judge Joseph B. Hermes yesterday dismissed charges against 46 men arrested in gambling rooms.

Courtney expects the managers of three of the largest gambling houses in the county to appear before the jury Friday. Two of them—George Turner and George O'Donnell—appeared last week and were questioned and told to return Friday. They said they owned the places they operate, but Courtney's suspicion is that the real owners are William Johnson, gambling king who evaded testifying at the recent federal grand jury hearing, and William R. Skidmore, who was indicted by the government on charges of income tax evasion.

HELD AS SUSPECTED BURGLAR.

Louis R. Stevens, 37 years old, was being held by Riverside police last night as a suspected burglar. He was arrested Sunday while allegedly carrying articles taken from the home of Otto Lahoda, 509 Nuttall road, Riverside.

See How Little GAS HEAT Costs in Typical Small Homes

Figures in large type are the total costs for 1938-1939 season divided by eight.

PEOPLE in all walks of life recognize Gas Heat as the last word in home heating. They know that its conveniences, its fully-automatic features go all the way in eliminating work and bother of furnace tending.

And now more than ever before, Chicago families are also realizing that Gas Heat costs are well within moderate family budgets. So, in ever growing numbers Chicago's smaller homes are being heated with gas.

On this page are just a few typical cases showing how little Gas Heat cost owners during the eight months of last heating season. Study these cases and their official cost figures. You may find pictured here a house like your own . . . But, while you're at it, you can do even better! Without cost—without obligation, find out from your dealer or Peoples Gas (Wabash 6000) how easily you too can enjoy Gas Heat this coming winter!

Scotch Firm.

The sinking of the Athenia was being discussed and some one repeated the information that it was the second Athenia lost by the Donaldson Line, a Scotch firm in Glasgow. The first Athenia was sunk by a German submarine early in the first world war.

"Not if there were a few life preservers left floating around marked Athenia," wisecracked CBS publicity chief Louis Ruppel, in town last week-end.

A Scotch story told Dr. Philip Weintraub by SM5YU, who is a fellow "ham" of Dr. Weintraub and a dentist from Sweden, concerns a Scotchman who lay dying. With almost his last breath he said to his wife, "When I'm buried I want a name plate on my coffin."

"Ye shall have it," his prospective widow assured him, and the dying dentist contentedly turned his face to the wall.

On the morning of the funeral passersby noticed that the polished brass plate which had been in the dentist's office window was missing. Graveside mourners read, as the casket was lowered into the earth:

Wartime Fashions.

We read with interest that Paris dressmakers were designing little "shelter suits," suitable for hasty donning when the air raid signal whines overhead. These suits were described as having wide trousers, large pockets, and wool lining. Sensible enough. Now Miss Frances Martell, secretary of the American Cosmeticians' National association, announces that at the twentieth annual convention at the Hotel Sherman Oct. 2-4 "an appropriate form of hair dressing to meet existing conditions in war ridden Europe" will be demonstrated. Some simple design will have to suffice, the announcement continues. Probably some neat and efficient method of handling hair standing straight up from terror.

Parents Reveal Helen Fulton's July Wedding

BY JUDITH CASS.

ANNOUNCEMENT of a marriage that took place in July is being made today by Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Fulton of Winnetka. It is of the marraige of their younger daughter, Helen Marguerite, and Chester Bruce Shockley, son of Judge and Mrs. Elmer Shockley of Enid, Okla.

The wedding took place quietly on July 27, but because of Mr. Fulton's illness the news was kept secret until now. Mr. Fulton is recovering, however, and later on when he is better Mr. and Mrs. Fulton will give a reception for their daughter and new son-in-law.

Talented as Pianist and Tennis Player.

Mrs. Shockley made her debut four years ago and is a member of the Service club and of the Junior auxiliary of the Cradle. She is an accomplished pianist and an expert tennis player. After being graduated from the North Shore Country Day school, she spent one year at Leland Stanford university, later transferring to the Northwestern university music school, from which she was graduated in June. She is president of the Northwestern chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, national honorary musical sorority, and of the junior Wightman cup squad.

Mr. Shockley is a graduate of Northwestern and is on the staff of the music school. He and his bride will live in Evanston. Mrs. Shockley plans to work for a master's degree at the music school this winter.

Mrs. Lawrence E. Be Bout, the former Marion Fulton, and her husband, who live in Loudonville, O., learned of the marriage when they came to Winnetka for the Labor day week-end.

Mrs. Ruth W. Dart Wed to John W. Stephan.

In a simple ceremony at the home of her parents, Mr and Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen, Mrs. Ruth W. Dart became the bride of John W. Stephan at noon on Saturday. Mr. Stephan is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Stephan of Oak Park. He and his bride will be at home in Chicago.

Miss Janet Herriott and Nathan B. Swift are to be married on Sept. 30. Their wedding will be a small one at the Drake hotel, where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Herriott, are living. Mr. Swift is the son of Mrs. Alden B. Swift, and a great-grandson of Gustavus F. Swift, founder of the packing company that bears his name.

Only the two families will be present at the wedding, which will take place at noon. After a short wedding trip Mr. Swift and his bride will be at home on the near north side. He has two sisters, Miss Narcissa Swift, and Mrs. Paul Rowan. Miss Herriott has a brother, Irving Jr., who was married to Marjorie Jane Van Horne in September three years ago.

Mr. Swift is a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. Swift and of the late Mr. and Mrs. William C. Niblack.

Recall Invitations to Miss Davis' Wedding.

Owing to the sudden illness of their daughter, Patricia, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hazlitt Davis yesterday recalled the invitations to her marriage next Saturday. Miss Davis is in the Evanston hospital. Her fiancé, Robert H. Bethke, is here from New York.

Alicia Bassett, who will celebrate her second birthday Thursday, has a brother, born last Friday at St. Luke's hospital. The children's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Harney Bassett of East Schiller street. The new baby is to be named William Harney after his father and his maternal grandfather, the late William H. Scriven.

Mrs. Warren C. Fairbanks returned on Sunday to her Lake Shore drive apartment after having spent the summer at Wianno on Cape Cod. Her daughter, Countess Visconti di Modrone, is looking for a house in the Berkshires where she and her small

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

The working girl, whose hands are expected to be as soft, smooth and attractive as they are capable, has special requirements in the way of a hand lotion. She wants one that's efficient, quick drying and inexpensive. And she can find it if she does her beauty shopping carefully.

In an office full of women the beauty writer finds the very best kind of guinea pigs for all the preparations that fall into her hands. Because the creams, lotions, and perfumes come along at a great rate the guinea pigs get pretty exacting, and their comments are sometimes so valuable we feel we ought to split our pay check with them!

They love hand lotions. And one way we repay them for their pains in trying out things for us is to keep one hand lotion or another on tap all the time. They're critical as anything, too—and many a lotion a manufacturer has fondly thought was perfect has been poured down the wash basin after the tryer-outer gave it a whirl.

For the last several weeks one lotion has held their affections. Not a murmur out of them—with the exception of one captious comment that the perfume could be improved. And maybe it could—but that evaporates in a few minutes, so what difference does it make?

This hand lotion is a clear amber colored liquid. It's the office worker's dream because it's absorbed in 32 seconds flat! No mess, no stickiness. And it does a wonderful job of keeping the hand skin soft and white and smooth. You can wash your hands a dozen times a day [and with not too good soap, either], but if you use this—just a few drops of it after each washing—your hard working hands look like a debutante's.

This lotion isn't new. We don't know how we missed it, because it's been around a long time. It's different—not creamy as so many we have today. And it's a honey of a softener and not a bit of trouble to use. Inexpensive, too. We, like our guinea pigs in the office, are crazy about it, and we recommend it without reservations. Meet to Plan 11th St. Luke's Fashion Show

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

Casual, country clothes were in order yesterday at the first fall meeting of the St. Luke's fashion show committee, held at Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed's Lake Shore house in Lake Forest. There was enough of a touch of fall in the air, however, to make woolens more comfortable than silks or cottons.

The war, politics, the weather, moving plans and the beauty and charm of the house in which they were being entertained were discussed by Mrs. Reed's luncheon guests, but little was said about the show itself.

The committee had had its business meeting before luncheon, but the women have managed so many fashion shows that they don't have to talk about the show morning, noon, and night.

The show, eleventh the woman's board of the hospital has given, is to be held on the afternoon and evening of Tuesday, Oct. 17, in the grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel. Mrs. John W. Gary is general chairman, as she has been for the last 11 years. Many who have worked with her since the first show are working this year, too. Among them are Mrs. Walter B. Wolf, Mrs. Robert J. Thorne, Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams, Mrs. Charles F. Glore, Mrs. Frank P. Hixon, Mrs. I. Newton Perry, Mrs. Huntington B. Henry, and Mrs. Theodore A. Shaw Jr.

In addition a number of young women are active on the committee this year. Among them are Mrs. Morrison Waud, Mrs. Gordon P. Kelley, Mrs. Robert B. Upham Jr., Mrs. A. Watson Armour III., and Miss Margaret Hixon.

An honored guest at the luncheon was Mrs. Lester E. Frankenthal, one of three senior members of the board. The senior members, Mrs. Frankenthal, Mrs. Edmund D. Hulbert, and Mrs. Forsythe Sherfesee, and the honorary members, Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, Mrs. William E. Casselberry, and Mrs. John deKoven, have been associated for many years with the hospital, which is celebrating its 75th anniversary this year.

Good Morning!

The Little Julian has reopened its doors—closed for the summer—and invites you to witness its new Swedish comedy, with English titles.

I went over there Thursday afternoon. Was I HOT—and was IT cold! I nearly froze—[with pleasure!]—and, shivering ecstatically managed to cull quite a few laughs from the predicaments of the hearty and healthy folks performing on the screen.

The film is largely concerned with the adventures in his boss' home of a young man who has entered into a bet—with the boss, no less!—and several boon companions to tell the truth and nothing but the truth for 24 hours.

Now there are times, you know, when little white lies become quite necessary if amenities are to be preserved. But the young man DARES not lie. Because more, far more is involved than even the boss suspects. Something which has to do with the boss' pretty daughter to whom our friend is engaged.

300 Danish Brotherhood Lodges Open Convention

Delegates from 300 lodges in the United States assembled yesterday in the Sherman hotel for the twentieth national convention of the Danish Brotherhood in America. This is the first time since 1889 that Chicago has been host to the organization. A week of business sessions, tours, and entertainment is planned by the convention committee, headed by Gunnar Jensenius. The brotherhood was founded in 1881 in Omaha, Neb.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Behind the Scenes

New York, Sept. 18 [Special].—When you see night clubs pictured in the movies, they are expensive and expansive joints, approached by a sweeping descent of stairway. The band, in the movie versions of night clubs, generally has 1,763 musicians and the leader of the band is a Cesar Romero type. So when Hollywood folk arrive at the world famous Stork club in this city they can't believe their orbs, because the Stork club isn't the sort of club that the movie makers have been photographing for years.

Physically, the Stork follows the general geometric design of the bird from which it takes its name. The feet of the bird might be visualized as the lobby of the club; the body of the bird would be that section of the club in which the bar stretches back to the rear wall. The beak of the stork might conceivably be the area of the club where ringside tables are squeezed in about the small dance floor. The main distinction in this simile is that whereas a stork buries his beak in the sand, the veteran Stork clubbers bury their heads in beakers of vintage wine.

Laid out along lines that contradict every rule of successful night club construction, the Stork became world famous not because of its four walls, but rather because Oklahoma's Sherman Billingsley imparted warmth and hospitality to his oddly shaped club. . . . El Morocco's John Perona had been reserved and distant toward those customers he did not know. Central Park Casino's Sid Solomon was just as apt to exile patrons who offended him to the green pastures of Central park. Jack and Charlie, at "21," before they got "hep," thought it was a label of affluence to insult every third customer. The Colony catered to a restricted clientele of aristocrats. . . . Into this picture of general haughtiness stepped Billingsley, whose training during the prohibition era had indicated that customers liked to be called by name, enjoyed the flattering sensation of a complimentary bottle of wine from the owner of the place, and Billingsley cleaned up by introducing these practices in a smart club. It was revolutionary, but extremely profitable.

Billingsley's success, however, stems from something else which has been recognized infrequently: The fact that from the prohibition era on he successfully divorced himself from the mobsters who "cut" themselves in on Broadway and east side clubs who were flouting the law. It was a combination of shrewdness and courage that enabled him to step between the raindrops of gang warfare. He made one of the late Dutch Schultz's pluguglies take water one night, the Schultz bully having overlooked the fact that Oklahoma bred some rough, tough hombres, and from then on Billingsley never had much trouble. Compared to his winning repulses of the overlords of the dangerous mobs, the rest of it has been child's play.

How much money he has coined in his place is problematical, but no night club owner or supper club owner has put so much of it back into circulation. He sends rounds of drinks to tables, he sends grosses of expensive ties to customers, he sends perfume to the girls. There never has been a professional host to equal his liberality. It's good business, of course, but instinctively he is that sort of a guy. As a result, he has created an atmosphere of friendliness in his place that churns with electric consistency.

Squeezed into the East 53d street club, on any night, you will see such diverse patrons as Peggy Hopkins Joyce, Doris Duke Cromwell, Tallulah Bankhead, J. Edgar Hoover, Ernest Hemingway, Norma Shearer, Jack Benny, Billy Rose, Eleanor Holm, Brenda Frazier, Young Roosevelt, Dan Topping, Orson Welles. Each table, in other words, is exciting and atmospheric. People go to see and to be seen and that is a double play which never has failed to bang the cash register with effective staccato.

How long will this club remain the No. 1 moneymaker of the town? Your guess is as good as Billingsley's. There are fashions in supper clubs just as there are fashions in everything else, and clubs once famous are now forgotten. He, however, has insured his club's popularity by winning friendship in addition to patronage, and few other bonifaces have been so wise.

BLUMS-NORTH EVANSTON TOWN & COUNTRY

They Hunted a Fox

By Alice Campbell

[Copyright: 1939: By Alice Ormond Campbell.]

SYNOPSIS.

Alison Young and her fiancé, Dr. Colin Ladbroke, are week-end guests at Chenerys, the English country estate of Tom Boldre, to attend a fox hunt and ball. Wynn Marchmont, sister of Tom's wife, Pat, is informally engaged to Tom's brother, Derek, a veterinary. Alison overhears a love scene between Pat and Arthur Kingsclere. At the hunt-ball hilarity reigns. Later Tom Boldre defies death by riding his horse bareback up the slippery ancestral stairs. Chenerys is mortgaged to the hilt. Gregg, Tom's agent, urges him to accept an offer made for the estate, but Tom refuses to sell. At the hunt next morning, from a far off hill, Alison and Colin see Tom thrown and a man bending over him. When they reach the accident they find Derek stooping over Tom's prostrate form. A farmer, Glover, happens along and helps them take Tom to his house.

INSTALMENT VIII.

A FATAL THROW.

"Those are all George's magazines," giggled Mrs. Glover. "He won't let me tidy 'em or clear a single one away. Hark, that sounds like a kill." She moved towards the rear door and looked out over the green hills. Somewhere, not far off, an hysterical clamor had broken forth. Snarls and shrill yappings told of a pack run amuck. "Hogarth's Dip that'll be," she declared. "So your people will be home in short order. And look you, here comes the car."

Glover, again vanished, was discovered back at the bedside gazing down thoughtfully at Tom, who was fidgeting with some restlessness and throwing off wet towels. When the car drove off the husband and wife stood watching its departure with smiling faces, but Alison, waving back, fancied the smiles were a bit absent, even that her turning had interrupted some confidence between the couple. The man's arm had gone round the woman's waist with a silencing gesture, but she thought little of it at the time.

Tom, in his own bed, grumbled viciously.

"Season ending any day! Why the hell couldn't you have left me alone? O, that sounds ungrateful, but see here, I'd have been on again in two ticks."

"Sez you! Instead of which," snapped Colin, "I'm going to see you lie doggo for a good twelve hours. Man, don't you realize you've been concussed? Your sister-in-law's backing me up, so pipe down."

Pat, tramping in, raised skeptical brows. "Rotten for you two, missing all the fun," said she briefly and disappeared for her bath. Soon the room overflowed with visitors, sympathetic but slightly surprised by the precautionary measures. As Colin said afterwards, it was a scene which might have come straight from the pages of Surtees.

"Bad show!" Maj. Fitts nursed his whisky glass. "On Glover's ground, you say? Yes, stony bit, that. And Derek found you?"

"Derek found me. Funny thing," mused Tom, "I thought it would be you."

"O, I was ahead of you. I saw you get bogged down by the water mill and took warning, so I skirted that patch and gained quite a lead. Derek had trouble there, too, I fancy?"

Derek answered for himself, "Yes, but it wasn't the only time. I got held up with girths, and again in that damned marshy timber." He was burnt Indian red and he walked with some stiffness. "No, the Boldre brothers didn't make a good showing today—one groggy, the other out of practice."

"Arthur, you and Pat seemed to be leading from start to finish," remarked Wynn. Perched on the foot of the bed she was combing knots out of her curls. Kingsclere smiled, sipped his drink, and said nothing while the others ran on, rehashing experiences. The atmosphere grew thick with smoke, Tom's face in the midst of it red as a tomato. Colin asserted his authority and gave the order to clear out and let the patient quiet down.

"What the hell," muttered Tom, but his friends, though mildly amused, beat a courteous retreat. He caught at Wynn's sleeve. "Sing to me," he begged like a child of six. "You know what."

She pulled a face at him, but slipped obediently into the adjoining room—the old nursery, she explained to Alison, who followed. Down she plumped before a tinny old piano, slapping on the rack a piece of battered sheet music.

"Tom's favorite song," she whispered. "For God's sake don't explode!"

The ballad, many versed and of sugary sentiment, was entitled "The Place Where the Old Horse Died."

"Close your ears," Wynn warned, "I'm going to screech."

When they peeped in on Tom after the performance, he lay placidly slumbering.

He was strong as a cart horse, of course, and next day his accident was forgotten. On the Monday morning he even quite seriously suggested driving Alison and Colin to the train himself.

"Just to show myself in the town and save my tumble from being written up in the local rag."

But it was in the Times, less than three weeks later, that Alison and Colin read shocking news of their friend. Thrown again in the hunting field, Tom Boldre had been picked up with a fractured thigh and died soon after they got him home.

The two travelers were midway their journey before the compartment emptied, leaving them alone. Now for the first time Wynn spoke.

"How could it have happened?" asked she huskily.

Derek shook his head. His face looked leaner, and in some strange way even his stature seemed to have dwindled.

"Just pegged out, all at once. After they'd got him home."

Wynn knew this. She also knew that it had been Arthur Kingsclere who stopped to investigate after a dozen others had galloped on. That damned wrist! Never given a chance to get strong. . . .

Furtively she dabbed at her eyes. Startlingly gray they were in the pinched pallor of her face.

"Yes, but when you think of the ugly smashes he's had. . . . Derek! Did you know he'd a weak heart?"

"Never heard of it."

Talk died. When it was dusk Derek moved over beside Wynn, hesitated, then slid an arm round her body. She buried her rumpled crop in his shoulder, and so, in silence, they remained. Many times they had sat thus, but always a rocky obstacle had interposed itself between them. Now it was gone the sudden absence brought a feeling of guilt.

Odd, thought Wynn, that there had never been any one else but Derek. She could have had six men, all better endowed, and not only in a worldly way. Derek, too—what had stopped him marrying some well-to-do young woman of the neighborhood? Just this same stupid singleness of heart, be it blessing or curse. Fate, perhaps. Just fate which had kept both of them unsatisfied, miserable, yet bound. But was it also fate that vital, iron muscled Tom should snuff out like a candle?

"Cold?"

Had she fallen into a doze? Here they were at Bewkesbury, door banging back and Freddie Fitts' friendly eyes, minus their twinkle, peering in on her dishevelment. Out she stumbled, clutching her hat.

"Bad business!" The major solemnly grasped her hand. "Shocking jar for the lot of us. H-h-r-rumph!"

Skating Star Omits Powder from Makeup

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Could you cope with "shiny nose" without using powder? And what would you think of a beauty formula which calls, almost to the exclusion of everything else, for sun, wind and rain. That, believe it or not, is the secret of the beautiful complexion of Erna Andersen, skating star, who hails from Oslo, Norway.

Miss Andersen says that she believes one of the cardinal reasons for her perfect complexion is not using powder at any time except when she is performing. In that case she, of course, must use stage makeup, which demands powder. But, on all other occasions, she uses no powder at all. And we must say that her skin is as fresh, clear and unlined as a baby's.

In lieu of powder, to cope with that "shiny nose" problem, of course, Miss Andersen uses a skin protection cream. And she uses no soap on her face. Sometimes cold water, but never any soap.

For healthy, high coloring, we learn, Miss Andersen depends almost entirely upon Mother Nature. That is, she bares her face to the sun and the wind. And she walks in the rain.

But Mother Nature's treatments are tempered by judgment and caution, we are told. Miss Andersen protects her scalp against the fierce rays of the sun by oil treatments—lots of oil rubbed well into the scalp which may have been dried out by the sun. And, for the face, again to protect against too much sun, Miss Andersen applies her skin protection cream, which also helps to smooth out any wrinkles and creases caused by wind and sun.

50 Hopefuls Sing in Opera Tryouts; 1,000 to Take Part

Their names may never be in lights, but they sang at the Chicago Civic opera yesterday. Engineers, draftsmen, night club hostesses, stockroom girls, stenographers, house wives — fifty of them stood on the great stage, pouring out their voices into an empty auditorium with but one thought: They all want to be opera stars.

It was the first of a series of public auditions, which are expected to serve as a clearing house for talent in the Chicago area. Since the announcement of this opportunity for singers, Mrs. William Cowen, auditions chairman, has received more than a thousand applications from all over the country.

Parents Reveal Helen Fulton's July Wedding

Arthur Meekers Plan Return in October.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeker will return to Chicago from their Santa Barbara home early in October. Their son, Arthur Jr., who has been spending the summer at his chalet in Switzerland, is adhering to his original plan of remaining abroad until early in October. His nephew, Ambrose Cramer Jr., who is in Vevey, Switzerland, will return with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis B. Munson arrived in Lake Forest yesterday for the debut tea of Mr. Munson's daughter, Miss Marion Munson, on Friday. Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mrs. Munson's mother, is giving the tea with the Munsons at her Lake Forest home. That evening there will be a dinner-dance at home for the bud, her assistants, and their beaux. Miss Munson and her elder sister, Miss Frances, will return to their home in Providence, R. I., late this month.

The John J. Mitchells have returned from having spent the summer in their two California homes, El Mirador, at Montecito, and the Juan y Lolita ranch in the Santa Ynez valley. They will return to the west for the Christmas holidays, at which time it is probable Mrs. Mitchell's mother, Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, will visit them.

Percy Wilsons to Spend Thanksgiving in East.

Since all the Percy Wilsons' children will be away at school this year, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are planning to go to New York to have their family with them for Thanksgiving dinner. Miss Patricia Wilson is in her senior year at Vassar. Ted Wilson attends the Blair academy in New Jersey, and Robert is entering the Tome school at Port Deposit, Md. The Wilsons will close their Lake Bluff home and take an apartment in town later this fall.

Mrs. William Stahl is giving a tea in her garden in Evanston today for the talent committee of the Evanston Junior league. The committee selects the cast for the Follies the league will present on Nov. 9, 10, and 11 in the Glencoe school auditorium. Mrs. Stahl heads the committee in charge.

Among the many expected from out of town for the Chicago Junior league's open house on Oct. 14 at the Drake is Mrs. Robert Burns of Los Angeles, the former Sarane Otis, who is a former president of the league. She will visit her cousin, Mrs. Kinney Smith Jr.

The young women who are in charge will discuss plans for the party while flying over the city in an airplane today. One of the committee's brighter thoughts is to provide a cozy corner for men at its party in the International room. The league gave a luncheon yesterday for the young women who have transferred to the Chicago league. Miss Virginia Winston, president, welcomed them.

The Service club is entertaining at tea today for the debutantes and new members of the club who will take part in its annual revue on Nov. 4. The party is being given at 3 o'clock at the home of the president, Miss Emily Goehst.

Onwentsia Women Golfers Hold Pow Wow Today.

The women golfers of the Onwentsia will hold their annual powwow today at the club. A tournament, tennis and a buffet luncheon are on the program. Mrs. John T. Pirie Jr. is head of the women's golf committee.

The Winnetka Junior board of the Infant Welfare society will hold its first meeting of the season today at the Indian Hill club. Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock.

Dr. and Mrs. Edward F. Garraghan of the Webster hotel have left for a motor trip east. They expect to spend some time in Atlantic City before returning.

The Housewife

Are you putting away the summer blankets, pillows, etc.? You'll like the new transparent blanket containers that zip open quickly and that reveal their contents at a glance. They're not expensive and they certainly are practical. One is made for the standard size bed pillow and is called a pillow guard. It is not of oiled silk, but is transparent and can be kept clean by wiping off with a damp cloth.

These containers are all waterproof, dustproof, and just about airtight.

Rice is one of our most inexpensive foods and adapts itself as readily to dessert as to main dish. When you cook rice, cook enough for two dishes, a casserole today, perhaps, and a rice dessert for next day.

A pound of rice contains 2 cups of uncooked rice, and ½ cup of uncooked rice swells to make 2 cups when it's cooked. This means that in each pound of rice there are potentially 8 cups of cooked rice. And 8 cups of cooked rice will go a long way!

Inexpensive Baked Onions and Rice

[Serves four]

1 cup cooked rice
4 medium onions
1 teaspoon margarine
1 teaspoon flour
½ cup milk
⅓ cup grated cheese [may be omitted]
½ teaspoon salt

Peel onions under water, slice, and boil in an open pan until tender. Make a sauce by blending margarine and flour, adding milk, and cooking over low heat until smooth. Add grated cheese and salt. Place rice and onions in layers in a greased casserole and add sauce. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 20 minutes.

Rice Parfait

[Serves four]

1 cup cooked rice
½ tablespoon gelatin
¾ cup milk or half evaporated milk, half water
½ cup sugar
½ cup cream or evaporated milk, whipped
¼ cup chopped nuts
½ teaspoon vanilla
⅛ teaspoon salt

Soak gelatin in a little of the milk for five minutes and dissolve over hot water or in a little more milk which has been heated. Add with remaining milk, sugar, and salt to rice. Whip cream or chilled evaporated milk and fold it into the mixture. Add nuts and flavoring. Freeze in refrigerator tray, or in ice and salt, until firm. Serve with chocolate sauce or with a fruit sauce. Chopped dates or prunes may be added in place of nuts.

Rice and Tomato Croquettes

[Eight, four or more servings]

1 cup uncooked rice
¾ cup meat stock
2 cups canned tomatoes
1 slice onion
1 carrot, sliced
1 sprig parsley
½ teaspoon salt
2 cloves
¼ teaspoon peppercorns
1 teaspoon sugar
1 egg, slightly beaten
¼ cup grated cheese
1 tablespoon butter
Few grains cayenne pepper

Wash rice and place in the top of a double boiler with the meat stock. [If you haven't any meat stock use a bouillon cube in ¾ cup hot water, or water alone, adding salt to rice.] Steam until rice has absorbed liquid. Cook tomatoes at simmering temperature with onion, carrot, parsley, and seasoning for 20 minutes. Strain and add to rice. Cook until rice is soft. Remove from heat, add egg, cheese, butter, and cayenne. Cool and shape into cylindrical forms. Dip in egg and fine crumbs and fry in deep hot fat at 375 degrees. Drain and serve hot.

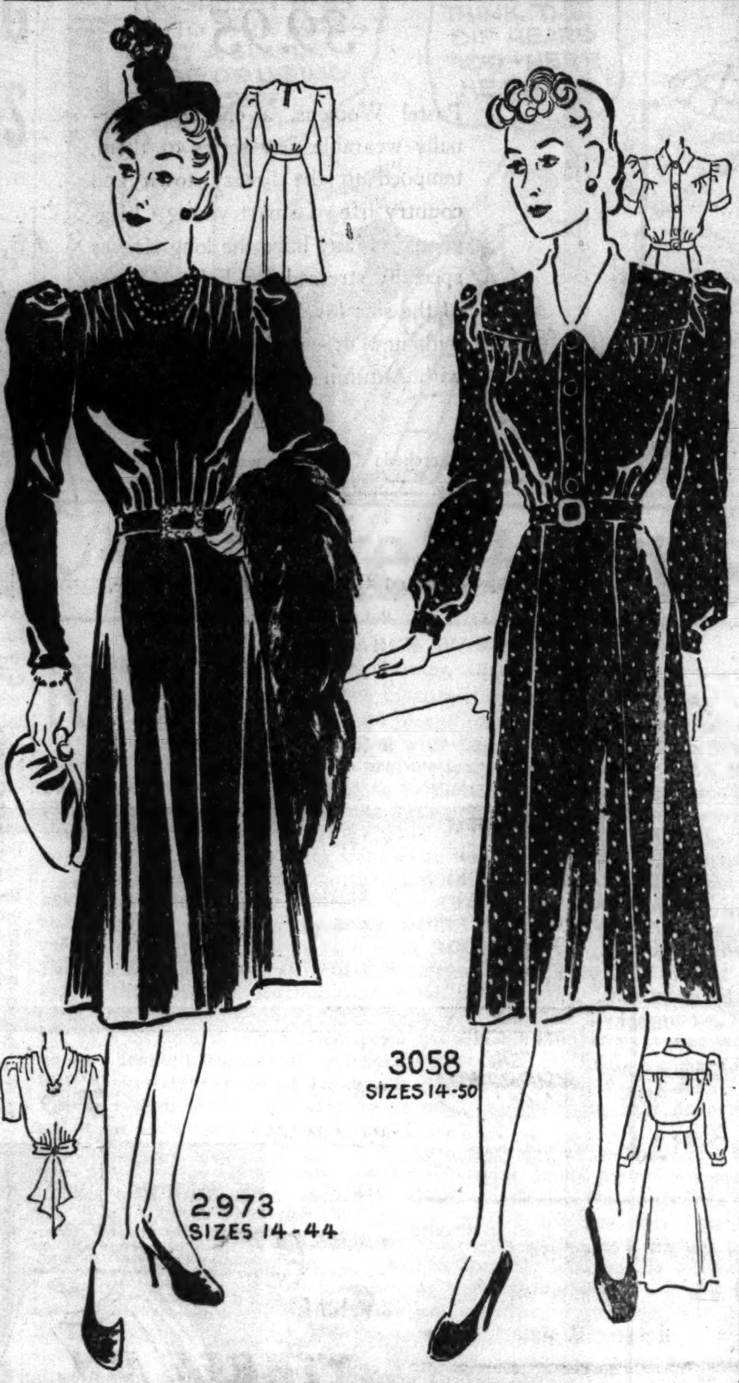
Dresses Stress Simplicity



WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESSES.

Modes for informal wear stress simplicity. These two dresses are of that type. The one at the left, in satin, jersey, crêpe, or sheer woolen, has gathered shoulder line and waist. Its sleeves are puffed at the tops, sleek in the forearms. The skirt is moderately flared. A grand model to wear as a background for costume jewelry and furs.

At the right, a tailored model for silks or woolen, plain or patterned. The V neckline has a lingerie collar. Buttons close the bodice. The full sleeves are gathered into snug wristbands.

Style No. 2973 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 2⅛ yards of 54 inch material. Bolero included in pattern.

Style No. 3058 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3⅝ yards of 39 inch material, with ⅜ yard of 39 inch contrasting.

Each pattern costs ten cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Teach Child Wise Use of Sharp Tools

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

The two extremes of letting children have anything and everything in the way of tools and implements, and letting them have nothing, are wrong. These things have to be handled with judgment, just like any other learning process. They must be well considered and gradual, and the child's individual deftness and general capacity taken into account.

Knives can be used as an example. In the kitchen, as you work around, let your small daughter have a rather dull knife and cut cheese in cubes for the table; let your little son cut up cold cooked potatoes; then later let them have sharper knives to cut up the liver for Kitty's supper.

Their first penknife should be a rather dull one with slightly rounded points and a good easy spring. Those stiff springs are apt to snap the blades shut on their tender flesh. Gradually increase the sharpness, always teaching a child not to walk around with a knife open, and not to play with it near other children.

With scissors a similar process works. The first scissors should be small with blunt ends, but they must cut or they're only an irritation. Later other types can be used.

Allow tools, also, quite early in your child's life. A hammer comes first; then supply short, large headed nails [you can get them] and pieces of soft wood. Later go on to pincers and wrenches, saws and planes. For, though you must safeguard your children, you must realize that they only learn by doing.

"Toy and Plaything List for All Ages" is a leaflet of interest to parents, teachers, and nurses. Send a large, stamped, addressed envelope for it. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Your Stars ★ Today ★

By WYNN

Tuesday, Sept. 19.

The morning hours today are average in little things, with background vibrations showing more clearly than usual—so note them well. The afternoon is apt to be irritating, with temptations to quarreling and self-pity; but we don't have to yield. Relax often.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead from your anniversary today continues opportunities with equals, partners as deserved. Beneficial terminations from May. From June new ways open—be alert. Danger: May 9-20; and Sept. 21-Oct. 10, 1940.

Tomorrow.

You can now get your 1940 individual interpretation for your own personal date plus the balance of this year. Every important period is indicated for you, according to the laws of astrology. New Toboggan Oxfords Unite Style, Comfort

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Good looking all-purpose daytime oxfords with enough snap to make them distinctive, yet comfortable, used to be as rare as black pearls. It's different now. Smart oxfords with supercomfort, with decorative heels and a snappy outline come in every color, and almost every kind of leather or combination of leathers.

If you like tricky toe ideas, you'll be more than sold on some new "toboggan" models, very aptly christened with such a name, for the sole of the shoe is curled up over the toe section by some special coaxing process so that it, the curl, looks just like the front view of a toboggan.

Besides providing the decorative curl, such an up-turn of the light beige sole gives a contrast color for the suede or leather of the shoe.

Though these models are designed for the college crowd, the younger set and a lot of the older shoppers are buying and wearing these oxfords with proper appreciation. They go especially well with tweeds and street ensembles of wool.

The oxfords are smoothly fashioned with good arch supports, with nice outline and a tongue flap over the instep. Brown, navy, black, green, and a stunning wine red are the available colors, and all can be matched with smart handbags similar in shade as well as style. If you have been sleuthing for some comfortable footgear with plenty of "oomph" without sacrificing foot ease, something different and new, try these toboggan models.

Welcome Fall to State Street with Festivities

BY IRENE STEYSKAL.

Fall received an official welcome to the loop from the State Street council at a luncheon and fashion show yesterday in the Palmer House. The program, attended by officials of the council and fashion experts, was the first on a schedule of activities arranged by State street merchants for fall opening week.

State street looks for a pickup in business this season. The war in Europe will have its repercussions here in increased activity, David Mayer Jr., council president, told the assembly. Purchasing power is on the advance, he said, but he reminded the merchants that the greater volume in business would not necessarily mean increased profits.

Other reflections of events abroad were apparent in the parade of feminine styles. Mrs. Rose Caldwell of the Fashion Group of Chicago indicated the trend in a general commentary on fall fashions.

"Major events in history always have a great influence on fashions," she said. "We don't say that you will be wearing steel helmets or war nurses' capes, but we do expect to see double-breasted effects—high military hats, much braid, and many buttons."

Variety, she indicated, is to be stressed this season, with particular interest centered on the silhouette. "Molyneux's hoop flared skirts march side by side with Piguet's modern, peg-topped hobble skirts, and these in turn are flanked by Schiaparelli's cigaret silhouette," Mrs. Caldwell asserted.

"In other words, you can look as different from your next door neighbor as you please, and both of you will be right. Only one thing you must have in common and that is a tiny waist, held, if necessary, by a laced-in corset. Not a silhouette this season but features this new ring size waistline."

Every model at yesterday's show affirmed the continuance of the youthful skirt length, but by a subtle touch here and there the little girl of the summer has grown up. In color, black dominates; it walks in solitary dignity or takes on vibrancy with accents of red as bright as the first autumn spikes of salvia. Brown comes into its own again in a wide range of shades, and rich grape tones, subdued blues, subtle greens, and coppery tints are popular.

The Stage

Katharine Cornell will bring the play, "No Time for Comedy," to the Harris theater on Nov. 6 for a three week engagement.

"My Dear Children," the comedy at the Selwyn, reopened last night with its principal player, John Barrymore, completely recovered from the illness which forced the piece to suspend two weeks ago.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

Playing duplicate bridge, a declarer must not allow himself to become elated when he discovers that he is about to bring home his contract. There may be an extra trick lurking in the bushes which, for match-point purposes, is almost as valuable as the contract itself. In today's hand declarer was so pleased to drop a certain vital jack and fulfill his contract that he played foolishly thereafter.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass
1 no trump	Pass	2 diamonds	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

South's second bid [one no trump] is worthy of note. Undoubtedly South's four honor tricks made this an underbid but, nevertheless, it was the best action available at that point. There are times in the preliminary stages of bidding when it is wise to understate one's values, when the only alternative is to overstate them. In this case South had to choose between a one and a two no trump rebid. The former, as noted, would not express South's four honor tricks, but the latter would be erring even farther in the other direction. The reasoning which dictated South's choice was perfectly sound; if North could not make another bid over one no trump there hardly could be a good play for game. A glance at the North hand confirms this reasoning. Surely, with all that North held, it would have been inexcusable for him to pass, and his two diamond bid was the logical second response. Yet, despite all he held, declarer needed a certain amount of luck to bring home his contract.

West, whose only suit length was in the opponents' bid suits, decided to open a low club. Declarer properly put up the ten, hoping the lead was from the Q-J, but East played the queen and declarer won with the ace. A low diamond was led to the queen. East won and returned his original fourth best club. Declarer ducked; West won and returned the jack. Declarer now led another low diamond to the ace, discovering West's void, and picked up East's diamond ten on the return. With three diamond and two club tricks home, declarer would need all four of his hearts to insure the contract and felt very dubious about the drop of the jack. But neither did he feel like "breaking" the spade suit in an attempt to guess the position of the adverse honors, so he decided to try for the drop of the jack. He led low to the queen and back to his ace, joyfully smothering East's jack, then cashed his two remaining hearts. East had discarded two clubs on declarer's last two hearts. Now, with only two cards left in all hands, declarer led a spade and, when West played low, put in dummy's jack without a second's thought. East pounced on the trick with the queen and returned a spade to his partner's ace.

Of course it always is nice to bring home a contract, but at match-point duplicate extra tricks are nice, too. At the twelfth trick, when declarer played the spade toward dummy and put in the jack, he was guilty of a serious error. He was making a play that had absolutely nothing to gain and everything to lose. Consider, if East had had the spade ace, declarer would have had no chance to make a spade trick, because in that case East merely would have held on to a good club and blanked the spade ace. Surely he would not throw away an established club trick to keep the ace and a low spade. Thus, the only chance was to find the spade ace in West's hand, where it actually was, and to put up the spade king for the extra trick. Incidentally, this extra trick would have given declarer an additional three match-points, which are hardly to be sneezed at in the average duplicate game.

CHALLENGER IS NERVOUS AS BIG BATTLE NEARS

Champion Spars for Last Time.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bob Pastor.

Brighton, Mich., Sept. 18.—Bob Pastor may have made a tactical mistake by ceasing to spar six days before his fight with Joe Louis, heavy weight champion of the world, Wednesday night, but you cannot convince him he has made an error and his belief stems from the approval of his manager, Jimmy Johnson.

Pastor not only has ceased all activity, except for a brief bit of exercise in the afternoon and his morning road work, but he has secluded himself from all visitors except those from newspapers and radio stations. Yesterday afternoon, while the champion was boxing four rounds in Northville before a record crowd of 6,000, Pastor was in hiding at the home of Jimmy Dougherty, two miles east of this town on U. S. highway 16.

He's Getting Nervous.

Many of us who went on to Brighton after Louis' workout were unable to find the challenger until late in the evening and the subsequent interview revealed an entirely different young man than in the days last week when he boxed with his spar mates. Pastor seemed nervous. At our earlier meetings he had been relaxed, jovial, and cordial. Now Pastor is tense, easily irritated, and while thoughts of his impending twenty-round engagement in Briggs stadium with Louis may not be the cause, it is most satisfactory explanation for his preoccupation.

Johnston, who didn't come to camp today because of a speaking engagement, explains that Pastor quit boxing because he was below weight, had reached peak performance, and because this plan was successful in preparing him for his first fight with Louis two years ago. Pastor lost that ten round bout, but Johnston was satisfied that Bob could have done no better if he had continued training until two days before the bout, the customary date for stopping.

Louis Ends Sparring.

Louis finished his drills this afternoon at Northville with four rounds of boxing with George Nicholson, Clarence Brown, Willie Snell, and Monroe Harrison. While his work schedule was interrupted by the one day layoff because of illness, he still follows a routine that dates back to his amateur days and which, as far as we know, no other heavyweight ever followed.

Louis dries out, that is, he abstains from excessive use of water or fruit juices for 24 hours before the fight. This frequently is imperative for fighters in other divisions in order to make weight, but Joe believes it gives him a keener edge. He began this when he made weight as a 175 pounder, the division in which he won Golden Gloves and National A. A. U. championships, and if he has any superstition, it is this. He follows the program as religiously as other fighters seek confidence from luck charms.

He's Got Some Backers.

Pastor has been adopted by the triumvirate of men who control Brighton township. Bob Graham, who owns the village's principal hotel; Jimmy Dougherty, proprietor of the roadside restaurant which is headquarters for Pastor's camp, although it is four miles from the Ben Hur club, where Bob trains, and Martin Lavan, young

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

REPRESENTATIVES of the Pirates, Giants, and Cubs were invited to attend the world series meeting in Commissioner Landis' office in September, 1938. . . . A Chicago photographer, assigned to cover the session, wasn't acquainted with Charles Drake and Boots Weber, the Cubs' delegates. . . . While preparations were being made for a group picture the cameraman inquired as to their identity. . . . Informed they were from the Cubs, he explained: "We don't want Cub representatives in the picture. Let's have only the Giants' and Pirates' executives." . . . You know the rest. . . . The Cubs went on to win the National league pennant. . . . The same gentlemen from the Cubs' office attended this year's meeting, but Mr. Weber doubted if history would repeat itself. . . . Julian Black, co-manager of Champion Joe Louis, wanted Tommy Thomas of Chicago as referee of tomorrow night's fight with Bob Pastor. . . . Jimmy Johnston, Pastor's manager, favored Phil Collins, also of Chicago. . . . That was before the Michigan Boxing commission ruled against importing an out of the state official. . . . Paddy Driscoll, football coach at Marquette, tried out as a clarinetist in Northwestern's band in his student days and wound up as a football, basketball, and baseball player. . . . Eddie Simms, Cleveland heavyweight, predicts Louis will stop Pastor inside five rounds. . . . The fact that he lasted only a round with the champion may have influenced his estimate of Pastor's chances. . . .

Paul Davis, Corby's young brother, is a freshman at Indiana. . . . Paul Roberts, who played football side by side with Davis for four years at Lowell, Ind., High school, went with him. . . . George Halas predicts that Joe Maniaci, Bear full back, will prove as great a field goal kicker as Jack Manders. . . . The White Sox-Cleveland night game at Comiskey park, Sept. 27, looks like a sellout. . . . Sig Harris, who handles the Minnesota freshmen, is starting his 30th season as a football coach. . . . Purdue's 150 piece band, originator of alphabetical marching formation, will make its first appearance of the 1939 season at the Notre Dame game in South Bend, Sept. 30. . . . Jim Masker will referee the Illinois game against his alma mater, Northwestern. . . . Perry Graves, former Illini, will be head linesman. . . . The old days of mistrust have vanished.

Our Heritage.

No structure ever reared by man,
However fair its face,
Was ever any stronger
Than its corner stone, its base;
That goes for humble hovel
Or for nations proud and feared,
No edifice is stronger
Than the base on which it's reared.

This country which we cherish
Had for its basic plan
The love of friend and neighbor—
The brotherhood of man;
To us the trust was given
To build upon that rock,
To us the charge to honor
That trust—and not to mock.

Let every woman, man and child
Within this nation's heart
Give thanks unceasing just to be
Of this grand whole a part;
Let's revere this priceless heritage
From the cradle to the grave,
Let's KEEP our proud America
The land of the free and brave!
JAZBO of Old Dubuque.

Letters.

Letters, old and worn with reading,
Bring new pleasure when I see,
Lines from friends gone, but remembered
In most tender memory.

Lines, which as I read them over,
Speak of mirth and joy and fun—
Speak of hope and aspirations—
And of goals the brave have won.

Here a missive with black border
From a heart bereft and sad—
There another filled with nonsense,
Jingles that have made me glad.

Letters from a boon companion,
Gay and charming to the end;
Precious words I still can treasure
Written by a well loved friend.

One by one I read them over,
Proof of friendships tried and true—
Misers revel in THEIR treasures;
MINE are words of those I knew.

ALL NOTRE DAME TICKETS GONE FOR GAME WITH ARMY

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 18 [Special]—A complete sellout of Notre Dame's allotment of tickets for the Oct. 4 Army-Notre Dame game in New York was announced today by J. Arthur Haley, business manager of athletics.

Notre Dame has experienced heavy advance sale for other games, but no other sellouts are in prospect.

Hunt Defeats Bromwich in Exhibition, 6-3, 6-4

Cumberland, Md., Sept. 18 (AP).—Joe Hunt, Annapolis midshipman, defeated Jack Bromwich, Australian Davis cup team ace, 6-3, 6-4, in an exhibition match here today. Jack Kramer of Los Angeles defeated Harry Hopman, Australian team captain, 6-4, 7-5, but Hunt and Kramer lost the doubles encounter to Bromwich and Hopman, 7-5, 7-5.

CUBS VS. GIANTS: IT'S JUST ONE OF THEIR 154 GAMES

Once Proud Contenders Open Series Today.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cubs, who now have no worries except the possibility that somebody may sneak up from behind and yank them out of third place, will assemble again this afternoon in Wrigley field to dispose of one or more of the eleven dates remaining on their schedule. Assisting in this enterprise will be Bill Terry's Giants, once a proud outfit but now languishing in the second division with only slim prospects of escaping before the season ends.

Play Six with Cardinals.

The Giants will be around here for three days and after that the Cubs won't have far to go before completing their 154 game string. They'll be down at St. Louis this week-end for three meetings with the Cardinals who have such a comfortable second place edge that the Cubs aren't even figuring their mathematical chances for that position. From St. Louis Manager Gabby Hartnett will lead his boys to Pittsburgh for two games and then bring them home for a three game finale with the Cardinals.

By the time the Cubs return, or even before that if developments warrant, a city series challenge will have been forwarded to the White Sox. Nothing has been mentioned officially about the municipal event, but this is merely because the challengers wish to wait until their last mathematical pennant chance has been eliminated.

French to Face Giants.

The White Sox, of course, will accept the challenge with thanks. They may even counter with an invitation to a night game at Comiskey park. If an electric light date is arranged it probably will be the opener of the series.

What with the crippled Diz Dean in Florida, Vance Page temporarily shelved with a lame back, some of the others too old for frequent work, and still others just not cunning enough, Manager Hartnett isn't exactly in a choice situation for pitchers for the next few days. But he hopes that today, at least, will take care of itself. He has Larry French ready for the Giants and the southpaw has been a consistent winner for the last month.

Colonels Whip Indians, 5-1, in Playoff Opener

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 18 (AP).—The Louisville Colonels, who finished fourth in the American association race, defeated the Indianapolis Indians, who ran third, 5 to 1, tonight in the opening game of their best of seven games final playoff series to determine the association representative in the little world series with the International league playoff victor.

Yank Terry went the route for the Colonels, limiting Indianapolis to seven hits. Louisville got 11 hits and scored single runs in the first, second, third, fifth, and sixth innings.

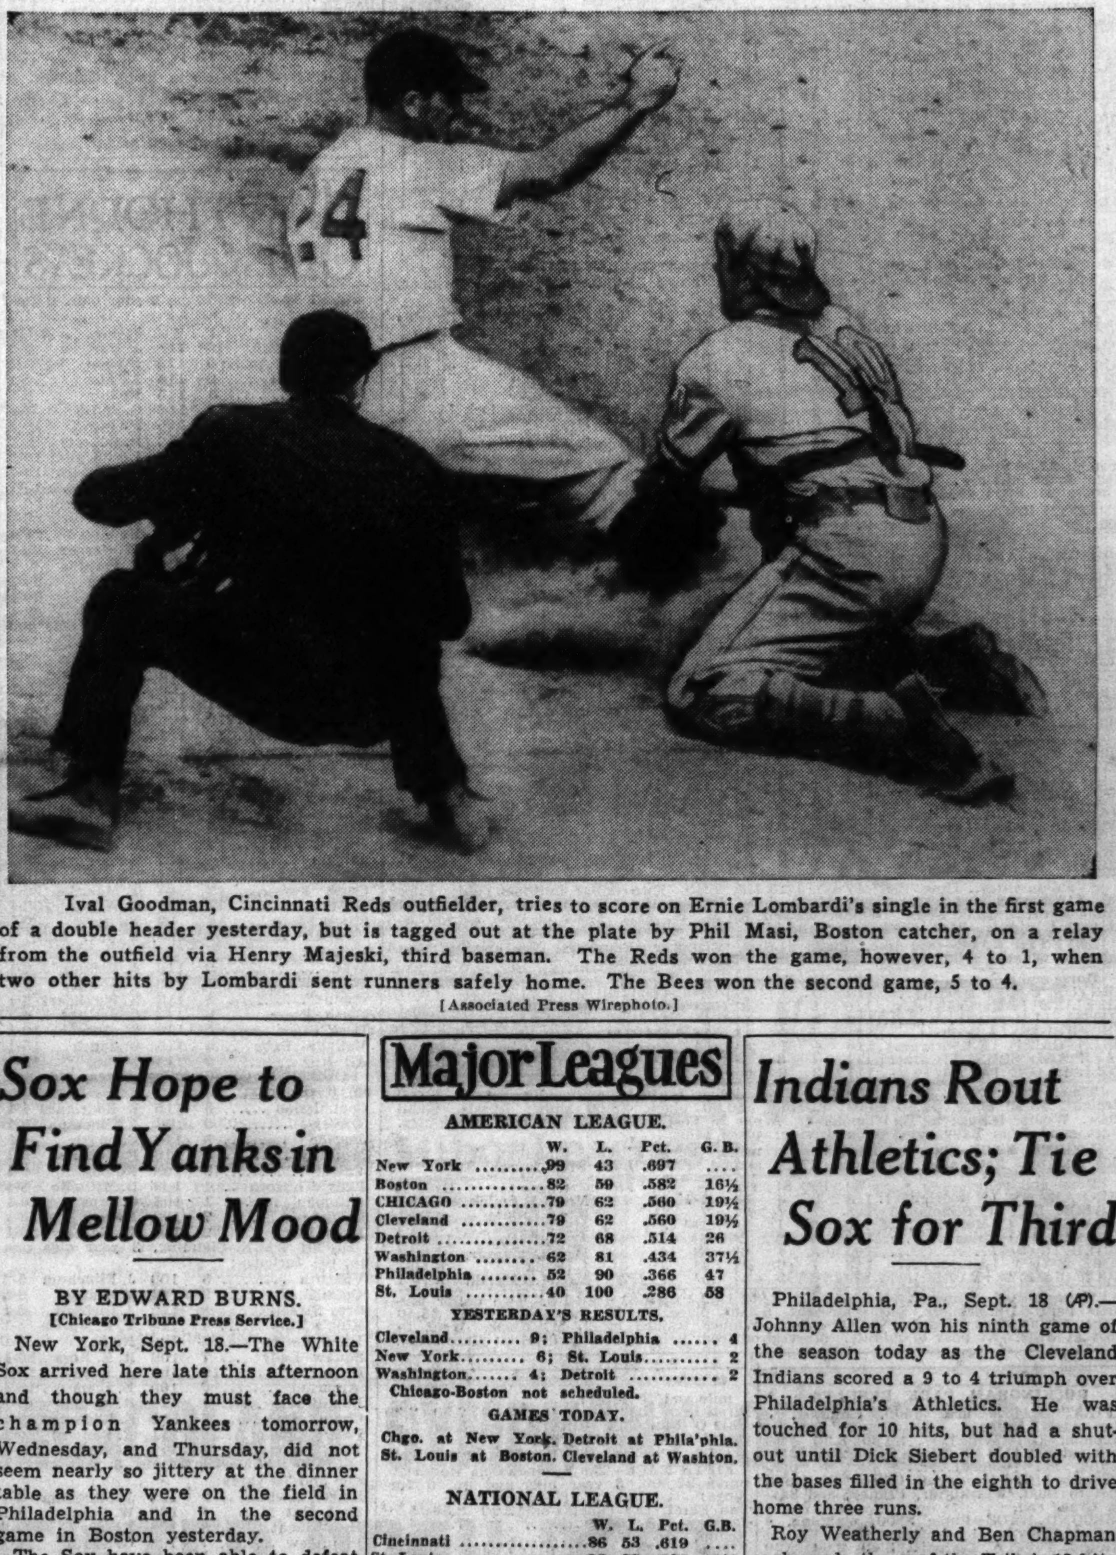
ROCHESTER TRIUMPHS.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 18 (AP).—The Rochester Red Wings tonight defeated Newark in the opening game of their final series for the International league Governor's cup, 8 to 1, with Mike Ryba's relief pitching standing out.

Ryba came into the game in the second inning after Roe, Rochester starting pitcher, had forced home a run by walking a man with the bases full and one out. Mike retired the side without further damage and yielded only three hits until relieved by Roy Henshaw in the ninth.

Bees Sting an Ambitious Red



Ival Goodman, Cincinnati Reds outfielder, tries to score on Ernie Lombardi's single in the first game of a double header yesterday, but is tagged out at the plate by Phil Masi, Boston catcher, on a relay from the outfield via Henry Majeski, third baseman. The Reds won the game, however, 4 to 1, when two other hits by Lombardi sent runners safely home. The Bees won the second game, 5 to 4.

Sox Hope to Find Yanks in Mellow Mood

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 18.—The White Sox arrived here late this afternoon and though they must face the champion Yankees tomorrow, Wednesday, and Thursday, did not seem nearly so jittery at the dinner table as they were on the field in Philadelphia and in the second game in Boston yesterday.

The Sox have been able to defeat the Yankees only four times in 19 games so far this season but those 19 games were played before the Yankees had clinched the 1939 pennant.

Maybe Yanks will Coast

While the Sox count on no wilful let up, they logically expect a little softer sailing against a team that really has little to do till world series time. The fact that the Yanks are not risking injuries was revealed yesterday when they were defeated twice by the St. Louis Browns.

Of the four victories the Sox have accomplished over the Yanks this year, two have been pitched by Edgar Smith, one by Ted Lyons and the last one was the work of Thornton Lee, the last time the Sox were in New York. Smith is scheduled to pitch tomorrow and Lyons Wednesday. Lee probably will pitch Thursday.

Sox Return Home Saturday

After the game Thursday the Sox will head for home where they will launch their real drive for bigger and better shares of the world series pot. They will play a double header with the Browns Saturday and another Sunday.

King Levinsky to Marry Chicago Dancer Thursday

King Levinsky, former heavyweight boxer and Miss Frieda Berg, 25 years old, of 1253 South Karlov avenue, will be married in the county building Thursday. Levinsky gave his name at the license bureau as Harry Krakow and said he is 28 years old. It will be his second marriage, his first wife, the former Roxanne Glickman, a dancer, having been granted an uncontested divorce three years ago. Miss Berg also is a dancer, known as Fritzie Bey.

Nova to Leave Hospital Today; 16 Stitches in Face

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 18 [Special.]—Patched up with sixteen stitches required to close face wounds, Lou Nova, heavyweight boxer, expects to leave Hahnemann hospital tomorrow. The Californian responded rapidly to treatment for cuts inflicted by the fists of Tony Galento, who knocked out Nova in the fourteenth round of their bout here last Friday night.

Indians Rout Athletics; Tie Sox for Third

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 18 (AP).—Johnny Allen won his ninth game of the season today as the Cleveland Indians scored a 9 to 4 triumph over Philadelphia's Athletics. He was touched for 10 hits, but had a shutout until Dick Siebert doubled with the bases filled in the eighth to drive home three runs.

Roy Weatherly and Ben Chapman each made three of the Tribe's 13 hits off Rookie Sam Page. The victory put Cleveland in a tie with the idle Chicago White Sox for third place. Score:

BAER KNOCKS OUT RITCHIE IN SECOND ROUND

Lubbock, Tex., Sept. 18 [Special].—Maxie Baer proved to 12,000 Texas fight fans tonight that he still packs a wallop as he flattened William [Babe] Ritchie, former Texas Golden Gloves champion, in the second round of their scheduled ten round fight.

MARGIN IS STILL 3½ GAMES; BEES PREVENT GAIN

Cincinnati Wins, 4-1; Then Loses, 5-4.

—If—

FOR the second straight day the Cardinals failed to make up ground on the Reds in the National league race yesterday.

If the leaders win eight of their remaining fifteen games, the Cards, to win the pennant, must take eleven of their thirteen contests. If such a situation prevailed, the final standing would be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
St. Louis	94	59	.614
Cincinnati	94	60	.610

St. Louis plays only 153 games, one in its series with New York having been canceled.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 18 [Special].—The Cincinnati Reds added a one game edge over the second place St. Louis Cardinals today, and then lost it. By beating the Boston Bees in the first game of a double-header, 4 to 1, while the Cardinals were losing to the New York Giants, 7 to 2, the Reds boosted their league lead temporarily to four and one-half games. In the nightcaps the procedure was reversed, the Bees beating the Reds, 5 to 4, and the Cards defeating the Giants, 15 to 5.

The day's results thus placed the title contenders right back where they started, with the Reds still out in front by three and one-half games.

2 YEAR OLDS RUN SURPRISE MILE; PINK GAL WINS

It's First Long Race of Chicago Season.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

For the first time this season, Chicago district two year olds were sent a full mile yesterday at Hawthorne. The result was rather unexpected, though nothing that juveniles do under those conditions may be called surprising. Pink Gal, a six to one shot, was the winner of this gallop, which was called the Saginaw purse. She finished a length in advance of Valdina Quest, a member of the Valdina entry which had been backed down to 4 to 5. Count Natural was third.

Valdina Bess, Tippity, Pell Mell and Pigeon Fly completed the field, finishing in that order. Because of the uniform success of the Valdina horses during recent weeks, the entry came in for a big play, Tippity being second choice at 7 to 2.

Slows Up Early Pace.

At the start, Pink Gal followed the tactics of the sprinters with which she was accustomed to run. Breaking with a rush, she led the way around the clubhouse turn with Valdina Quest in close pursuit. Then Jockey Wilson reminded her that this was no dash of five and a half furlongs. Taking her in hand in the back stretch, he rated her along a few strides ahead of her rival.

As they came into the home stretch, Pink Gal was still in front. Valdina Quest came up with a strong challenge, then hung and was unable to get on even terms. Under strong pressure, Pink Gal maintained her margin to the finish. Meanwhile Count Natural, which had been crowded back in the early stages, worked his way up gradually and closed with good speed in the stretch to outfinish Valdina Bess.

The winning youngster ran the mile in 1:40. In the mutuels she returned $15.40, $6.80 and $4.20.

Patience Is Rewarded

Hadith and Broken Pieces, which had been trying without success throughout the Chicago season, finally won yesterday, the former scoring in the six furlong first race and the latter in the six and a half furlong third. Both had made eleven previous starts.

During the Arlington meeting Hadith seemed about to reach top form and, on one occasion was leading by three lengths in midstretch with a $65 daily double on his nose. He quit swiftly that time, possibly on account of the sloppy going, and failed repeatedly thereafter until he became a chronic long shot. One day last week he got to the post at 21 to 1 and missed victory by the margin of a head. So yesterday the crowd decided that he had reached winning form and backed him accordingly until he was at 5 to 2 odds.

Jockey Eddie Elam kept Hadith close to the pace while Illinois Tom and Buss were leading the way in the early stages. After saving ground on the stretch turn, Elam took Hadith out from the rail, sent him to the front with a rush and kept him running to the finish. He was three lengths ahead of the fast closing Tonkawa, Buss saving third money. Hadith paid $7.60, $4 and $4.20. Tonkawa was a long shot, returning $38.80 and $15.60 for place and show. Followers of Buss also made a handsome profit, receiving $28 on their show tickets.

Wins in Stretch Rally

Though Broken Pieces was much the best in his field, he had considerably more trouble than Hadith did in getting home on top. He was taken back when in close quarters at the start and was pulled up again when he started to bear out approaching the far turn. Thereafter he went wide all the way. Closing powerfuly in the stretch he caught the leaders in the last sixteenth and won by a length while True Sport was taking second place away from the pacesetter, El Juez.

Illinois Amateur Nines Ordered to Settle Tie

Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 18 (AP).—The national amateur baseball board ruled today the Energy, Ill., Braves and the Chicago Heights Cyclones must hold a playoff to decide which team will represent Illinois in the national tournament, which will open in Battle Creek this Friday. Each team won one game at their state finals and a third was called because of darkness with the score tied.

PROTEST SUNDAY OPENING OF DUCK HUNTING SEASON

Churchmen Ask Shift of First Day.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Protests against Sunday openings of water fowl hunting seasons were sent yesterday to Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes in Washington, D. C. The opening date in the northern zone of the United States, including Wisconsin, is Sunday, Oct. 1, and in the central zone, including Illinois, it is Oct. 22. The protests were based on the sacred character of Sunday and on discrimination against employed persons.

The administrative council of the Wisconsin synod of the Presbyterian church sent a letter of protest to Secretary Ickes. The letter expressed surprise that the interior department had broken with precedents of respect for days of worship. It was signed by the Rev. Irvin E. Bradford of Waukesha, secretary of the council.

Plan Called Encroachment.

"What does this opening of the duck season on Sunday do but encroach upon the sacred customs and traditions of our Christian Sabbath?" the letter asked. "It grossly discriminates against those who follow their sacred convictions and attend their appointments for divine worship and for the instruction of the children and youth in biblical teaching.

"One of your position must know that the choice day for duck shooting is the opening day. You unjustly discriminate against our Christian citizens in designating the opening day of the season as Sunday."

F. A. Wirt of Racine, Wis., spokesman for a hunters' committee, said that the federal department's policy deserves serious attention of all citizens. He said the ruling discriminated against factory workers and the employed.

Short Work Week Cited.

"With the short week and the large numbers out of employment it is no favor to them to put the opening day on Sunday," he said. "If the season opened on Saturday they could have Saturday for hunting, be with their families on Sunday, and at work on Monday. A Sunday opening is totally unnecessary and completely disregards the long established policy of state and nation of respecting the Sabbath day."

It also was said that Sunday hunting is prohibited in many counties. Mr. Wirt said that the opening date discriminates against Wisconsin duck hunters in favor of those in Illinois and other states in the central zone, where the season opens Oct. 22 instead of Oct. 1. The regulations permit Illinois hunters to shoot coots from blinds over decoys on Oct. 1.

"It will be easy to mistake a duck for a coot," Mr. Wirt said. "Wisconsin hunters have long requested an open season on geese continued after the close of the duck season because geese come down from the north so late. Under the present regulation Illinois hunters virtually have 21 more days in their hunting season than those of Wisconsin."

OSHKOSH SELLS LINSKEY.

Oshkosh, Wis., Sept. 18 [Special].—The Oshkosh all stars, professional basketball team, today sold Frank Linskey, to the Chicago Bruins. He is a guard.

Set Handicaps in Elgin Road Race Tonight

Allotment of handicap and charts of the 50 mile course over which 500 bicycle racers will travel in the George F. Barrett A. C.s 13th annual Elgin to Chicago cycling race Sunday will be given to the contestants tonight by John Mesch, Central A. A. U. official, at the Belgium cycling clubhouse.

The charted course is said to be the fastest ever for the event. New concrete highways makes for a top speed racing strip, according to Paul Staff, veteran track surveyor and Carl Stockholm, veteran professional rider. The record of 1 hour 41 minutes from Elgin to Chicago was set by Auggie Benson in 1931.

Most of the Chicago stars will ride in the state championships tomorrow night at Humboldt park and for the remainder of the week will train on the charted highway route.

LOUIS AND PASTOR WIND UP DRILLS FOR TITLE MATCH

Challenger Is Nervous as Big Chance Nears.

Irish attorney, who is the political power in Livingston county and a former assistant to Frank Murphy when the attorney general was governor of the state, have taken charge.

No one of these men ever has seen a heavyweight fight, but all are convinced Pastor will win, a confidence that is engendered more by their liking for the challenger than by logical comparison of his ability with that of the champion. Pastor now is living in Dougherty's home and the seclusion and secrecy of movement is somewhat reminiscent of the Speculator, N. Y., hideout where Max Baer worried over his engagement with Louis four years ago.

Pastor seldom is without companions and one of these men likely will be in the group. Bob talks confidently of the fight and for local publicity statements has signed himself as the "heavyweight champion," but he cannot mask his worry. Wednesday night, of course, is the most important in his career. If he wins, he will have achieved wealth. If he is beaten, his 17½ per cent of the net receipts quite likely will be his last large purse.

There's That Blood Pressure.

We do not charge that Pastor is afraid to meet Louis. Bob has fought 10 rounds with Louis and even without this recommendation, in his other fights he never has shown the slightest fear. Indeed, in many of his early professional bouts, he won after he himself had been knocked down. But there is a nerve racking suspense for him, a highly imaginative athlete, to which Louis never has been subjected. Moreover, no one has explained why Pastor's blood pressure is over 150, a mark most unusual for a young boxer and even a reason for worry to a nonathlete.

So far there has been little betting on the fight. Louis is quoted as an 8 to 5 favorite without apparent reason for the men who have announced these odds believe 3 to 1 will be the final price. As usual, interest centers on the round the fight will end, for it is considered almost an impossibility for the contest to go twenty rounds.

Detroit takes civic pride in the apparent financial success of the fight for while there is no reason to believe it will reach the $500,000, a figure optimistically claimed, the more likely top of $350,000 is still larger than the contest rates in view of Pastor's previous defeat by Joe and his recent record.

Sahlin Takes Right Half Job at N. U.

Northwestern's football team started its second week of practice yesterday with continued emphasis on fundamentals as Coach Lynn Waldorf endeavored to bring the squad to a peak for the Oklahoma game on Oct. 7. Kicking, passing, tackling, and blocking were all stressed in the workout.

The battle for right half gained further impetus through a leg injury which put Iggy Mesec, No. 1 candidate, out of action for several days. Elmer Sahlin, small but shifty, has been elevated to the first team.

CHANGE PURDUE LINE.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 18 [Special].—Several changes in Purdue's line were made today as Coach Mal Elward sought to improve the blocking, particularly down field, in preparation for the season's opener with Notre Dame at South Bend on Sept. 30.

Somewhat disappointed in the blocking of veteran ends, Elward gave William Combs, sophomore from Lowell, and Ralph Lehr, senior reserve from Noblesville, a push up the ladder in this afternoon's scrimmage. Tom Melton, sophomore from Lowell, supplanted the veteran Carl Verplank at right guard.

OHIO COACH PLEASED.

Columbus, O., Sept. 18 [Special].—Scrimmages continued for the Ohio State squad today as coach Francis Schmidt attempted to iron out deficiencies noted in the practice game between four picked squads Saturday. Taking everything as a whole the Buckeye coach was well pleased with the first week's drills, especially the spirit of the squad.

"The fine blocking of Strausbaugh and Zadworney in the half back positions is more than pleasing and if the others can do as well this week, I'll be satisfied," Schmidt said today.

NOTRE DAME TACKLES.

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 18 [Special].—Coach Elmer Layden returned his Notre Dame football squad to blocking and tackling today, with stress on the latter, following a noon lecture in which he reviewed Saturday's scrimmage.

The reign of Bob Saggau, Ben Sheridan, and Harry Stevenson as the first three left half backs appeared to have ended with the advancement of Bill McGannon to the second team Saturday.

GOPHERS SCORE 4 TIMES.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 18 [Special].—The University of Minnesota football team had its first scrimmage today. It lasted only 20 minutes, the varsity scoring four times against the reserves.

MICHIGAN PROMOTES TWO.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 18 [Special].—The results of Michigan's first formal scrimmage of the season showed up in today's double drill on defense when Coach Fritz Crisler moved Milo Sukup, veteran guard, and Bob Westfall, sophomore full back, up to the first eleven.

DRISCOLL LEANS TO 1ST YEAR MEN AT MARQUETTE

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 18.—Twenty-four of the 47 men invited to report to head Coach John [Paddy] Driscoll for football practice at Marquette university two weeks ago are sophomores. Of the remaining 23 thirteen are juniors.

A preponderance of first year material in the past has been accepted in collegiate football as a harbinger of a poor season. Because of their inexperience, sophomores were not deemed trustworthy. But there has been a marked trend to the other extreme this fall, due in a large measure perhaps to the success last season of Notre Dame's Bob Saggau and Michigan's triplets, Tom Harmon, Forest Evashevski, and Paul Kromer.

Sophs Grow in Favor.

Everywhere the camp prowler finds coaches depending more and more on sophomores, grooming them for heavy duty and basing hopes for a successful season on their ability to deliver.

Marquette embarked on a heavy schedule last year with a sophomore line and very little able back field material. Its only victory was a 7 to 0 triumph over Southern Methodist on Soldiers' field, in Chicago, although Texas Christian and Wisconsin, two of the country's better football teams, were the only teams able to pile up one sided scores against it.

Open Season with Badgers.

This year's schedule, although composed of the same teams with the exception of Texas Christian, which has been replaced by Duquesne, does not appear to be quite as strenuous. Wisconsin, of course, heads the list. The Badgers open their season, and Marquette's, at Madison, one week from Saturday.

Driscoll has an excellent line, led by Ray Apolskis, one of the middlewest's leading centers, and Don Vosberg and Gilbert Thomsen, fine ends, working behind a back field composed of two sophomores, a junior and a senior, in which Reginald Coldagelli, the senior and John Goodyear, a sophomore from La Grange, Ill., are expected to carry the brunt of offensive.

Rice Can Carry the Ball.

The other sophomore in the starting backfield will be either Doug Renzel of Washington high school in Milwaukee, or Fred Rice, of Fremont, O., who also plays half back.

William Phillips, a junior, who played full back last fall, has the call at quarter back, where he surpasses three other candidates as a blocker. Bob McCahill, a sophomore from Whitefish Bay, Wis., is the best all around man among the quarter backs.

Other backs highly regarded are Stephen Seskowski, a junior from St. Rita, in Chicago, who is the best defensive player among the full backs; Norman Woods, from Leo High in Chicago, a junior half back, who is the squad's outstanding kicker; James Richardson, sophomore half back from Milwaukee, an excellent passer; John Maltsch, a senior, who has shown flashes of greatness despite his 145 pounds, and Edward O'Brien, a 180 pound half back from St. Philip, in Chicago.

Much Depends on Fugate.

James Briggs, a junior from Horace Mann in Gary, Ind., is the No. 2 man in this position. David Braden, a senior, the fastest lineman on the squad and Robert Kemnitz, a junior, have first call on the guards where Marquette is especially well fortified.

Tackle is the only line position giving Driscoll concern and all worries there will be eliminated if William Fugate, a sophomore transferred from full back, comes through. Fugate is from Morton High school in Cicero. Starting assignments will go to Ray Busler and Tom Woods.

The Man Who Never Grows Old

Illini Varsity Beats Second Eleven, 14-0

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 18 (AP).—Illinois began its second week of football drills today with another scrimmage, which the first team won from the No. 2 eleven, 14 to 0.

Chuck Purvis, junior letter man from Glenville, Ga., who replaced Sophomore Jimmy Smith at left half, fired two short passes to Paul Milosevich, sophomore end from Zeigler, Ill., for the touchdowns. George Rettinger, veteran full back, kicked the extra points.

BADGER OFFENSE DRILLED.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 18 [Special].—Ideal football weather prevailed at Camp Randall today as Coach Harry Stuhldreher, hoping to uncover more offensive punch, sent the Badgers through two stiff sessions in preparation for the Marquette game a week from Saturday.

HOOSIER LINEUP CHANGED.

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 18 [Special].—Coach Bo McMillin made several changes in the lineup of the Indiana university football squad today in an effort to strengthen weak spots which appeared in scrimmage Saturday.

PROBABLE MAJOR LEAGUE PITCHERS IN TODAY'S GAMES

New York, Sept. 18 (AP).—Probable pitchers in the major leagues tomorrow [won-and-lost records in parentheses]:

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Philadelphia at Cincinnati—Higbe [10-13] vs. Walters [25-10].

Brooklyn at St. Louis—Pressnell [8-6] vs. Lanier [0-1] or Weiland [10-12].

Boston at Pittsburgh—Turner [4-9] vs. Butcher [6-17].

New York at Chicago—Salvo [4-10] vs. French [13-7].

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Chicago at New York—Smith [8-8] vs. Hildebrand [8-5] or Chandler [2-0].

St. Louis at Boston—Kennedy [9-20] vs. Wilson [8-10].

Cleveland at Washington—Eisenstat [7-9] vs. Krauskas [10-16] or Carrasquel [5-9].

Dave Wiedemann Is Handy Man of Maroon Football

Figuring that this is the week in which to build an offensive to beat Beloit, Wabash, and Oberlin and perhaps worry Michigan, Harvard, and Ohio State, Coach Clark Shaughnessy speeded the tempo of practice on the Midway yesterday and plans a stifffer workout today. Hot weather and sore muscles last week and University of Chicago class registrations next week mean that the next five days offer the maximum chance for development.

Most versatile man on the Maroon squad is Dave Wiedemann, who although he is being groomed for a tackle post, also is included in punting and passing practices .

ANDERSON EXPERIMENTS.

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 18 [Special].—Iowa's first string back field combination was broken up by Coach Eddie Anderson today to make room for three sophomores as the Hawkeyes resumed twice daily practice sessions under normal September temperatures.

264 WOMEN PLAY TO SET DISTRICT GOLFING RECORD

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Manager Chick Bangs and Professional Ren Smith of the Oak Park Country club were up bright and early yesterday morning to welcome the final tournament and annual election of officers of the Chicago Women's District Golf association. They had made preparations for a field of 150 players for this tenth anniversary tourney of the association. Before they knew what was happening, they had to work overtime to get 264 swingers out on the course.

Yesterday's field will stand as the largest attendance at a Chicago district one day event in local golf history. The previous recorded high was the 175 men who teed off in a C. G. D. A. one day handicap tournament at Beverly several years ago.

Ranking Stars Lead Field.

It was fitting that the competitive program of the day should be headed in gross scoring by two stars who had distinguished themselves throughout the regular C. W. D. G. A. season. Playing in the two ball foursome which was the order of the day, Ellamae Williams of Medinah and Mrs. Lillian Zech of Tam o' Shanter won first low gross with a card of 40—39—79, even par for Oak Park. Miss Williams won the association's state and district titles for the season, while Mrs. Zech was runner-up in the district tournament and also captured the champion of champions' event.

Other gross winners were Mrs. Tim Lowry and Mrs. Lester Cohn of Sunset Valley, 43—47—90; Mrs. A. R. Copeland and Eleanor Litsinger of Beverly, 47—44—91; Elizabeth Wing and Mrs. W. L. Graham of Glen View, 46—46—92, and Mrs. Robert McKay and Ruth Hunt of Exmoor, 45—48—93.

Second, Mrs. J. O. Mesa-Mrs. Robert Murray, Wilmette, 97—18—79.

Fifth, Mrs. S. B. Roney-Mrs. W. M. Olsen, Riverside, 114—32—82.

Elect New Officers.

Mrs. Andrew D. Collins of North Shore was elected president of the association for the 1940 season. Other officers included Mrs. Gross Williams of Sunset Ridge, vice president; Mrs. Frank P. Hammond of Olympia Fields, membership chairman; Mrs. A. D. Hermann of Sunset Ridge, secretary; Margaret Keirnan of Exmoor, treasurer; Mrs. G. M. Mellor of River Forest, handicap chairman; Mrs. Glen E. Dewey of Lincolnshire, rules chairman, and Mrs. George C. Tunell of Skokie, chairman of team matches.

Yankees Decide to Quit Fooling; Beat Browns, 6-2

New York, Sept. 18 (AP).—The world champion New York Yankees, after losing twice to the tailend St. Louis Browns yesterday, went to work early today, scoring five runs in the first three innings and then coasting to a 6 to 2 triumph over the Brownies.

FRANKIE AGNES BEATS SEWARD IN 4 ROUNDER

A crowd of 1,884 gave Agnes a tremendous ovation as he rallied in the last two rounds to win the unanimous decision of Referee Johnny Behr and Judges Carl Witt and Harold Marovitz. The setback snapped Seward's string of seven victories.

Yanks Place World Series Tickets on Sale

New York, Sept. 18 [Special].—Edward Barrow, president of the Yankees, today announced that reserved seats in the Yankee stadium for the world series have gone on sale. Tickets are to be sold in blocks of three, for the first, second and sixth games. The third, fourth and fifth have been scheduled for the National league city.

Grandstand reserved seats are $16.50 for the block. Box seats are $19.80 for the three contests. Unreserved grandstand seats will be sold at $3.30, with gates opening daily at 9:30 o'clock in the morning. Bleacher accommodations will be $1.10.

There will be 22,000 upper grandstand and 16,000 bleacher seats on sale before each game in the Stadium—38,000 in all. These unreserved accommodations will outnumber by 8,000 the present capacity of Crosley field in Cincinnati, and by 10,000 the seating arrangement in St. Louis.

The New York club is not selling world series tickets over the counter. Reservations must be accompanied by money order or certified check—not by cash. Tickets will be delivered through registered mail. If there is no third game in the Yankee park there will be a refund for that ticket.

PIRATES DEFEAT PHILLIES ON TWO HOME RUNS, 7-4

Vaughan and Van Robays Furnish Margin.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 18 (AP).—The smallest crowd at Forbes field in years saw Arky Vaughan and Maurice Van Robays hammer out home runs today to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 7 to 4 victory over Philadelphia in the final game of the season between the two teams.

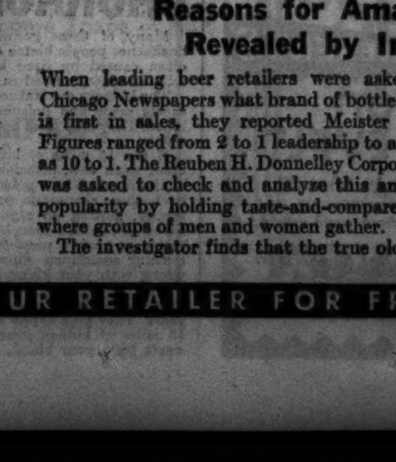
A NOTED CHICAGOLAND SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA VOTES MEISTER BRÄU BEST—42 to 6

When the members of one of Chicago's best known symphony orchestras were asked to taste Meister Bräu Beer, compare it with other brands, and vote their preferences by secret ballot, 7 out of 8 said, "I prefer Meister Bräu to any other bottled beer."

This orchestra is composed of men who are active in the professions and a wide variety of businesses in Chicago. Music with them is a hobby and a recreation. But, while enjoying themselves together, they have developed their talents to become one of the top-ranking musical organization of Chicagoland.

WE COULD SAVE TIME AND MONEY BY ADDING SUGARS AND SYRUPS BUT WE WON'T CHANGE OUR OLD-TIME, ALL-GRAIN FLAVOR

—by RICHARD SEIBOLD, Meister Bräu Brewmaster



Richard Seibold invites you to try Meister Bräu Draft Beer—Made with the same care and skill—Ask at your favorite Bar

Reasons for Amazing Swing to This Beer Revealed by Independent Investigator

When leading beer retailers were asked by Chicago Newspapers what brand of bottled beer is first in sales, they reported Meister Bräu. Figures ranged from 2 to 1 leadership to as high as 10 to 1. The Reuben H. Donnelley Corporation was asked to check and analyze this amazing popularity by holding taste-and-compare tests where groups of men and women gather.

The investigator finds that the true old-time flavor of Meister Bräu explains its tremendous popularity, and that Chicagoans appreciate the all-grain flavor which Richard Seibold, Meister Bräu Brewmaster, preserves by refusing to add sugars or syrups to the brew, or to change his method of brewing with natural draft-beer carbonation only.

SECOND LEHMAN MAY BE KEY MAN IN GOVERNMENT

Brother of Governor Out for Chief Judge.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 18.—As the result of an unparalleled political situation which is looming here two of the three branches of the New York state government may fall into the hands of the Lehman family this fall.

Herbert H. Lehman is already governor and has headed the executive department since 1933. His brother, Irving, is slated to become chief judge of the Court of Appeals, highest judicial tribunal in the state of New York. The Democratic state committee, with Postmaster General James A. Farley wielding the gavel as chairman, will nominate Lehman for the post next Wednesday. The election is Nov. 7.

Now Associate Judge.

Irving Lehman is now an associate judge of the Court of Appeals. If nominated and elected he would succeed the present chief judge, Frederick E. Crane, who was elected as a Republican in 1920. Judge Crane will leave the court next year at the statutory retirement age of 70 years after a long and distinguished career on the bench.

Meanwhile, strong pressure is being exerted on the Republicans to nominate Lehman and thus sidestep a contest. Word has been conveyed that the governor will appoint a Republican to the Judge Crane Appeals bench vacancy and the Democrats will indorse him for reëlection next year if the G. O. P. doesn't start a scrap.

It is being argued that the appointment of another Republican to the bench will preserve its "political balance." This is hard for the layman to understand numerically, since there are four Democrats and three Republicans on the court today.

Raise Anti-Semitism Issue.

Democratic strategists point out the Republicans do not dare oppose Lehman because they would be accused of anti-Semitism. The Lehman brothers, members of the wealthy family which guides the destiny of the Wall street investment house of the same name, are Jews.

However, the executive committee and board of governors of the Association of New York State Republican clubs went on record last month as opposing the Lehman candidacy. Their resolution declared for "maintaining at all times in the state as well as in the nation, the fundamental principle of keeping the executive, judicial and legislative departments of the government each wholly independent of the other."

Although various bar associations have indorsed the Lehman candidacy, there is considerable grumbling among lawyers over having two brothers holding down the two highest offices in the state. One of the criticisms most often heard is that Judge Lehman has unqualifiedly upheld Gov. Lehman's "little New Deal" legislative program when legal tests reached the high court.

La Guardia Considers Running.

One of the strangest moves in the whole picture was made recently by Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia. The mayor let it be known—but refused to let reporters quote him on it—that he might run for chief judge.

This was generally regarded as a trial balloon. It is said La Guardia, who hopes some day to occupy the White House, thought such a race might test his strength in the counties upstate [outside of New York City] which are strongly Republican. La Guardia, who has run as a Republican, Socialist, Labor party member, or Roosevelt supporter whenever the occasion appeared best, has never attempted to get an office outside New York City.

M. E. MULLEN SR., RETIRED POLICE CAPTAIN, DEAD

Martin E. Mullen Sr., retired police captain and civilian supervisor of the police morals division, died early today in the St. Francis hospital, Evanston, of a gall bladder ailment. He would have been 65 years old next month. He was a former deputy commissioner.

Capt. Mullen, one of the best known officers on the force, joined the department in 1900. He was made a sergeant in 1905, a lieutenant in 1920, and a captain in 1921. From 1928 to 1930 he served as deputy commissioner. In 1935 he was appointed supervising captain of north side police.

Shortly afterward Capt. Mullen was given charge of the morals division, which also included gambling. When he retired as captain in October, 1937, under the compulsory age limit of 63, he was retained in his post as civilian supervisor, a job he held at his death. He is survived by two sons, Capt. Martin E. Mullen Jr., of the Racine avenue station, and the Rev. Gerald Mullen, athletic director at De Paul university, and a daughter, Dorothy. Funeral services will be held Thursday. The Mullen home is at 1221 Arthur avenue.

HOSPITAL CARE PLAN APPROVED BY ASSOCIATION

Reapproval by the American Hospital association of Chicago's Plan for Hospital Care was announced yesterday. The association annually examines the position of hospital sponsored insurance plans in 54 cities. The Chicago Plan was found to have "sound administrative policies and a financial position which adequately protects the public and the member hospitals." The Plan for Hospital Care is the sixth largest of the hospitalization groups. It was organized here in 1937 and includes 135,000 subscribers and family members who are protected through contracts with 75 participating hospitals in the Chicago area.

DR. IRA M. PRICE, RETIRED U. OF C. PROFESSOR, DIES

Dr. Ira Maurice Price, professor emeritus of Semitic languages at the University of Chicago, died yesterday in his summer home near Olympia, Wash. He was 83 years old.

Dr. Ira M. Price.

Dr. Price, regarded as one of the leading Semitic scholars in the United States, retired from the university in 1925 after thirty-three years of service on the faculty. He was a member of the first faculty in 1892.

He was born near Newark, O., and educated at Denison university, the Baptist Union Theological seminary, and the University of Leipzig. He was the author of many important research papers and eleven books including "The Monuments and the Old Testament." His Chicago home was at 6127 Greenwood avenue.

PICKET FOR LOVE CHARGES COURT ORDER DEFIANCE

Fred Bowker, 21 years old, who established a one-man picket line at the home of his bride after her parents refused to recognize their elopement, told Judge Cornelius J. Harrington yesterday that her family had refused to let him see her, as ordered by the court a week ago.

Bowker, an inventor, of 216 South Harvey avenue, Oak Park, asked that Lee S. Landon, uncle of the bride, the former Lorraine Landon, 16, an Oak Park high school student, be cited for contempt of court. Landon's counsel, Harry X. Cole, said the bride was unable to see Bowker because she was convalescing from an appendicitis operation performed Saturday.

Judge Harrington suggested that Bowker have a physician examine the girl to confirm the uncle's statement and continued the hearing until Thursday. Bowker eloped to Kentucky with the girl July 15, but asserted that she has been held captive at the home of her grandparents at 700 South Lombard avenue, Oak Park.

CHICAGOAN HOME FROM PLANE TRIP AROUND WORLD

Oscar L. Moore, research expert for the Trade Association Executives of Chicago, arrived at Chicago airport yesterday, completing what was believed to be the last round the world flight on commercial air lines since the start of the European war. Moore, who lives at 305 Ridge avenue, Winnetka, left London aboard an Imperial Airways plane just before war was declared and traveled on one of the last planes to carry commercial passengers to Hong Kong, China. From there he caught Pan-American Airways' Pacific Clipper to the United States and rode a United Airlines plane from San Francisco here.

Father and Two Sons Killed in Auto Crash

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 18 [Special].—Clement O. Spraggins, 55 years old, and two sons, Lloyd, 22, and Dale, 15, were killed today, and another son, Joseph, 20, was injured when their car collided with a truck east of here.

The driver of the truck, Gordon Callison, 21, of Janesville, Wis., and the owner, Joseph Kohlenberg of Beloit, Wis., were detained pending an investigation.

KILLS HIMSELF IN HOME.

Alexander Kochanski, 70 years old, shot and killed himself yesterday in his home at 5510 Drummond place. His wife said he had been ill for several years.

OBITUARIES

Lawrence Yates Sherman.

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 18 [Special].—Lawrence Yates Sherman, one of Illinois' world war senators, will be buried Thursday at Montrose, Ill., the home of his late wife, Estelle Spitler Sherman. He died Friday night at the age of 80 in Daytona Beach, Fla., where he had made his home in recent years. A brother-in-law, Prof. J. C. Spitler of the University of Illinois' school of agriculture, announced today funeral services would be held in Springfield at 1 p. m. Thursday in the Masonic temple.

Cornelis Dopper.

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, Sept. 18.—Cornelis Dopper, composer and second conductor of the Amsterdam Concertgebouw from 1908 to 1931, died here today. He was 69 years old. Among his best known works are "Ciaconna Gotica" and the "Zuiderzee" symphony. He toured America in 1907. Dopper wrote seven symphonies and several operas and choral works.

Col. Charles F. Andrews.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 18 [Special].—Col. Charles F. Andrews, 63, U. S. A. retired, died yesterday at Letterman hospital. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism at Paranas Samar, Philippine Islands, March 11, 1900.

Henry Broughton Thompson.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 18 [Canadian Press]. — Henry Broughton Thompson, 70, controler of food in Canada at the end of the world war and a former member of the British Columbia legislature, died yesterday after a short illness.

Georges Pitoeff.

GENEVA, Sept. 18 (AP).—Russian born Georges Pitoeff, actor famed in France for his interpretation of Ibsen rôles, died here today. He was 55 years old.

GIRL UNWANTED BY HER PARENTS IGNORES JUDGE

Shirley Boese, 17 years old, whom neither of her divorced parents wanted because of her habit of keeping late hours, failed to appear before Judge Rudolph Desort yesterday to give an accounting of how she had kept the curfew set for her by the court two months ago.

Judge Desort instructed Miss Elizabeth Perry, attorney for the bureau of public welfare, to make an investigation. He said he would issue an attachment if the girl fails to appear, adding that neither the wishes of her parents nor the fact that she is a dance orchestra singer affected her status as a ward of the court.

In July Judge Desort ordered Shirley to remain with her mother, Mrs. Edna Boese Elmstrom, 8020 Vernon avenue, and to be home five nights a week at 11 o'clock, one night at midnight, and one by 2:30 a. m. Mrs. Elmstrom, who said that Shirley was intractable, had sought to shift her custody to the girl's father, Roy Boese, who demurred on the ground that she would disturb his remarriage.

75 High School Students Strike for Football Team

Cuba, Ill., Sept. 18 [Special].—Seventy-five of the 150 Cuba high school pupils went on strike today and refused to attend classes until the board of education agrees to the restoration of football, discontinued six years ago for economy. The strikers marched around the town of 2,500 carrying signs reading, "No Football, No School."

CHIEF ENGINEER MISSING FROM LAKE STEAMER

The mysterious disappearance of John Duncan, chief engineer of the S. S. New York News, was reported yesterday by radio by the vessel's captain to T. C. Brand, trafic manager of THE TRIBUNE.

The ship had finished discharging its paper cargo at The Tribune's warehouses early Sunday and sailed at 5 a. m. for Fort William, Ont. Duncan was seen on deck five minutes before the ship sailed. About three hours out he was missed. The ship was searched, but there was no trace of the engineer.

Duncan was in his 40s, was 5 feet 10 inches tall, and weighed about 200 pounds. He had black curly hair and bushy black eyebrows. He has a wife and one child at Thorold or St. Catherines, Ont.

The ship reported from off the Straits of Mackinac about 3 p. m. yesterday. The coast guard and the Chicago police were notified.

A. FOLLANSBEE, VETERAN BROKER, DIES IN HOSPITAL

Alanson Follansbee, a La Salle street broker for many years, died Sunday night in the Evanston hospital. He was 61 years old. Mr. Follansbee, who spent most of his time each year at his home at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., was visiting his sister, Mrs. William G. Hibbard, 820 Willow road, Winnetka, when he became ill a few days ago. He was graduated from Harvard in 1900. In the world war he was a captain of infantry in the 84th division. Surviving are his widow, Belle Van Ashlyn Follansbee; three sisters, Mrs. Hibbard, Mrs. Brown Caldwell, and Mrs. William Browne Hale, and a brother, Mitchell D. Follansbee, Chicago attorney. Funeral services will be private.

FORMER PRINCICPAL, 3 OTHERS INDICTED FOR SAFE ROBBERY

Hillsboro, Ill., Sept. 18 (AP).—Four men, one a former school principal, were indicted by a special Montgomery county grand jury today on charges of grand larceny and receiving stolen property in the theft of a safe containing $13,000 from the home of William J. Hoehn at Nokomis, Ill.

Named jointly in the indictments returned before Circuit Judge James J. Burnside of Vandalia were William A. Bote, Nokomis, former principal of a public school in Coalton, Ill.; Edward Schaper, Nokomis; Ray Lynn, Moweaqua, and Ben Wharton, Effingham.

The safe, containing cash and securities, was stolen from the Hoehn home Jan. 18, 1937. The four men indicted were arrested in June this year.

FLAMES SWEEP GARAGE; 3 CARS, 9 TRUCKS SAVED

Truck drivers and employés drove nine trailer trucks and three passenger cars to safety yesterday when flames swept through the garage and freight station of the Akron-Chicago Transportation company at 3915 South Halsted street. Another truck and passenger car were destroyed, along with a large quantity of merchandise.

Henry Eckhardt, fire attorney from the corporation counsel's office, estimated damage to the building at $50,000 and loss on the contents at $40,000, a total of $90,000.

Because the garage is across the street from the eastern boundary of the stock yards, 30 fire companies were sent to the scene. Forrester Taylor, an Akron truck driver, was burned while trying to save a truck. Frank Belsky of 3605 North Bell avenue, garage employé, was cut by glass from a car he was attempting to drive out. Firemen said they believed the fire was started by the explosion of 10 drums of tire cement.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

SOVIET INVASION BRINGS TUMBLE IN STOCK PRICES

'War Shares' Losses Run to 7 Points.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 18.—Heavy selling came into the stock market today as traders took a graver view of the European war as a result of Russia's entry into Poland. Prices crumbled fractions to about 7 points. Virtually all sections of the list were hit, although war stocks suffered the most severe losses.

The decline was the sharpest since the war boom got under way. Average losses were the largest since last April.

A total of 1,733,630 shares changed hands, against 1,084,280 Saturday. In all, 871 issues saw action, of which 722 declined, 72 advanced and 77 held even.

Big Selling at Opening.

Most of the damage to prices was done at the opening under an onslaught of accumulated week-end selling orders. Almost one-third of the total turnover fell in the first hour. Sales ran to blocks of 10,000 shares.

Although a steadier tone developed later, enough offerings persisted to prevent any real progress. Fresh weakness developed at the close and prices generally finished around their lows for the day.

Reports of improvement in the domestic business position, highlighted by the forecast of a new high in steel operations this week, were believed by observers to have been entirely overshadowed by the turn of events in the war.

Weigh Effect on Business.

Talk in Wall street centered on whether Russia's entry would prolong the war or cause England and France to seek an end of the hostilities, thus proscribing any benefit to United States business. Underlying these calculations, it was said, was speculation as to the outcome of the special "neutrality" session of congress later this week.

Bethlehem Steel was one of the weakest issues dropping 7 points. United States Steel lost 6⅝ points. Republic, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, and Crucible gave up 1 to 3 points.

Douglas was hard hit in the aviations, closing 5 points lower at 70 after selling at 69. Declines running to more than 2 points were recorded by United Aircraft, Sperry corporation, Glenn Martin, Consolidated Aircraft, and Boeing. Curtiss-Wright and North American Aviation were active on the downside.

Allied, off 5, and du Pont, off 2¾, were chief losers in the chemical section. Losses in shipbuilding shares ran to 3¾ points in American Shipbuilding.

Coppers Share Selling.

Coppers were uniformly lower, with Anaconda, Kennecott, Phelps Dodge, American Smelting, and International Nickel losing 1 to more than 2 points.

In the motors Chrysler lost 3 and General Motors 1⅝ points. Oils showed losses running to 1¾ points in Standard Oil [New Jersey] and 2⅝ in Texas corporation.

Sharp reverses were scored in Westinghouse, General Electric, International Harvester, American Telephone, and American Can.

Rail shares followed the general trend, with New York Central dropping 1½ points. Southern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Great Northern preferred, Chesapeake and Ohio, Delaware and Hudson, and Santa Fe also had losses exceeding a point.

Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck fell 2⅝ and 1½ points respectively. Most building shares gave ground, Johns-Manville losing 2 points.

ST. LOUIS SHOE MANUFACTURERS INCREASE PRICES

Shoe manufacturers in St. Louis, Mo., yesterday reported prices of regular lines have been increased from 5 to 15 cents a pair since the beginning of the European war.

Frank C. Rand, chairman of International Shoe company, said the price boost reflected only a part of rising costs of manufacture. Orders increased 25 to 40 per cent following a rise of 40 to 50 per cent in hides, Rand asserted.

Two manufacturers in St. Louis have received orders for 255,000 pairs of shoes and boots for the army, but the contracts were let before the outbreak of the war, it was said.

Hall Printing May Borrow Funds to Redeem Bonds

A special meeting of stockholders of the W. F. Hall Printing company has been called for Sept. 26 to vote on a plan to retire on Nov. 1 $5,254,000 of 6 per cent bonds, due May 1, 1947. The plan provides for the sale of $3,000,000 of 4 per cent mortgage bonds to an insurance company and for bank loans of $1,500,000 at 2½ per cent.

18,000 See North Western Road's '400' Streamliner

A crowd estimated at 18,000 persons yesterday viewed the "400," the Chicago and North Western railroad's new streamliner, which was on exhibit at the North Western station. The "400" was to leave early this morning on an exhibition tour which will include an all day stopover today in Milwaukee.

No American Stocks Traded by Canadians

Trading of American stocks on the Montreal and Toronto Curb markets was at a halt yesterday. Although the Montreal market posted a list of American issues admitted to trading privileges in the unlisted section, security holders continued to exercise caution following the enactment of wartime exchange control laws last week.

The Toronto Stock exchange, through its curb market, admitted to trading any foreign security between Canadian residents. No trades were reported, however, either at Toronto or at Montreal.

The new Canadian foreign exchange control board on Saturday took over the regulation of Canadian exports of goods, money, and securities.

Advises Holders to Stand Pat.

Many securities dealers in Canada, as well as American brokerage houses with offices and clients in the dominion, were reported to have advised securities holders to "stand pat" until some relationship was established between New York prices for American securities and the markets for such securities in Canada.

The foreign exchange control board, headed by Graham Ford Towers, issued a summary during the day of its regulations announced Friday. The summary clarified points of the board's original restrictions.

While Canadian exchanges were inactive, most of the principal European securities markets continued under strict regulation. British funds on the London Stock exchange held to the minimum posted levels. American shares quoted for restricted sales among English holders declined several points.

Amsterdam Market Weak.

Pessimism prevailed on the Paris bourse. Royal Dutch and Suez Canal dropped sharply.

The British pound sterling depreciated in terms of the American dollar at New York. It closed at $3.81½, down 6½ cents from Saturday's final quotation. The Canadian dollar, under rigid control, declined 0.12½ cent to 89.87½ cents. The French franc lost a fraction, closing at 2.18 cents. Dutch and Swiss units rose slightly.

Morgenthau "Disturbed."

In Washington, D. C., Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau said the severe decline in the British pound in the last few days was "disturbing." He said the treasury was looking for means to "combat" speculation in the currency.

Some action is needed, Morgenthau said, because fluctuations in the value of the pound are "unsettling to the American importer and exporter." Morgenthau disclosed he had asked the New York Federal Reserve bank to inform him who has been "dumping British money" on the New York market, although he said the treasury has "a pretty good idea." He indicated he meant central banks of certain countries.

Gold Engaged in Japan.

Gold was quoted unchanged in London at 168 shillings an ounce. This was the rate recently fixed by the Bank of England. A total of $1,500,000 of gold was engaged in Japan for shipment to the United States, according to the New York Federal Reserve bank. The bank's daily gold statement also showed imports of $15,346,000 of gold from Canada.

Note circulation of the Reichsbank, the central bank of Germany, declined 361,000,000 marks [about $144,761,000] during the week ended Sept. 15, the bank's weekly statement showed. Circulation totaled 10,608 million marks [about $4,253,808,000], compared with 10,969 million marks the preceding week.

INSURANCE FIRM WILL LIMIT WAR RISK IN POLICIES

New York, Sept. 18 [Special].—The Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, one of the largest life insurance companies in the country, has adopted war risk regulations to cover the issuance of future policies, it was learned today. The new clauses, which do not affect policies already in force, were decided upon "in view of existing conditions abroad," the company said.

The provisions of the war clause will exclude, for five years, payment of insurance involving death of the insured while in naval or military service, except service with the armed forces of the United States, and will exclude, for two years, death directly or indirectly resulting from war while not in such service.

These restrictions apply, however, only while the insured is outside the continental United States. A separate travel clause also will be used in other cases where appropriate, excluding for two years death directly or indirectly as a result of war.

M'Kesson's August Sales Increase to $11,674,632

Net sales of McKesson & Robbins, Inc., in August totaled $11,674,632, according to preliminary figures released yesterday by William J. Wardell, trustee. This was an increase of 5.1 per cent over August, 1938, when sales were $11,107,907. Sales for the first eight months of this year totaled $93,673,536, an increase of 1.5 per cent over the $92,276,921 reported for the corresponding period of 1938.

Peak of Stock Boom Reached Ten Years Ago

One decade ago today the greatest stock price advance in American history reached its zenith. The Chicago Tribune average of fifty stocks closed at 311.99, a price not equaled before or since.

All America was betting recklessly on the stock market ten years ago. It was the second post-war boom. Beginning in 1921, stocks moved up in a consistent line, with only minor interruptions in 1925 and 1926, to their grand climax on Sept. 19, 1929.

By mid-October, 1929, the market had begun to skid. Before October was over it had broken wide open.

Bottom Reached in 1932.

Throughout 1930, 1931 and early 1932 there was a persistent decline in stock prices. Industry became stagnant.

The lowest point of depression, as measured by the Tribune average, was on July 8, 1932. That day the average closed at 33.98, a drop of 89 per cent from the 1929 high.

In this decline the market value of all listed stocks on the New York Stock exchange fell more than 74 billion dollars. The decline was from $89,668,276,854 on Sept. 1, 1929, to $15,633,479,577 on July 1, 1932. Throughout the country people lost possessions which it had taken many years to accumulate.

The market began to climb back after July 8, 1932. The Tribune average of fifty stocks touched 144.44 on Nov. 10, 1936, high point of the recovery from the 1932 lows. The average receded from the high, but came back to 142.93 on March 8, 1937. A decline through most of 1937 and 1938, followed by a recent upturn, left the average yesterday at 106.77.

A comparison of the market prices of some of the leading stocks is given in the following table:

TWO COMPANIES BOOST WAGES TO RESTORE SLASH

Waterbury, Conn., Sept. 18 [Special].—The American Brass company today announced a 10 per cent increase in pay for the 11,000 workers in its six plants.

The boost will restore wages to the level of April, 1938, when a cut was imposed, Harold Madden, labor superintendent of the company, said. The plants are in Kenosha, Wis.; Detroit, Mich.; Buffalo, N. Y., and in Ansonia, Torrington, and Waterbury, Conn.

The Chase Brass and Copper company here also said it was restoring a 10 per cent pay cut taken by its 5,000 hourly and piece rate workers last spring. The Chase company is a subsidiary of the Kennecott Copper company.

Surface Lines' August Trafic Exceeds Year Ago

The number of revenue passengers carried by the Chicago Surface lines in August increased 0.92 per cent to 54,124,227 from 53,630,146 in August, 1938, the company reported yesterday.

BUTTER FUTURES DROP IN HEAVIEST SETBACK SINCE OPENING OF WAR

Butter futures yesterday experienced their severest setback since the European war began, closing with losses of 0.45 cent a pound. November futures closed at 27.20 cents a pound.

Weakness in the cash market, declines in outside markets, and weather favorable to production were factors stimulating selling on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. Cash butter prices closed unchanged to ¼ cent a pound lower.

The Federal Surplus Commodities corporation reëntered the egg market and bought 12,000 dozen of fresh graded firsts at a price 2 cents higher than was previously paid. Traders in egg futures ignored the FSCC action, however, and futures prices sank 0.35 to 0.45 cent a dozen, with Octobers closing at 17.45 cents.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL SHOWS $167,735 LOSS FOR MONTH

A net loss of $167,735 for July was reported yesterday by the Illinois Central railroad, compared with net income of $5,517 during the corresponding month last year. The road's net loss for the first seven months of 1939 declined to $1,716,047, from $1,925,299 in the 1938 period.

Union Pacific railroad system had net income of $942,172 during July, against $1,675,988 last year. For the seven months, net income totaled $3,878,707, equal to 70 cents a common share, compared with $3,827,361, or 67 cents a share, a year earlier.

CARGILL GRAIN HEARING OPENS AT MINNEAPOLIS

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 18 [Special].—Hearings on the complaint of Secretary Wallace against Cargill, Inc., Minneapolis grain firm, charging market manipulations in September and December, 1937, corn futures and in cash corn during the life of the futures contract, began today before Jack W. Bain, referee.

The first day of the hearing was confined to the introduction of government statistical material and charts pertaining to grain price fluctuations during the period of the alleged manipulations. Cargill attorneys made frequent objections that the material was irrelevant. Several legal questions as to the permissibility of exhibits offered by the government also were raised, with Cargill attorneys filing exceptions to almost every exhibit and the referee overruling the objections.

The government has indicated that the hearing here will last two months.

Larger Quotas Break Prices of Tin Futures

The international tin committee yesterday released large supplies of tin when it boosted third quarter production quotas for the second time since the European war began. Quotas were raised 20 points to 100 per cent of standard tonnages. On Sept. 12 the quotas were raised from 60 to 80 per cent.

New York tin futures responded with a decline of 3.55 to 4.75 cents a pound. Cash tin was unquoted for the second successive business day. The last posted quotation was 70 cents a pound, compared with a recent peak of 75 cents, and a 49 cent quotation before the war began.

Britain Fixes Tin Prices.

At the same time the British ministry of supply decreed a fixed price of £230 per ton would be paid for tin in Britain. This is equivalent to less than 42 cents a pound in American money.

Other New York commodity futures turned downward. Copper futures lost 0.41 to 0.47 cent a pound, but the quotation on domestic refined copper was unchanged at 12 cents a pound. Smelters reduced the quotation on scrap copper ¼ cent to the equivalent of 12 cents for refined. Lead was slightly lower and zinc was unchanged in futures trading.

Zinc mining and smelting interests asked the committee for reciprocity information at Washington, D. C., to restore the 20 per cent zinc tarif cuts permitted in the reciprocity treaty with Canada. They contended the tarif cuts lowered the London price to a base they could not meet.

Wool Advance Halted.

Hides lost 0.26 to 0.30 cent a pound, cocoa declined 0.15 to 0.22 cent, cottonseed oil lost about ¼ cent a pound, and smaller declines were registered for coffee and sugar.

Rubber futures closed irregular, 0.05 cent a pound higher to 0.45 cent lower. Cash rubber declined ½ cent to 21¾ cents. Silk futures were also uneven, with final prices 4 cents a pound higher to 10½ cents lower.

USE OF CHECKS DIPS, BUT RUNS ABOVE YEAR AGO

Check transactions in the seventh [Chicago] federal reserve district in the week ended Sept. 13 decreased 4.4 per cent from the preceding week's total, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday. The volume was 14.6 per cent larger than in the corresponding week last year.

Debits to individual deposit accounts [checks written] in the latest week as reported by 159 banks in 41 principal clearing house cities in the district totaled $1,160,769,000. The total was $1,214,175,000 in the preceding week and $1,013,258,000 in the corresponding week last year.

Checks written against Chicago accounts amounted to $703,584,000, against $820,227,000 in the preceding week and $586,837,000 in the corresponding week a year ago.

RAILS OFFERED LOW RATE LOANS FOR EQUIPMENT

Jones Expects Boost in Rolling Stock.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 18 [Special].—American railroads today were offered loans for equipment repair programs at special low interest rates by Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator. Jones said the roads will spend from $50,000,000 to $75,000,000 in the next half year for repairs if they carry out plans now being considered.

The carriers already have spent about $125,000,000 in the last sixty days for new equipment, he said. The Reconstruction Finance corporation has committed itself to lend $25,000,000 for new equipment to the New York, New Haven and Hartford, and the Erie railroads.

Wheeling Orders 400 Cars.

The Wheeling and Lake Erie Railway company has ordered 400 freight cars from the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company and 100 from the Ralston Steel Car company. The Elgin, Joliet and Eastern Railway company is inquiring for 1,500 freight cars, and the Bessemer and Lake Erie railroad, subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation, is inquiring for 2,000.

"The RFC is disposed to lend on liberal terms for new equipment and also for the repair of old equipment," Jones said. "Interest rates range from 2½ to 3 per cent."

He indicated that most of the railroads are obtaining loans at lower rates than the RFC can provide. He said interest rates are "hardening," however, and that railroads which do not borrow privately could turn to the RFC.

100 Millions Available.

Jones said that the RFC has 100 million dollars available for lending to repair old equipment.

He said the carriers will be able to move 50 per cent more freight after reconditioning their equipment.

"The railroad outlook is now more favorable than it has been for several years," Jones said. "Business has been picking up generally and prospects are for additional trafic."

Three factors caused the revival of railroad equipment purchases, he said. He listed these as follows: [1] the carriers in the past have bought only the most necessary equipment, [2] there has been an upturn in trafic and general business in the last six to eight months, and [3] there is the possibility of increased trafic resulting from war demands.

$1,250,000,000 for Industry.

Jones said the RFC also has more than 1 billion 250 million dollars ready for loans to industry and that 39 new branch offices have been designated to stimulate loans for organizing and expanding industries. He said the European war has not caused any great increase in the number of requests for business loans.

The Export-Import bank, he said, has sufficient funds to meet urgent requests for loans from South American countries, but the bank will ask congress in the next regular session to increase its lending power from the present 100 million dollars limit.

Member roads of the Association of American Railroads will meet today in Washington to consider business prospects and the transportation situation.

Union Pacific Hires 315; Shops Go on 6 Day Week

Cheyenne, Wyo., Sept. 18 (AP).—The Union Pacific railroad called today for 315 men to be employed immediately on the Wyoming division between Cheyenne and Ogden, Utah. Officials said shop employés would be placed on a six-day instead of five-day week.

Nazis Abandon Plan to Issue Bonds on Debt

Washington, D. C., Sept 18 (AP).—Germany's plan to issue $73,000,000 of bonds to American creditors was abandoned today as the Securities and Exchange commission opened an inquiry to determine whether the issue should be halted.

The German consul general, Hans Borchers of New York, telegraphed the commission asking withdrawal of the application for issuance of the securities. The hearing, accordingly, was postponed until Thursday to give the commission time to study and rule on the request. An official said it was a "a close legal question," however, whether the commission could do other than permit withdrawal.

Pertinent Facts Lacking.

The SEC had alleged that registration statements filed in connection with the proposed issue failed to disclose pertinent information about Germany's budget, floating debt, gold, and foreign exchange positions. In reply, the German embassy said the SEC's demands for information were such that no sovereign government could comply.

Borcher's telegram, however, said merely that the withdrawal was sought because of the "state of war."

Delay or cancellation of the bonds will make little difference to either Germany or its American creditors, in the opinion of officials. The bonds were not to be sold, but given to American creditors in payment of interest due them for 1937 and 1938 on German national and municipal bonds.

Refuses Dollar Payment.

Under the restricted foreign exchange policy of the Nazi government, Germany has paid interest on American owned bonds in German marks deposited in Berlin, but has refused to pay Americans in dollars on this side of the ocean. The only way that the Americans can take advantage of the interest payments is to spend their marks within Germany.

In recent years, Germany has made the alternative offer of paying the interest in the form of additional bonds. Registration statements for fifty year bonds of this type were involved in the hearing. The statements were filed last March.

The SEC contends that the funds due creditors were paid into the so-called German conversion office, an agency of the reich, by the original issuers of the bonds, but that the conversion office has refused to let the funds be sent to this country.

SEC officials said that because of the law granting immunity to diplomats of foreign governments no one from the German embassy had been summoned to testify. German laws provide severe penalties—including death—for disclosing facts about the nation's economy.

W. A. SHEAFFER PEN DIVIDEND OF $1.50 DECLARED

Directors of W. A. Sheaffer Pen company yesterday declared a dividend of $1.50 a share on the common stock, payable Oct. 15. Earlier payments this year were $1 and an extra of 25 cents, both paid Feb. 25. In 1938 the company paid a total of $1.75 on the common.

Standard Steel Spring company declared a dividend of 50 cents on the common, payable Oct. 5. The same amount was paid June 1, and in 1938 a total of 40 cents was paid.

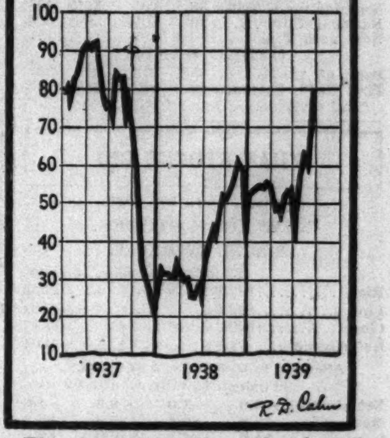
STEEL OUTPUT, ORDERS CLIMB; JOBS INCREASE

Inland Nearly Sold Out Through 1939.

Operations in the steel industry this week are scheduled to jump 9.1 points, or 13 per cent, to 79.3 per cent of theoretical capacity, the American Iron and Steel institute estimated yesterday. The national operating rate is the highest since the week of Sept. 13, 1937, when steelmaking schedules averaged 80.4 per cent.

Meanwhile trade reports indicated reaffirmation of prices on steel for the fourth quarter has not slowed the rush of orders from domestic consumers. Steel men had expected that customers who bought hurriedly, for fear prices might go up, would cease stampeding the mills after learning that present prices will continue.



The chart shows the ratio of steel mill operations to capacity. It is based on weekly output reports. Estimates for the current week lift the ratio to 79.3 per cent.

Thousands of Jobs Created.

However, the heavy buying has persisted, and the large amount of this new business is providing jobs for thousands of workers in mill towns. In addition, workers in other lines have benefited indirectly. Pittsburgh said 15,000 men have been recalled by steel plants here, and coal mines have recalled another 10,000 workers.

Many mines in the nation are going on a staggered six day week, while numerous small manufacturing plants are working on Sundays. Hundreds of business enterprises, whose sales depend on the size of the steel pay roll to a great extent were reported to have rehired workers in proportion.

This week's scheduled operating rate compares with the institute's estimate of 70.2 per cent last week and 58.6 per cent in the week ended Sept. 9, when operations were reduced by the Labor day holiday. A month ago the rate was 62.2 per cent of theoretical capacity.

Earlier Predictions Upset.

The war-spurred buying has pushed operations up nearly 20 points from the 60 per cent level which had been expected to hold during most of the

COTTON

Hedging pressure combined with weakness in securities resulted in a decline of .11 to .23 cent a pound in cotton futures in American markets yesterday. Aggregate trade was light and the market was easily influenced. Houses with Bombay and Liverpool connections sold early. Mills bought futures on the way down, although the demand for textiles was reported as slower.

Spot cotton closed .11 to .13 cent lower with New York, 9.07 cents; New Orleans, 9.01 cents, and Galveston and Houston at 8.82 cents a pound. Prices follow:

Fall Evergreens Planted

Sept. 18, 1939.

THIS is the fall season for setting evergreen trees at the Du Page county farm. The work was started last week. Although April is the favorite time for planting evergreens, the gardeners say September is about as good. Fall planting has some advantages over planting in spring. It enables the trees to make some root growth before winter so that they are ready for an early start the next spring.

Evergreens are planted immediately after they are taken from the nursery. This is a precaution against having the sap stop flowing. An evergreen is never entirely dormant, even in winter, and if the sap stops flowing it hardens and the tree dies. The trees are set with balls of earth tied about the roots with burlap.

In digging holes to set evergreens the gardeners throw away the clay that is dug out of the bottom. The holes are made about twice as wide as the balls of earth on the tree roots.

Set at Nursery Depth.

A tree is set the same depth as it grew in the nursery. The hole is filled half way with black soil to which some peat moss has been added. The hose is turned on until the loose soil is soaked and the ball of earth on the roots moistened all the way through. Then the hole is filled to the top with the black soil and peat moss mixture, and a two inch mulch of peat moss is spread around the base of the tree. Water is added through the mulch until the soil is soaked.

Well rotted leaf mold sometimes is used instead of peat moss. In either case more mulching material is put around the tree when the ground freezes to protect the ball around the roots from freezing dry during the winter.

About twenty varieties of evergreens have been planted at the farm, most of them within the last three years. Some were planted in spring, some in fall, and some in winter. There have been no losses from spring or fall plantings. About 5 per cent of the trees planted in winter died.

Nursery Trees Best.

The farm gardeners say evergreens should be transplanted at least three times in the nursery before they are set in a permanent location. They have found it difficult to make successful plantings of these trees direct from wild specimens dug in the woods. The relationship between the soil and the root system usually is disturbed too much when the trees are taken from their natural state and transplanted.

The trees may be moved without injury after the roots have been trained by successive plantings in the nursery to develop in a ball of earth. Once the tree is established in the place where it is to grow, the roots gradually spread out and make normal growth.

Deciduous trees and shrubs are not transplanted until after killing frost in the fall. This is to make sure that they are entirely dormant before they are moved.

STEEL OUTPUT, ORDERS CLIMB; JOBS INCREASE

Inland Is Nearly Sold Out Through 1939.

autumn. Indications yesterday were that the rate may go still higher, although the industry is rapidly approaching its practical operations peak. The operating rate is based on 100 per cent as complete operation of all available units, which is practically unfeasible because of the necessity of closing down from time to time for repairs.

Chicago steel men said that estimates of operating rates may be outdated within 24 hours or less, so rapidly is the steel picture changing as furnace after furnace goes into operation.

Inland Force Is Swamped

Inland Steel company officials said that the company will be operating at practical capacity within a week or two, with 30 or 31 of its 36 open hearth furnaces active. They said the company is nearly sold out for the remainder of 1939. The company's clerical force is so swamped with work it cannot keep up with developments, the officials said.

Acme Steel company and Signode Steel Strapping company, while apparently not sold out for the rest of the year, are rapidly nearing capacity operations and expect to have no difficulty in selling all the steel they can produce, it was said.

Interlake Iron corporation, important pig iron producer, has booked business equal to about three months' capacity, and will fire one of its two Chicago furnaces later this month. Interlake does not expect to boost its operations sharply, however, because its inventory is large enough to fill orders for about three months.

Carnegie at 75 Per Cent.

Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation's Chicago plants are believed to be working at about 75 per cent of capacity, and the company may put more open hearths into operation in Pennsylvania soon.

Some individual plants are working at 100 per cent of capacity. The Woodward Iron company has joined this group with the addition of its No. 3 blast furnace, reports from Birmingham, Ala., said yesterday.

The Pittsburgh Coke and Iron company is preparing to reopen its blast furnace at Sharpsville, Pa., which has been shut down since 1937. The Sharon Steel corporation plans to increase its operations at Sharon, Pa., and may also add more open hearths at the Lowellville plant.

Republic Starts Fourth Furnace.

At Youngstown, O., the Republic Steel corporation blew in its No. 4 blast furnace, making all four furnaces there active. Three more furnaces of other companies in the district are being prepared for blast. Present output there was reported near 80 per cent of capacity, up 8 points from the middle of last week, with the rate apparently still climbing.

A compilation by Dow-Jones showed that this week's scheduled steel rate is the highest for any corresponding week in at least five years.

Year.	Rate [pct. of capacity].	Gain or dec. in pts.	Pct.

FIVE SUITS SEEK $150,000 REFUND OF STOCK TAXES

Suits seeking the refund of nearly $150,000 paid to the federal government in 1933 were filed yesterday in Federal court by five Chicago financial institutions. The actions seek the return of sums paid under a capital stock tax assessment of the National Industrial Recovery administration.

The complaints charge the assessments were confiscatory and were levied under an act since declared unconstitutional by the Supreme court. The suits, against Carter Harrison, collector of internal revenue, were filed by the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, which seeks $100,000; First Chicago corporation, $359; First National Bank of Chicago, $41,000; National Safe Deposit company, $345, and the First National Bank of Chicago as successor of the First Union Trust and Savings bank, $5,000.

Pacemaker Carries 14,500 Passengers During August

The Pacemaker, the New York Central's new 17 hour all-coach train between Chicago and New York, carried 14,500 passengers during August and earned gross revenue approaching $250,000, the road reported yesterday. The train established a record of 976 passengers on Aug. 19, 540 eastbound and 436 westbound. The road reported indications that the Pacemaker was creating new traffic, with total coach passengers between Chicago and New York in August larger than in July.

GRAIN MARKETS LACK SUPPORT; PRICES DECLINE

Wheat Futures Sell Down More than a Cent.

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Saturday.	Yr.ago.
Wheat	$ .85	$ .86⅝	$ .64⅞
Corn	.55⅞	.57¼	.50⅞
Oats	.34⅜	.35	.25⅞
Rye	.53	.54⅜	.43¾
Soy beans..........	.81⅝	.81¾	.79⅛

Selling which observers attributed to the new turn of events in Europe and to weakness in securities uncovered a lack of support in the grain markets yesterday. At the bottom of the decline, wheat futures were down 2½ cents and corn about 2 cents a bushel.

Closing trades on wheat futures were at losses of 1½ to 1¾ cents. Corn declined 1 to 1½ cents and oats were ⅝ to 1 cent lower. Wheat closed 1 to 1¼ cents lower at Winnipeg.

Board of Trade members received official notice that the department of agriculture would hold hearings in New York on Oct. 9 in regard to restricting speculation in cotton. Some grain traders expressed the belief that the government would also restrict grain dealings, and sold out their holdings.

Winnipeg an Influence.

Business was further restricted by the refusal of a majority of commission houses to execute orders for new commitments in Winnipeg, where trading is under new government restrictions.

Nothing was heard regarding export business in domestic grains. A steamer was reported to have been chartered at New York for the shipment of wheat to Scandinavia at prices equal to 36 cents a bushel. Late in August the rate was only 7.2 cents. Steamship lines were said to be asking 30 cents a bushel to ship wheat from New York to Rotterdam.

"War buying" of flour by housewives brought distributors, bakers, and others into the market for large supplies. This was reflected in the record output of flour last week by Kansas City mills.

Receive 1,343 Cars of Corn.

Chicago received 1,343 cars of cash corn, of which it was estimated about 1,000 cars, or 1,500,000 bushels, went direct to elevator interests to be placed in storage for government account. The receipts were the largest for any day in several years.

Central Illinois farmers were reported to have started to feed new corn to live stock. Hot and dry weather was said to have forced the crop in the central states to maturity at such a rapid rate that there is little danger of frost damage.

WORK STARTED ON NEW UNIT OF GRAIN ELEVATOR

Three shifts of laborers, at work since June 15 on the new grain elevator which will replace the three at 102d street and the Calumet river which were destroyed by fire on May 11, yesterday began work on the 200 foot high "working house" of the new structure.

Rows of concrete grain bins, or tanks 112 feet high, including twenty-seven left standing after the fire and thirty-six new ones, are already in place. The entire project is expected to be completed by Jan. 1, 1940.

The elevator is being built for the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad by the John S. Metcalf company, contractors. It will have an estimated capacity of 2,750,000 bushels, and cost approximately $1,000,000. The struc-

BONDS OF POLAND FALL 19 POINTS; NAZI ISSUES GAIN

Foreign Index at Lowest Level Since 1932.

New York, Sept. 18 (AP).—Dollar bonds of Poland, France, members of the British commonwealth and small European neutrals slumped heavily today as American investors studied the news of Russia's entry into the war.

At the same time, German bonds advanced more than a point. Corporate and United States government issues declined abruptly. Losses in the foreign list were so wide that the Associated Press index on foreign loans closed down 3.6 points to 44.3, the lowest recorded since June 10, 1932.

Polish Issues Tumble.

Representative quotations included Poland 7s, off 16 points at 7 and Poland 6s, off 19⅜ at 6⅝; Czecho-Slovakia 8s, off 24 at 6; Denmark 6s, off 6⅛ at 69; Estonia Republic 7s, off 9 at 73; New South Wales 5s, off 9¼ at 65; Norway 4¼s, off 4½ at 80½; Queensland 7s, off 11⅞ at 75; Belgium 6s, off 7¾ at 83¼; Canada 4s, off 4¼ at 86; French stamped 7½s, off 1½ at 88½; Prague 7½s, off 25⅝ at 4⅜; and Australia 5s of '55 off 6½ at 60½.

The United States treasurer declined 1-32d to 14-32ds point on comparatively small dealings. The declines were insufficient to offset the advance recorded in the second half of last week.

Domestic Bonds Fall.

Losses of around a point were common throughout the corporate list, reflecting further the uncertainty of Wall street over the new war developments.

Among loans down a point or more were Baltimore & Ohio convertible 4½s, Bethlehem Steel 3½s, Commonwealth Edison 3½s, Continental Oil 2¾s, International Hydro Electric 6s, International Telephone 5s, Western Union 5s, Nickel Plate 4½s, and Remington Rand 4¼s.

Transactions totaled $9,372,500, face value, compared with $9,359,850 Friday.

Treasury Borrowing Cost Drops; Equal to 0.125 Pct.

The treasury's latest weekly offering of 91-day bills was sold at an average bid which was equivalent to borrowing at an interest rate of 0.125 per cent, Secretary Morgenthau announced last night. Bills totaling $100,046,000, dated Sept. 20 and offered Sept. 15, were sold at an average bid of 99.968. The interest equivalent of 0.125 per cent compared with 0.159 per cent in the preceding week and 0.108 per cent two weeks ago.

CRUCIBLE BOND.

Please give me some information concerning Crucible Steel 4½s of 1948. Has the company had a net profit or loss each year for the past ten years? How do the bonds rate?—J. B.

Answer: Earnings of Crucible Steel company of America, like those of most companies operating in the capital goods industries, are likely to fluctuate widely over any given period of years. This prevents establishment of a consistent earnings record.

Net income and times fixed charges have been earned in the past 10 years:

Year—	Net income.	Times chgs. ernd.
1938	*$2,237,026	†
1937	4,017,931	11.74
1936	3,120,356	7.91
1935	1,268,176	2.95
1934	760,850	1.11
1933	*354,750	†
1932	*3,613,616	†
1931	*2,016,517	†
1930	4,045,122	9.15
1929	8,162,344	41.39

Net income in the first six months of this year was $350,822 against net loss of $1,540,360 in the same period last year.

The 4½s of 1948, which are a debenture issue not secured by a mortgage, are outstanding in the amount of $10,000,000. This is not considered large. They carry a sinking fund provision. Steady earnings in each year are not to be expected of a company of this type.

This issue has a fair rating.

SPECULATIVE METAL.

Please give me information on the stock listed on the New York Curb exchange as "Carnegie Met." Is this company a subsidiary of, or has it any connection with, Carnegie-Illinois Steel company?—G. S.

Answer: The stock you refer to is that of the Carnegie Metals company, which is engaged in mining and selling gold, silver, lead, and zinc. It has no connection with Carnegie-Illinois Steel company. Properties of Carnegie Metals comprise about 385 acres near the city of Zacatecas, Mexico.

Earnings were reported in the fiscal year ended March 31, 1936, but in no other recent year. Net income that year was $32,650 or 3 cents a common share. No dividends have ever been paid on the 1,362,673 outstanding shares of $1 par common stock.

The company has $108,000 in debenture 5s due on Oct. 1 of this year. There are also outstanding $11,700 in 6s due in 1944. At December 31, 1938, current assets were $206,185, including only $23,640 in cash. Current liabilities were $331,217. This left an excess of $125,032 in current liabilities over current assets.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 (AP).—Worth street reported quiet activity in the cotton goods textile market today with only a small inquiry. Quotations, however, held at the high levels reached last week. Woolen goods trading continued erratic due to the sharp fluctuations in the market for wool tops and raw wool. Actual sales were being held up pending a stabilization in the fabric price structure. Selling agents for rayon mills reported a good turnover for most standard fabrics at new high price levels. The domestic burlap market remained quiet and unchanged with spot offering small.

BENTON HARBOR FRUIT PRICES.

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Sept. 18 [Special].—Today's Benton Harbor fruit market prices were: Grapes—Concords, four quarts, 10 to 12 cents; 12 quarts, No. 1, 20 to 22 cents; number 2, 18 cents. Apples, bu, wealthys, McIntosh, 2½ inch, 40 to 50 cents; Jonathans—2¼ inch, 70 to 75 cents. Pears, bu, Keifers, 2¼ inch, 55 to 60 cents. Peaches, bu, Elbertas [cold storage] 2 inch, $1.10 to $1.25. Tomatoes, 12 quarts, 30 to 45 cents. Lima beans, 12 quarts, 35 to 40 cents.

Business Bits

Norman A. Ryan.

Norman A. Ryan of Chicago has been appointed general manager of the Milwaukee railroad's western lines, with headquarters in Seattle, Wash., J. T. Gillick, chief operating officer, announced yesterday. Ryan who will take over his new position Oct. 1, has been assistant general manager of the road's eastern lines for the last seven years. He succeeds Charles H. Buford, whose appointment as vice president of the Association of American Railroads, also effective Oct. 1, was announced by J. J. Pelley, president of the association.

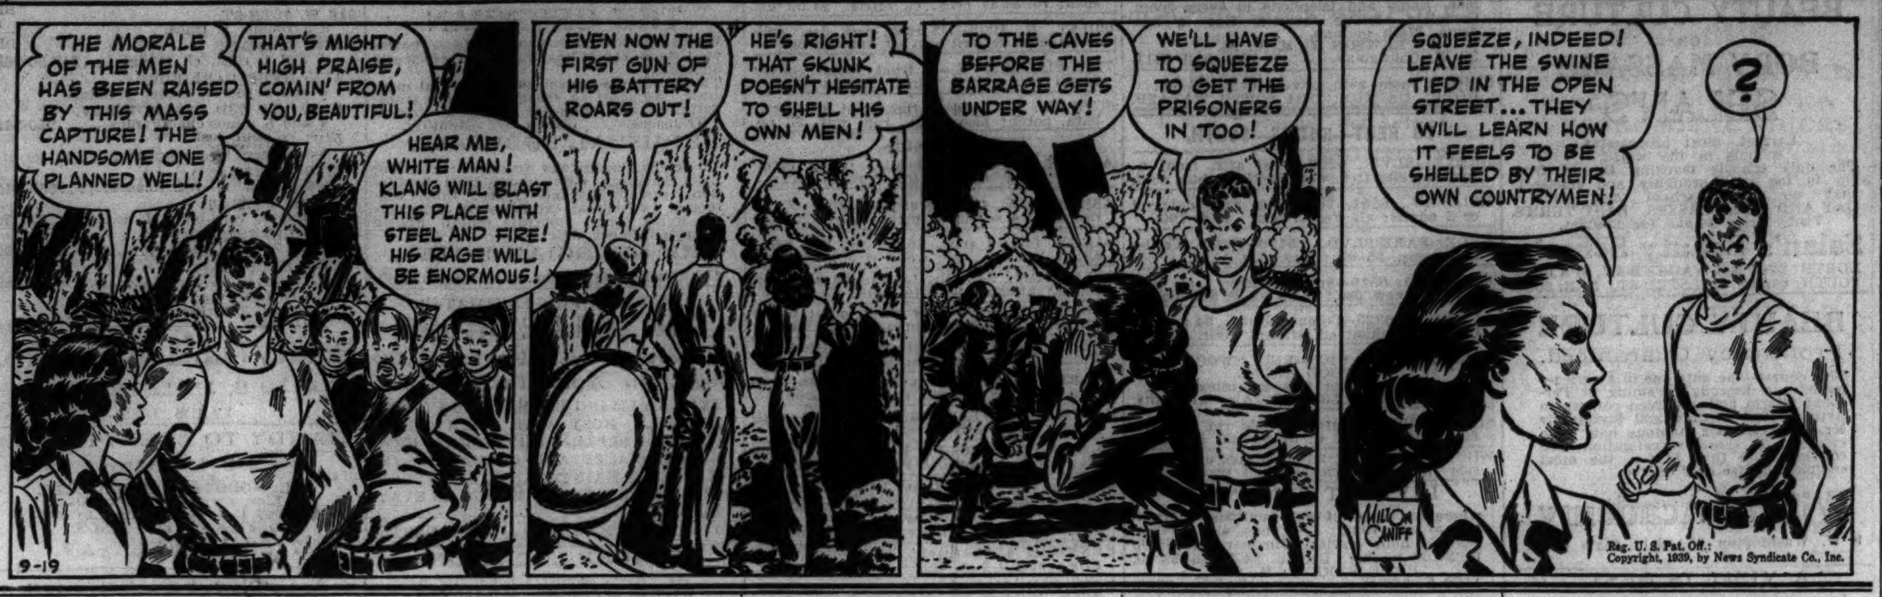
TERRY AND THE PIRATES—WAR ORPHANS



THE MORALE OF THE MEN HAS BEEN RAISED BY THIS MASS CAPTURE! THE HANDSOME ONE PLANNED WELL!
HEAR ME, WHITE MAN! KLANG WILL BLAST THIS PLACE WITH STEEL AND FIRE! HIS RAGE WILL BE ENORMOUS!
9-19
EVEN NOW THE FIRST GUN OF HIS BATTERY ROARS OUT!
HE'S RIGHT! THAT SKUNK DOESN'T HESITATE TO SHELL HIS OWN MEN!
TO THE CAVES BEFORE THE BARRAGE GETS UNDER WAY!
WE'LL HAVE TO SQUEEZE TO GET THE PRISONERS IN TOO!
SQUEEZE, INDEED! LEAVE THE SWINE TIED IN THE OPEN STREET... THEY WILL LEARN HOW IT FEELS TO BE SHELLED BY THEIR OWN COUNTRYMEN!

Save the Difference

Commonwealth's rate is less on all loans than the maximum rate permitted by law. You do not have to be an "executive" or have a "special" credit standing to qualify for OUR reduced rate. Commonwealth's monthly rate of 2½% on loan balances of $150 or less and only 2% on loan balances above applies to ALL TYPES AND CLASSES OF LOANS. Any one who can make regular payments can qualify; there is no discrimination. EVERYBODY GETS THIS SAME RATE. Of course, persons whose incomes are above average can afford to make larger payments and thus make substantial reductions in their loan cost.

No credit inquiries of friends or relatives. Applications received by personal call, letter, or telephone will receive immediate attention.

Local Loan Gives You the Service You Want

75% of our loans are Signature Only Loans to employed men and women. LOCAL LOAN originated and perfected this service because the great body of employed people—young or old and regardless of occupation—are entitled to a simplified loan method.

Our aim is to offer you whatever plan will enable you to borrow most easily. LOCAL LOAN makes liberal Furniture and Auto Loans, but if you are steadily employed we prefer to make you a loan On Your Signature Only without mortgages or endorsers. You may borrow $25 to $300—

On Your Signature Only

You make your own repayment terms [repaying any time within 20 months] and you are charged only for the actual time you have the money.

When you deal with LOCAL LOAN you borrow without the knowledge of your employer, friends, and relatives.

We cannot tell you all about our service in our advertisement. Just phone one of the following offices. Your loan request can be taken over the telephone so you can obtain the money more quickly when you call in person.

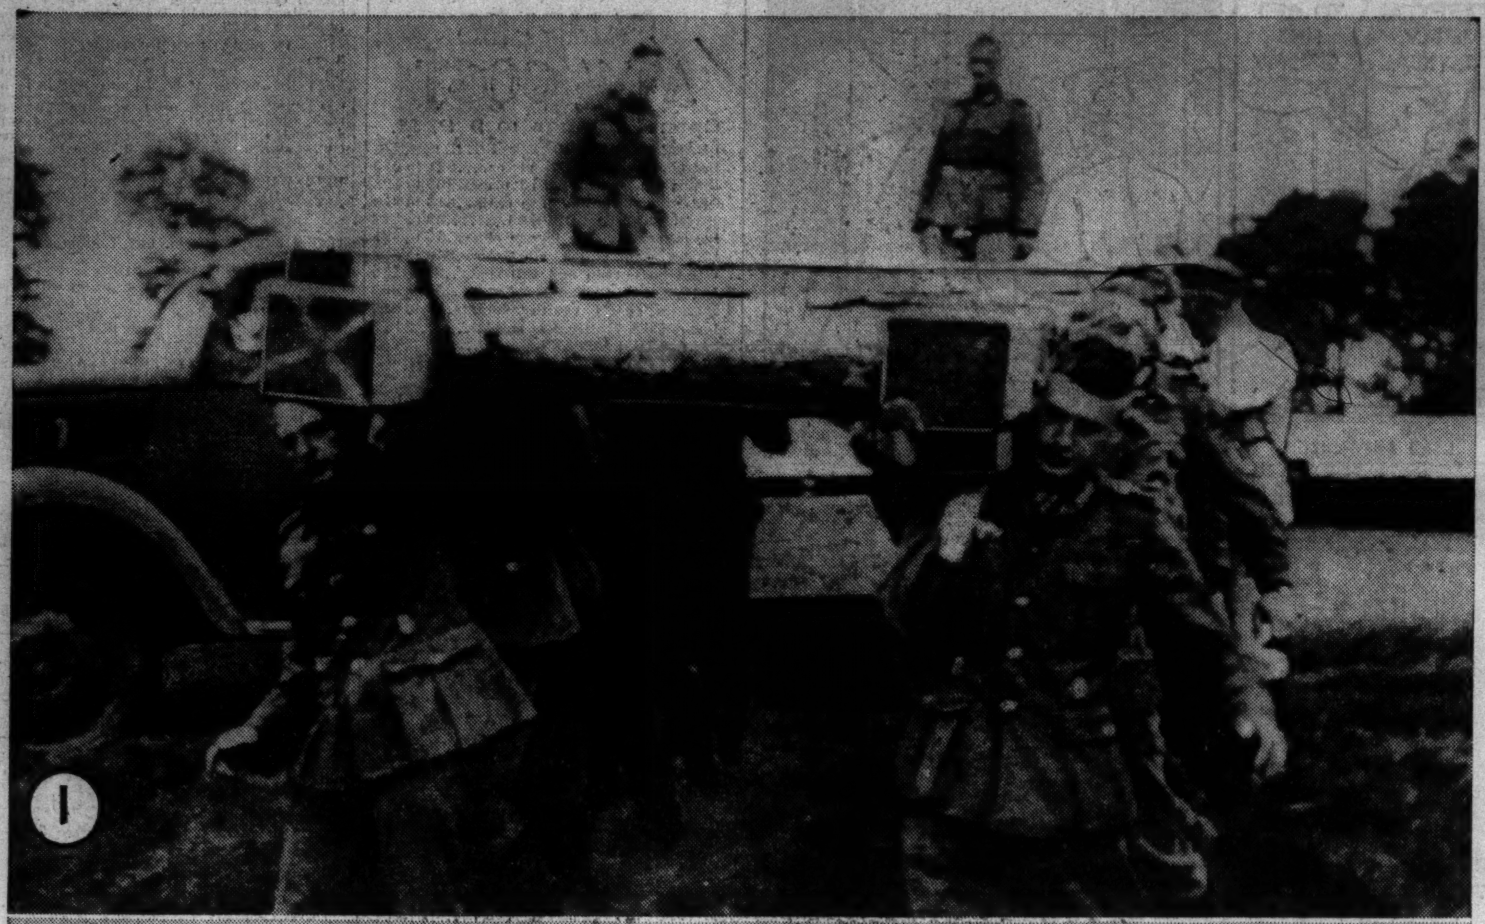
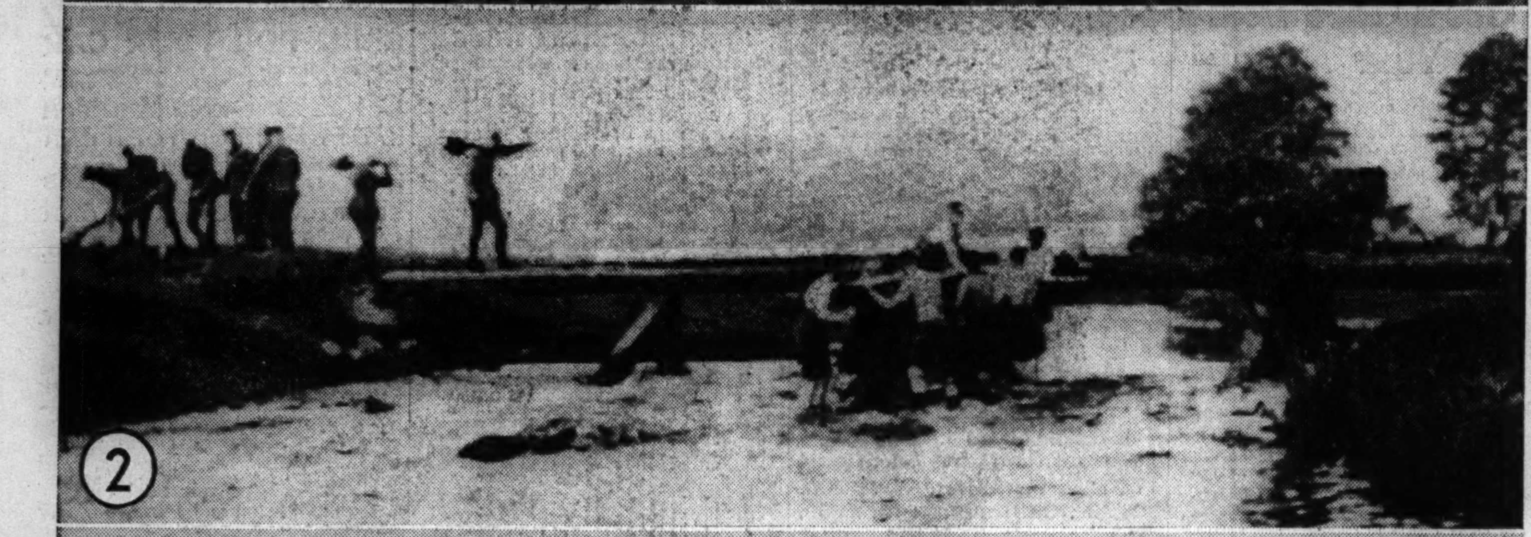
England Calls Russian Invasion of Poland Unjustified—Tell How Submarine Sank British Plane Carrier



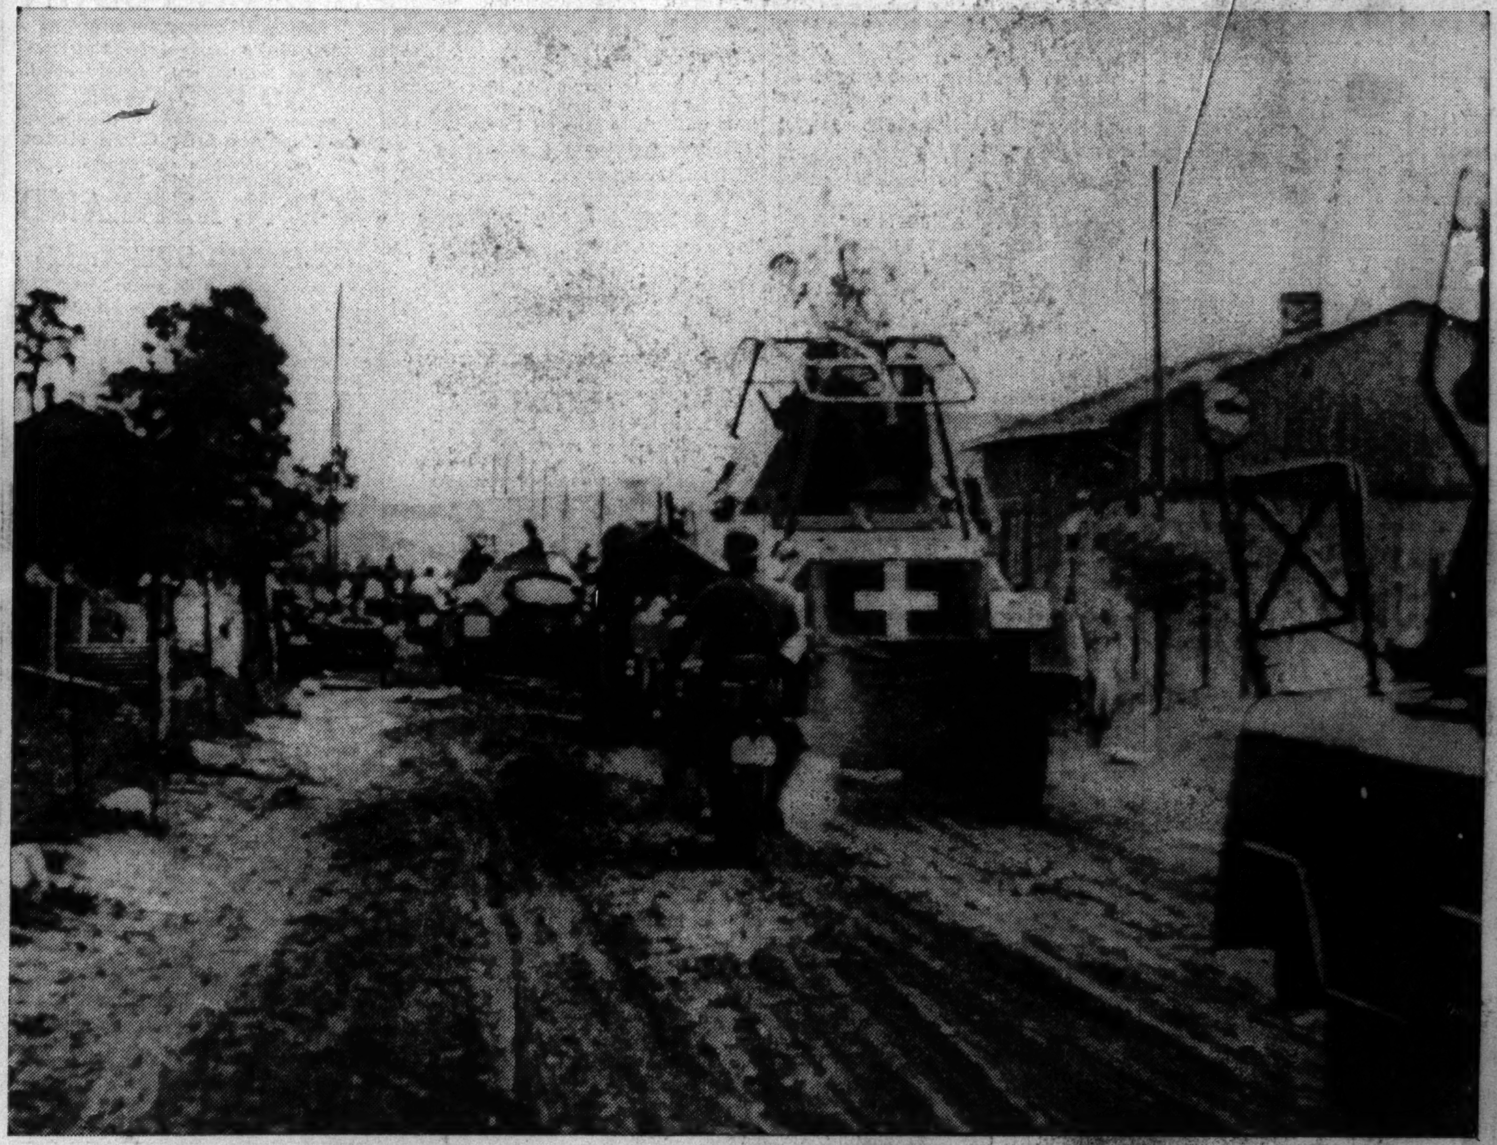


[Associated Press Wirephoto: From Paramount News: Passed by German and British censors.]

German troops rebuilding a bridge as they drove into heart of Poland. No. 1—Carrying trusses from truck. No. 2—Putting span in place to replace one destroyed by Poles. No. 3—Light Nazi tank crosses the new structure. The pictures were taken by an official German army photographer.

[Associated Press Wirephoto: From Paramount News: Passed by German and British censors.]

The predominantly German population of Danzig turned out to greet German forces as they rolled into city recently. Since occupying Danzig the Nazis have captured the nearby port of Gdynia, all the Polish corridor and much of Poland proper.



[Associated Press Wirephoto: From Paramount News: Passed by German and British censors.]

German mechanized unit speeding through countryside near Bydgoszcz (Bromberg) as advance on Poland got under way. There was no mud to hamper fast moving vehicles. White cross on truck angered Swiss because it is similar to their flag.

Drawing of the Ark Royal, giant British aircraft carrier, which is larger and more modern than the Courageous, sunk by German submarine yesterday. The Ark Royal has a speed of 30.75 knots, a beam of 94 feet, and is 800 feet long. It carries 60 airplanes and about 1,600 officers and men. Its armament consists of sixteen 4.5 inch dual purpose guns, four 3 pounders, six multiple pom-poms, and eight sets of multiple machine guns.
